Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Most Valuable Player

If a campaign for the most valuable player award for the Thieves baseball team should be made, there is not much doubt but that the local fans would nominate Harlie Drees as their favorite.

In Sunday's dramatic game against the league-leading Cass Lake team, it was Harlie Drees who, with the bases loaded and the Thieves trailing by one run in the last half of the ninth inning, poled out a solid double into left field to win the game. That's the way the game should end, was the comment of the fans.

Harlie had started the game in left field, moved over to third base in the fifth inning, and had gone to the mound in relief of starting pitcher Arlan Hjelle in the sixth inning. In the three innings that he toiled on the mound, Harlie gave up four hits and one run. It was in a sense, poetic justice when Drees slammed out his game-winning two-bagger.

We have followed Harlie's baseball career from his peewee and midget days in St. Hilaire, into his Legion and high school baseball here, and now with the senior baseball Thieves. We can never recall an instance when Harlie, who co-captained the state tournament Prowlers in 1959, lost his poise or became panicky in a game. He behaves like a pro.

That he is a valuable member of the Thieves baseball squad is unquestioned. Harlie is capable of playing any position on the club, and playing it well. This season he has seen service as a catcher, pitcher, third baseman, shortstop, second baseman, leftfielder, and centerfielder. He's a good one.

For How Long?

Roger Tunberg engaged a regiment of auditors to check the scores of the city golf league play, and after a recap had been made, the Tunberg Motors squad, as of last Wednesday evening, held a three-stroke lead, 1128 to 1131, over the second place American Hardware Mutual Insurance team.

It is agreed that the Tunbergs are in first place, but like the New York Yankees, how long will they remain there? The squad—Roger Tunberg, Roy Lee, Bob Wurst, Reid Stromberg and Larry (Shorty) Perkins—can be classified as a veteran group. They aren't getting any younger, and the August days won't be any cooler.

In the runner-up spot, and ready to make their move for first place, is the American Hardware team, coached and managed by Russ Embury, the golfer with the upright swing. And the Hardwares will be tough competition down the home stretch. These youthful golfers—Steve Embury, Jon Larson, Curt Johnson, and Ron Solheim—are capable of near-par golf. It will be interesting to watch the play from here on in.

Clearbrook's Has-Beens

An entertaining baseball game has been scheduled for for the Clearbrook ball park on Friday evening, July 29, at 7:30 P.M. A team of Clearbrook "Has-Beens" will play the Clearbrook juniors in an exhibition game. The proceeds of the game, and it is hoped that a goodly number of fans will be in attendance, will be used for the purpose of promoting the junior baseball program at Clearbrook.

What makes this exhibition game of interest to Thief River Falls fans is that a couple of local resients, Carl Wenneberg and Frank Tunberg, will probably make appearances at the game. Carl was an outfielder on the old-time Clearbrook team, and Frank was a nimble-fielding second baseman. The two "boys" will probably restrict their activities on Friday evening to the coaching line.

Speed Oats

Al Holzknecht and Joe Solney, noted trainers and owners of money-winnig horses, have been feeding their horses a diet of "speed oats" in preparation for the horse racing program at the Fair Grounds here on Friday afternoon.

According to present plans, a six-event program will be presented to the horse racing fans. And it is expected that this program will attract a fine field of entries that will include the best horses in northwestern Minnesota.

There is a rumor being circulated that Louis Carpenter will enter a horse that will relegate the Holzknecht-Solney entries into the also-ran class. Louie intends to out-slick the city slickers, and he may do it.

The horses will be running at the Fair Grounds on Friday afternoon.

A ten-year extension of all E bonds is now guaranteed by the Treasury. E bonds that have matured since May 1951 have already been automatically extended once and will get another renewal beginning with their twenty-first year.

SUB-DISTRICT titleists are the Thief River Falls American Legion junior baseball team coached by Ralph Skay. The team will participate in the Ninth District junior baseball tournoment that will be played on the Erskine diamond on Saturday and Sunday.

In a first round game, to be played at 8:30 P.M. on Saturday, the locals will meet the Fertile juniors. In a pair of pre-tournament games played this week, against Lake Bronson and Fertile, the locals dropped a pair of decisions.

In an extra-inning game played at Lake Bronson on Monday, the locals lost by a 10 to 9 score; and in a game played at Fertile, and which could be caled a "trial run" for the district tournament, coach Skay's team lost to Fertile, 8 to 4. The locals outhit Fertile, six hits to five, but committed six errors, which coupled with some bases on balls and wild pitches accounted for a number of Fertile's runs.

SLUGGER Loren Grahn of the Lake Bronson Legion junior baseball team set several batting records in the sub-district tournament played here last week. In a first round game against the Warren juniors, Grahn hoisted three home runs over the left field fence, and drove in nine runs as coach Willard Pearson's Lake Bronson team defeated Warren, 16 to 4.

In a Western Border league midget baseball game played here on Monday morning, the Ada midgets scored a 3 to 2 win over coach Gene Sack's locals. The Ada midgets, scoring a run in the top half of the seventh inning, evened their season's series with the locals. In a previous game, coach Sack's club recorded a 10 to 0 win in a game played at Ada.

The local midgets concluded their 1960 schedule of play this morning in a game against the East Grand Forks midgets at East Grand Forks.

Coach Stan Olness's surprising Fosston team, winning a pair of games during the week, took over the top rung in the Northern Minny league standings. Fosston's hopes for a league title will hinge on the outcome of their game against coach Bob Montebello's Cass Lake team at Cass Lake on Sunday afternoon.

Fosston, in a mid-week game, scored a 17 to 10 win over the Winger Tigers, and then added an 11 to 7 conquest of Gonvick on Sunday afternoon.

The Bagley Merchants, after dropping three straight one-run decisions, regained their winning ways on Sunday by trouncing the Erskine Merchants, 14 to 0, at Erskine. Bagley's win, coupled with Cass Lake's loss to Thief River Falls, boosted manager Jerry Riewer's Bagley club into second place in the league standings and into position to gain a league championship tie should Fosston falter in its games against Cass Lake and Thief River Falls. Bagley will conclude its schedule on Wednesday, August 3, when Gonvick plays at Bagley.

Manager John Drury's Thieves, winners over a confident Cass Lake club, 8 to 7, in a dramatic game played here Sunday afternoon, will journey to Winger on Sunday for a league tile against the Tigers.

In a poll of candidates for Mrs. America of 1960 it was learned that eight out of ten had saved through United States Savings Bonds to buy their homes.

Towing-Jobs Demand Caution, Says Patrol

"Motor vehicle-trailer combinations are becoming a frequent occurrence in Minnesota traffic, requiring driver operators to keep strict adherance to laws and safety rules if tragedy is to be averted."

This reminder was given motorists today by Chief Leo M. Smith of the highway patrol, in stressing hazards created by the careless towing of trailers and vehicles in either commercial or private use.

"A combination may be bigger and longer than the single unit, but it does not necessarily mean that it can be seen and avoided any easier by other drivers," Chief Smith said.

"Drivers of such combinations must be sure they are well-lighted for night time travel, and they must give other motorists plenty of warning prior to turns and changes in pace," he added. "It's not only required by law, but it is also good common sense."

Chief Smith emphasized several precautionary measures provided by Minnesota laws, describing them as "designs for safer living." His safety measures included:

1. Signal for turns and changes of pace for at least 100 feet before making the actual maneuver. In cases where a hand and arm signal is not visible from the rear due to loads or other reasons, use electrical turn signals.

2. Every vehicle drawn at the end of a train of vehicles must be equipped with a rear red lamp that is visible from a distance of at least 500 feet. A license plate must be illuminated, and be legible from 50 feet.

3. Vehicles in excess of 80 inches in width, and 30 feet in length, must be equipped with special clearance and marker lamps as provided by law. The measurements include loads and combinations.

4. Carry a red light or lantern on the extreme end of a load that extends four feet or more to the rear of a vehicle. The light must be visible for at least 500 feet. When lights aren't required, a red flag not less than 16 inches square must be attached to the projecting load.

5. Headlights must be adjusted so that a high beam will illuminate objects at 350 feet, and the low beam will reveal objects at 100 feet, under all conditions of loading.

6. Tie a white flag (not less than 12 inches square) onto the chain, rope or cable when towing a vehicle in that manner. A safety chain is required in addition to a two-bar during normal towing conditions.

State Museum to Honor Chippewas

Dedication Ceremony at Vineland August 7

The story of Minnesota's Indian will be dramatically told in a new Indian museum on the west shore of Mille Lacs Lake which will be opened to the public at a formal dedication ceremony on August 7.

Russell W. Fridley, director of the Minnesota Historical Society, announced today that the principals on the program will be Governor Orville L. Freeman; O. Meredith Wilson, new president of the University of Minnesota; Arthur Naftalin, state commissioner of administration; Senator C. C. Marshall of Princeton; and John deLaittre, president of the Minnesota Historical Society.

The Mille Lacs Indian Museum will present the story of the native Chippewa through four seasons of the year, showing how he lived, what he ate, how he hunted, trapped, worked and played, and something of his religious beliefs.

The unique museum, located at Vineland, was made possible thru a gift to the Minnesota Historical Society from Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Ayer, who for many years owned and operated the Mille Lacs Indian Trading Post north of Onamia.

In 1959 the Ayers, to preserve their rare collection of Chippewa and Sioux materials, gave it to the Minnesota Historical Society along with a museum building, 104 acres of land, the Trading Post, their home and a trust fund which will guarantee the continued operation of the museum without additional funds. The Ayers under the terms of the agreement with the society, will continue to live on the property as long as they wish.

PICK UP A 6-PACK!

CHEVROLET
Not a single cracked egg since Chevy took over the route

That '60 Fleetside pickup you see takes whatever kind of road comes along, and makes about 250 stops a day delivering eggs house to house for Mr. Harry Hansen of Missoula, Montana. "With my previous truck," Mr. Hansen writes, "I always had some cracked eggs. Cargo damage always cut into my profits. But the new Chevy eliminated that problem completely. I haven't had one cracked egg with my new truck and I've had up to a ton of eggs in it without any difficulty. . . . I didn't know a truck could ride so nice."

Chevy rides nice, all right: takes good care of fragile cargoes. But that's not even the half of it. Torsion-spring suspension also means longer life for the truck, extra thousands of working miles, because the sheet metal and body components take less of a beating. You can run off-the-road or over back trails at faster safe speeds, too; get in more trips a day, make more money. Those facts are as true of the big Chevrolet heavyweights as they are of the pickups. Any model you name. Get one on your job and you've got the world's most efficient, most economical way to haul any load over any road. Your dealer will be happy to prove that statement any day you say.

"I'm getting close to 20 miles to the gallon," Mr. Hansen states, "and that's on stop-and-go delivery."

Editorials . . .

"Most of what we learn, we learn from living; and, for the larger part, that means from other people. Nor does it mean only such people as we like. There is a lot to be gained from people we don't like—what a friend once called 'abrasive contacts.' If I may paraphrase an old couplet, 'a little friction now and then is useful to the best of men.' To learn to understand people you don't much care for is like a voyage to a foreign land: it has its inconveniences but it broadens the mind. And in all this, never pretend you are being noble, or making a sacrifice: you are having a fairly good time!" —A. Powell Davis

Issues Clearly Defined

In his keynote speech at the Republican convention Monday night, Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota, left no doubt as to the direction the party will go in the coming campaign. The Republicans are going to follow a middle-of-the-road course, with emphasis on the need for a more stable economy and a sound dollar.

This trend toward a more conservative approach was also indicated by the 14 points of the Nixon-Rockefeller agreement on what the party's platform should be. In this agreement there were some concessions to the more liberal views of Rockefeller, but the Nixon position generally prevailed.

In the coming election, therefore, important issues will be clearly defined. The American people will have an opportunity to choose between a liberal program and a conservative program, the first time for many years that such a clear-cut choice has been possible.

In the coming election the Democratic party will speak for a program that would move our government far to the left. This program would speed up the trend toward a welfare state to which we would look more and more for guidance, control, and a livelihood. The alternative is a program that would strengthen the traditional processes of American freedom, encouraging individual effort and responsibility.

As Congressman Judd pointed out so effectively in his keynote address, both parties support the same general objectives, the development of our economy and the expansion of opportunities for our people. The difference is mainly in the way they hope to achieve a good result.

The Democrats would achieve this good objective the easy way. They would have us spend ourselves into prosperity, and that would be fun for a while. We should know, however, from both observation and experience, that the easy way is too often the wrong way.

The Republicans take the position that prosperity must be earned, and earning a reward always requires a sacrifice. There are a few sacrifices ahead of us that we are going to be forced to make to balance our account for past mistakes. As we make more mistakes the ultimate cost of our folly will be increased.

The encouraging thing about the coming campaign is that for the first time in the lives of many of our people the issues are going to be debated on their merits. The dangers with which we are confronted as a nation are recognized by both parties. The question before the people will be whether we should approach these dangers by voting ourselves bigger portions of pie in the sky

American Bases Abroad

The present Khrushchev cold-war campaign to weaken the West is intended to frighten the smaller nations of the western alliance into neutrality. The U-2 incident was used as an excuse to threaten with bombing any nations that permitted our country to maintain air bases that might be used as a part of our observation system.

Such threats no doubt have helped to strengthen the Communist-inspired appeals for neutrality among the Japanese. And the apprehension of the people of the smaller nations is understandable. Under the circumstances their willingness to remain firm in their commitments is most encouraging.

In commenting on the British attitude toward this alliance, the Manchester Guardian makes an interesting observation. It states:

> "Anglo-American friendship and American participation in the defense of Western Europe are the cornerstones of the defense policy of the British Government—and, so far, of the Labour Party also. Long may it be so. While it is, the American bases are here to stay, and the British Government, and the British people, will rightly ignore Mr. Khrushchev's threats to retaliate with rockets against bases from which American aircraft start on what he may declare to be espionage flights. If we give ground now, many other countries in which the United States maintains bases, not necessarily for reconnaissance purposes will be tempted to run for cover. If we stand firm, they will, and Mr. Khrushchev's threats will be seen as the empty words which they really are—in this context.
> "The one thing that could shake the alliance could be the sense that the Americans were not playing fair with their allies. That is what the revised agreement on consultation, which Mr. Macmillan now seeks, should guarantee, and be known to guarantee."

We do not know just what is involved in the proposed revised agreement on consultation that is referred to by the Guardian but it is reasonable to assume that as a result of the U-2 incident some revisions would be in order. Our allies have a right to expect us to be fair to them just as we have a right to expect them to be fair to us or face the facts realistically and decide that the easy way will not be the right way. If we survive it will be because we will have been willing to make sacrifices.

us. Only as the nations of the Western alliance have confidence in each other can they hope for safety and survival.

We'll Not Complain

Under the terms of an agreement reached with the government of Poland last week, $40,000,000 will be paid to the United States over a period of 20 years to settle the claims of American citizens for property seized in Poland. This settlement brings to a peaceful conclusion a dispute between the two governments that has extended over a period of many years. The losses claimed had been appraised at several hundred million dollars.

The Polish government has also agreed to negotiate directly with American holders of certain Polish bonds issued between 1919 and 1939, the value of which was estimated at $45 million. The United States agreed to release Polish assets frozen here since World War II, believed to be worth about one million dollars.

Americans no doubt have taken heavy losses in these settlements but taking into consideration all of the circumstances and the terrific losses suffered by the Polish people in a war that was not of their making, even a small recovery should be satisfactory. It is well to get these matters adjusted so that they may be forgotten. Now that there has been agreement it will be easier to deal with the problems of the future.

In the last three years our government has loaned $61 million to Poland. We have also sold to the Poles farm products valued at nearly $300 million, most of which will probably be written off as a loss. And this is one loss the American people will not complain about.

Harmony at Home

(Seattle Post Intelligencer)

Canada and the United States, as represented in the International Joint Commission, have now come to an agreement regarding the Columbia River.

That agreement opens the way to a doubling of the hydroelectric output from dams on the River of the West which flows across the boundaries of the two nations.

There are of course many complicated details yet to be worked out among British Columbia, Oregon and Washington. But the Economist, published in London (a metropolis historically aware of the importance of the Columbia), says that "the highest hurdle to cooperative development has been cleared."

The two nations will share the advantages of better flood control and more power. Says the London Economist further: "Additional electricity should be available in 1968, soon after the target date for the beginning of hydroelectric output from the huge development being planned on the Peace River in far Northeastern British Columbia."

The combination of the Canadian-U.S. agreement and the go-ahead on the Peace River project means that there will be no power shortage in the Pacific Northwest for many long years to come.

Moreover, the agreement between Canada and the United States involving the international waterway is a hopeful example of mutual trust for the greatest good of the greatest numbers in both nations.

After the Earth Shakes

(New York Times)

Word from Chile reports that all existing maps of that country are now obsolete as one consequence of the terrible earthquakes of recent weeks. The convulsions of the earth have radically changed much of the coastline as the sinking of the earth has permitted the ocean to penetrate at points into what used to be far inland. Hills have been toppled and valleys filled in; new lakes have been created, as rivers and streams have been blocked by landslides and avalanches. Much of Chile will have to be completely remapped.

None of this, of course, will surprise the geologist. He knows that what we normally think of as our solid and stable earth is actually a plastic surface undergoing constant deformation and change. Usually, this change is gentle. The sea eats away constantly at the coastline; the abrasive forces of rain and wind chip away steadily at towering mountain and low knoll both. Measured by the brief snap of a human lifetime such changes seem small and insignificant, but over periods of time measured in millennia even the tallest mountains disappear and the greatest harbors are altered beyond even faint recognition. But, as in Chile these past weeks, geological change may be swift and catastrophic. Earthquakes and the rise of new volcanoes are all too familiar phenomena in many places, spectacular evidences of the enormous tensions and powerful forces which shape our planet.

All this helps give perspective to our own puny efforts to reshape the world in which we live. The tunnels and bridges we build, the deserts turned green by irrigation canals; these and the like are not inconsiderable feats. But compared to the violence and effectiveness of nature's changes, these human efforts are mere lines drawn in the sand.

A Salute to Pennington County
FARMERS UNION

MINNESOTA Farmers Union
[illegible] UNIVERSITY AVENUE
SAINT PAUL 14, MINNESOTA

Dear County President:

I am happy to take note that your county has made a significant gain in total Farmers Union membership for 1960.

My personal congratulations and thanks to you and to the many people in the county and Local Unions who have been responsible in any way for this success.

In the future, nothing is going to be more important in strengthening the prosperity of our rural communities than the building of our Farmers Union organization.

The gains in your county this year show that farmers are aware of the millions of dollars in additional farm income and purchasing power which would be brought into the community if our farm products went to market at fair prices.

After seven difficult years in farming, we are hopeful that efforts of County and Local Farmers Union leaders, like yourself, are helping make 1960 a "turning point" for our agricultural communities.

Respectfully,
Edwin Christianson
President.

Farm Home Accidents Kill 42 in Six Months

Farm home accidents so far in 1960 have dropped markedly, in comparison to the first half of 1959, a University of Minnesota extension farm safety specialist said today.

Glenn Prickett said 42 persons were killed in farm home accidents from Jan. 1 to June 30, 1960. That is compared to 59 such fatalities in the same period a year earlier.

Prickett reported the trends during the Farm Safety Week kickoff luncheon on the St. Paul campus.

Farm work accidents, however, killed 23 persons during the first six months of the year, compared to 21 in the same period of 1959.

Prickett said the long-term trend in farm work accidents is encouraging. The number of fatalities from these mishaps totaled 73 in 1950, 57 in 1955 and 48 in 1958.

Of 39 farm work accident fatalities in 1959, Prickett said 27 were accounted for by tractor accidents. Other farm machinery caused two and livestock killed three.

In the home, most accidental fatalities result from falls, according to Prickett. Falls in the home last year caused 224 deaths, ranking second to the automobile as a cause of accidental deaths. Also, falls injure close to 1,000 Minnesotans every year.

How can farm people avoid accidents? Prickett listed two essential points. "First," he said, "people must become aware of dangers around the farm and home, and they must accept the dangers as real to themselves. They must reject the idea that 'it can't happen to me.' Second, people need to slow down and think, and teach others by example."

June Traffic Was 11 Pct. over May

Traffic on Minnesota highways during June went up 11.3 per cent over May, the Minnesota highway department reported. A substantial increase in June over May is an annual occurrence, with fishing season in full swing and summer motoring moving toward its peak.

The 27 automatic traffic recorders located at points thruout the state showed the greatest increase on T.H. 10 southeast of Royalton, with a jump of 19 per cent. This is typical for June, with vacationers, fishermen and week-enders moving to the heart of the lake region.

Substantial increases over May were also reported at other points, with 13.7 per cent on T.H. 65 northwest of Lakeville; 12.4 per cent on T.H. 10 east of Moorhead; 11 per cent on T.H. 12 east of St. Paul, and 10 per cent on T.H. 10 northwest of Anoka.

During June, T.H. 10 leading from the Twin Cities northward was the heaviest traveled highway in the state.

Wisdom

One of our old teachers used to say, "I can lead you to knowledge, but only God can give you wisdom."

And how right he was. A string of diplomas and degrees does not make a man wise. Many of the wisest never had a formal education.

For knowledge is the accumulation of facts. But wisdom is the ability to apply a few facts — perhaps only one — to a life-situation.

We know a distinguished scholar who has written volumes on ecclesiastical architecture. And we know an elderly widow who told her grandchildren, "Churches ain't made to look at!"

And the scholar — earnest Christian that he is — humbly bows to the wisdom of the widow!

For whether it be a cathedral or chapel, the Church cannot enrich our lives until reverently we enter its portals to worship and serve God. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Parade Saturday at 8 p.m. Followed by Queen Coronation

Final plans for the sixth annual Jaycee Aquacade this Saturday and Sunday, August 6 and 7, have been completed and the two-day event promises to be bigger and better than in any previous year.

The celebration will be opened Saturday night with the parade at 8 o'clock. All floats, boats, bands and other units which will take part have been asked to assemble on the fair grounds road on Fourth st. W. at 7:00 o'clock and queen candidates must be at the assembly point no later than 7:15.

The parade will move down Main av. from Fourth st. to Third st., east on Third st. to LaBree av., south on LaBree av. to First st. and west on First st. to Lincoln high school.

Included in the parade will be many floats, boats on trailers and marching units. Queen candidates will ride in the boats. For the first time, a Red Lake Indian ceremonial group and Indian Princess will be in the parade.

The coronation ball this year will be in the city Auditorium beginning at 9 p.m. Whoopee John and his orchestra will provide the music for dancing, and Miss Minnesota will sing the number which she sang in competition for the title she won last spring.

The Aquacade Queen for 1960 will be announced at ceremonies which begin at 10 o'clock and will be crowned by her predecessor, Miss Rosalie Fonnest, the 1959 queen. Dancing to the music of Whoopee John will follow the coronation.

Sunday events, all in Tindolph park, will begin at 12:30 p.m. with the finals in the horseshoe contest under the direction of Bob Flynn. Players will register at 11 a.m. at Tindolph Park, and there will be a double elimination, with merchandise prizes for the winners. A Legion-Municipal band concert will start at 1:00 o'clock preceding the water show.

A powwow by a group of the Red Lake Indians has been included this year but the time had not been announced by press time today.

The 1960 Aquacade Queen and her attendants will be in the boat parade on the Red Lake river on the Tindolph park waterfront preceding the water ski show which will include many numbers not seen before at an Aquacade. A complete list of contestants and acts will be included in the Thursday Times story.

Swimming events at Tindolph park will follow the water ski show and boat rides will be given before and after the main events.

PRACTICE makes perfect and these 13 youngsters under the tutelage of Joe Mead, left center, have been putting in many hours practicing their water ski acts behind the boat operated by Wendell Olson, left, in preparation for the Jaycee Aquacade water show Aug. 7. Cancer Unit Gets $1,774 in County

Proceeds Are Forwarded to Minnesota Division

Mrs. Ormond Johnson, volunteer chairman of the Pennington county unit of the American Cancer Society announced today that final returns and tabulations of the April Cancer Crusade were now complete. The Crusade had been conducted in Thief River Falls as a one-day campaign with more than 50 ladies volunteering. In other townships throughout the county, another 50 volunteers conducted the Crusade in their respective areas.

Results of this year's Cancer Crusade exceeded expectations and exceeded the amounts raised in each of the two preceding years, 1958 and 1959. The local unit forwarded a check in the amount of $1,774 to the Minnesota division of the cancer society.

Mrs. Johnson reminded the public that even though the 1960 crusade has been completed, that individual contributions or memorials will still be handled. Individual memorials have been an important part of the cancer program each year, she said.

Republicans Choose Lodge for Veep Post

Chicago Convention Ends Thursday with Acceptance Talks

The 1960 Republican national convention adjourned last Thursday evening in Chicago after nominating by a unanimous vote Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. delegate to the United Nations, as the GOP candidate for vice president. He had been placed in nomination by Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota, who had earlier delivered the keynote address.

Both Lodge and Vice President Richard Nixon, who the previous night had been selected as the party's nominee for the presidency, gave their acceptance speeches at the close of Thursday's session.

Nixon repeatedly attacked the domestic promises of the Democratic party and stressed the critical importance of international problems.

"Upon the next president of the United States will rest the responsibility to inspire and to lead the forces of freedom toward this goal of winning the war against world poverty, misery, and disease," Nixon said.

"It would be difficult for any man to say that he was qualified to provide this kind of leadership," Nixon continued, but he quickly implied that he was best fitted.

"I can only say to you tonight that I believe in the American dream because I have seen it come true in my own life," he said.

Nixon Saturday broke with Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's "policies of the past" promised the midwest a secretary of agriculture, and a "massive" program to take land out of production.

Nixon met in Chicago with farm leaders in a post-convention session to chart new plans for midwest agriculture. Neither Secretary Benson nor any other agriculture department official was present. The meeting was conducted by Interior Secretary Fred Seaton of Nebraska.

The program will begin with a short orientation period, with the regional vice president in charge, following which the delegates will be assigned to groups which will meet with the various chairmen. The delegates will meet as a whole for a short discussion period before adjourning at 4 o'clock.

There will be no registration for those attending, it was stated. Each person is asked to bring his own picnic lunch, and coffee will be provided.

Firemen Called Twice Thursday in 2-hour Period

The fire department was called out twice within two hours Thursday afternoon, no damage from either blaze being reported. The first alarm came at 1:30 from the Al Tonder place south of the city limits on the east side, where a grass and brush fire developed. Two hours later the firemen were called to the L. B. Hartz Stores warehouse, where a welding torch ignited a pile of rubbish outside the building and smoked up a portion of the wall.

Fall-out Shelter to Be Awarded to a County Farmer

Some farm home in Pennington county is going to have a fallout shelter—for free—or almost for free.

The Pennington county civil defense unit announced today that the county has been designated as one of two in the 14 county group of Northwestern Minnesota for the erection of a prototype shelter.

Funds will be provided by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization for the projects. Pennington county was chosen as the site for erecting a shelter on a farm home. Moorhead was chosen for the construction of a shelter in an urban area.

Announcement was made at a meeting of civil defense directors from the 14 counties at a meeting in Thief River Falls July 28, by E. W. Johnson, commander of Mobile Support Area III.

Anyone wishing to participate in this program is asked to contact Ken Gustafson, Pennington-Thief River Falls civil defense director. Applications must be received by August 2, as the availability of funds expires shortly.

An above-ground shelter may be erected although it is thought a basement-type unit would be more feasible and be more closely within the limit of permitted expenditures. The farm home designated will sign a contract with OCDM permitting public examination of the shelter, after completion, for a period of at least 20 days.

Gustafson pointed out that a basement would have to have sufficient clearance to allow standing room after being built and covered with either three feet of earth or eight inches of concrete.

He stated that the county was exceptionally fortunate in being chose for this project and urged all interested people to contact him as soon as possible.

With increasing international tensions, the building of fallout shelters has received tremendous national publicity in recent months and many architects have incorporated them in both private and public building plans.

Farm families who are interested in civil defense and the family survival program are asked to call Gustafson as early as possible.

Attendance at County Fair Is up to '59 Mark

Paid Admissions Total 8,625; Don Wennberg Wins Car

The perfect weather which had blessed the 1960 Pennington county fair last week came to a brief halt Friday afternoon when a hard shower fell, but skies quickly cleared again and the last-day patrons stayed until the shows closed at 1 a.m.

According to James Parkins, who was in charge of the gate, there were 8,625 paid admissions during the four-day fair and it is estimated that there was an equal number of 4-H members, exhibitors, workers and others who entered the grounds with passes. This is about the same number of persons who attended the fair last year.

Climaxing the fair, the name of Don Wennberg, 1960 Lincoln high school graduate, was drawn as the winner of the 1960 Chevrolet donated by the Thief River Falls merchants. The drawing followed a concert by the Legion-Municipal band and the final presentation by the Mario Shows.

For the first time, horse races were held on the fair grounds track Friday afternoon and attracted a good audience. Shetland ponies, Welsh ponies, a chariot race and two saddle horse races were held beginning at 4 o'clock.

Fairgoers this year found more rides and other amusements on the midway than ever before and several atractions new to the area were included. Several rides for the smaller youngsters were also included.

Wednesday, July 27, was the big day for 4-H members with judging of entries in the morning and afternoon and the parade of champions before the grandstand that evening when top winners were presented to spectators.

There were 1,400 entries in all categories entered by 400 members this year, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, county agent. For the most points in dairy cattle judging, the Silverton club was awarded the Land O'Lakes calf. Les Nelson of the club was selected to receive the award made by Marian Augustine, president of district 17, Land O'Lakes Creameries.

Pictures of both the 4-H and open class catle judging winners will be found throughout this issue of the Times.

RECIPIENT of the Land O'Lakes calf award this year was Les Nelson, who was chosen by the winning Silverton club to accept the award presented by Marian Augustine, right, director of District 17, Land O'Lakes. The Silverton club had 76 points in dairy cattle judging, the Mavie club earned 59, the Kratka club 43 and the Rocksbury club had 38. The award was made at the conclusion of the Parade of Champions Wednesday night at the Pennington county fair at which 4-H award winners were recognized.

CHOSEN by the judges as the grand champion in the 4-H dairy animal competition at the Pennington county fair Wednesday, July 27, was this Holstein animal with its exhibitor, Myles Olson of the Kratka club. Myles is shown as he held his prize-winning animal before the annual Parade of Champions began before the grandstand. Including the livestock entries, 400 4-H members had 1,400 entries in all competition at the fair this year.

2 Slightly Hurt in Auto Accident

Escape Serious Injury When Car Runs off Road

Two persons escaped with only minor injuries early Friday morning when a car driven by a rural Thief River Falls youth left the road and struck an approach.

Gordon Koralewski, rt. 5, was the driver of the car which was going west on SAR 3 about four and one-half miles west of St. Hilaire when it ran off on the south side of the road.

After going some distance it struck an approach, was thrown into the air and traveled about 45 feet before touching down on its wheels. Sheriff Charles Richards said the car did not roll but came down in a spin and finally came to rest facing east.

Koralewski received a cut arm from the mishap while a passenger, Miss JoAnne Kennedy, rural Red Lake Falls, sustained a shoulder injury. Both were taken to the Red Lake Falls hospital but have since been released.

Richards said damage to the car was estimated at $700. Charges, if any, against Koralewski, a juvenile, were not announced.

Warren Land Bank Loans up Sharply

Manager Reports Gain of $352,000 in Past Year

The Land Bank association of Warren announced today that the outstanding volume of loans increased by 352,000 during the last 12 months. This is one of the largest increases in any similar period during the past 20 years.

The total volume of loans in the association now exceeds $3,152,400. According to Manager Harold Sorenson, farm owners in this area are using greater amounts of capital each year to replace labor on the farm. This replacement of capitol for labor is accomplished by labor-saving equipment and machinery and the increase in the size of farms. New farm homes and other buildings require higher capital expenditures than in the past, and a large number of land bank loans are made for that purpose.

The Land Bank association specialized in long-term loans which have important features to farmers, such as the privilege of paying in advance without penalty, no loan closing costs charged by the lender, a simple process for increasing the loan to meet farm expansion needs, and favorable interest rates.

Members are asked to bring their own silverware, and folding chairs if possible. In case of rain, the picnic will be held in the Eagles hall.

Big Gathering Takes in Dedication of New Bridge at Baudette

Perfect weather and an all-star cast of speakers combined Saturday to make the dedication of the international bridge across the Rainy river at Baudette a success. The dedication exercises were held on the Minnesota side of the bridge at 2:00 o'clock, with Canadian and American bands and marching units contributing to the colorful program. Cedric Adams served as master of ceremonies.

The dedication speeches were delivered by Senator Edward J. Thye, who was recognized for the assistance he had given in the arrangements for federal participation in the financing of the bridge, and Fred M. Cass, Ontario Minister of Highways. There were remarks by Governor Orville Freeman, Pere Seward, representing the federal financing agency, Senator Hubert Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy; State Senator Elmer Andersen, P. Kenneth Peterson, mayor of Minneapolis; and L. P. Zimmerman, state highway commissioner.

The honor of cutting the ribbon was given to T. H. Rowell of Baudette, the community leader credited with much of the initiative and drive that brought the efforts of many years to a successful conclusion.

Celebration activities started Saturday morning with the dedication by Governor Freeman of a TVOR installation at the airport. A parade of bands and marching units provided street entertainment at 10:30, one of the exciting highlights being a performance by a brigade of Shriner motorcyclists from Grand Rapids. Newest U. S. Air Force planes and a jet plane of the Royal Canadia Air Force added color to the day's festivities.

The new bridge was opened for pedestrian traffic only on Saturday but the toll-takers were prepared for automobile traffic Sunday morning. The toll for cars will be $1.25 plus ten cents per person.

Slow Down and Live!

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

The world is filled with articles that are supported to make your vacation this season the "most comfortable," the "most enjoyable," "the most perfect of all." Miles and miles of advertising copy are written about these miracles of modern science every year. But if you are parents of children possessing the normal number of wiggles and squirms and you are planning a vacation that involves a great deal of driving you should add Dave Garroway's new book, "Fun on Wheels," to your list of absolutely indispensables.

I don't know if the old standby of my childhood, counting white horses, is in it. Probably not, since white horses have become so scarce in our mechanized world. Time was when you could see 10 or 15 white ones in a 50 mile drive, but now you're lucky to see that many horses of any color. But I'm not beaten down with nostalgia for Garroway has lots more interesting solutions for entertaining youngsters when they start to fidget in the car.

Word games, quizzes, games about animals and motion games which require no equipment fill a major part of the book. Also included are simple card games or others which require a few checkers or a pencil and paper. These are activities you can plan ahead of time, tucking the necessary items in the glove compartment or in a paper bag to produce as a surprise when the fidgets becomes unbearable.

The time will come when you need to withdraw as an active participant because nothing leads more quickly to utter exhaustion than an adult trying to keep up with the young set. Their dynamoes have a mysterious source of unfailing energy, but I, for one, find that I must switch off now and then to allow a new build-up of power; otherwise I blow my fuses completely.

All the games that Garroway describes and prescribes are suitable ones that stress safety. They are suitable for children five to fourteen, but some are good timepassers for adults as well. Group limericks, for instances, would challenge anyone.

One of Garroway's most entertaining chapters is called Chestnuts Old and New. It includes all the old riddles that you brought home as a child and which your children are now bringing home again as "brand new." I kept my husband moaning and groaning at the breakfast table the other morning with the thought that Eskimoes cry a great deal because they have to have their daily blubber. And you know, of course, what happens to a cow after she is five. (She becomes six.)

Remember the knock-knock, who's there game of the thirties that was hilarious no matter how farfetched the answers? We laughed so hard we had to lie down and rest. You'll be taking it easy too, if you have ideas from "Fun on Wheels" tucked in your glove compartment when you set out on your vacation, and don't forget it if you have to plan indoor games for a youngster's birthday party.

By the way, you'll be wise to refresh your memory on the safety dos and don'ts passed on by Garroway from the AAA. To keep everyone safe don't let your children carry sharp objects with them, stick arms, heads or toys out the window or play with large objects like balloons or water toys that might suddenly obscure the driver's vision. I would add bubble gum to this list.) (From my own experience, I

Three 'U' M. Dairymen Are Honored by DHIA

Three University of Minnesota staff members who retired July 1 were recognized today for outstanding service to Minnesota dairymen.

W. E. Peterson, H. R. Searles and Ramer Leighton were awarded service scrolls by the Minnesota Purebred Dairy Cattle association. Peterson was a dairy husbandry researcher. Searles and Leighton both served as extension dairymen.

The presentation was made on the St. Paul campus during the 50th anniversary of Dairy Herd Improvement association (DHIA) work in Minnesota.

University dairy specialists at the day-long golden anniversary program took a look into the future.

Ralph W. Wayne, extension dairyman, predicted a bright future for DHIA testing. Wayne said the production testing program will expand rapidly with the greatest growth coming from the owner-sampler program.

In a few years all DHIA records will be centrally processed with electronic calculators. The machines will provide better records for culling, feeding, breeding and management, and also for research.

The records, for example, will be used to locate outstanding breed cows so they can be mated to the best sires in the country, to produce sires for artificial breeding.

Wayne also pointed out the possibility of a complete, low-cost farm business record service for DHIA members using the electronic calculators.

Electronic processing of DHIA records began with 11 pilot herds in 1957. The present program got under way in March, 1958. About 600 of the 4,500 state herds on test are now using the central processing service.

C. L. Cole, head of the dairy husbandry department, reported University research in breeding, feeding, reproduction and milk secretation.

Breeding projects involve dairy cattle at Rosemount, five branch stations and seven cooperating state institutions. Researchers are working with Holstein, Guernsey and Milking Shorthorn herds to develop lines of cattle with greater feed conversion efficiency and higher production.

One eventual result could be development of lines of sires whose daughters' production can be closely predicted.

Cole said feeding research will be directed toward roughage production because of Minnesota's great producing potential. Reproduction research will be mainly in artificial insemination and ova transplant.

One objective is a semen extender (diluting material) that will keep sperm cells healthy for several days. Present extenders limit use of fresh semen to one to three days. Since most semen is collected only once or twice a week, dairymen often can't get semen from certain bulls when it is needed.

With an extender that keeps semen useful for several days, dairymen would regularly get service from specific bulls without using frozen semen.

Highway Patrol Reports 3 Traffic Fatalities in Area

Ada Woman, Redby Man and Pitt Boy Lose Lives in Accidents Past Week-end

Three fatal automobile accidents were reported in northern Minnesota over the weekend by the highway patrol.

The dead are Mrs. Ramona Malmo, 27, Ada; Frank Martin, 50, Redby, and Raymond Franklin Sindelir, 9, Pitt.

Mrs. Malmo died of a broken neck sustained in a roll-over of the car driven by her husband, Ralph, on Highway 92 about a mile south of Bagley at 12:30 a.m. Sunday.

She was dead on arrival at the Bagley hospital. Malmo was not injured.

Martin was a passenger in a car driven by Gerald Jones, 24, Redby, when it rolled over on Highway 1 in Redby. Jones and another passenger, John Stately, 24, Minneapolis, suffered bruises and abrasions.

Young Sindelir was killed in a bicycle-car crash about a mile west of Pitt and about six miles west of Baudette. The patrol said the boy apparently made a left turn into the path of a car driven west by John S. Foote, Brockton, Mont. Foote made every attempt to avoid hitting the boy, even going into the ditch, but was unable to do so. The youth died of a broken neck, the patrol said.

The crashes bring the total deaths to date in northern Minnesota to nearly double the figure in all of 1959.

NO MISSILE but the new 250,000-gallon elevated water tank for the city is this strange looking contraption in the southeast residential area. The top section of the large central column is the derrick used to hoist the six leg sections and the plates which will be welded together to make the tank. The structure is located on Nora st. between Merriam and Kneale avs.

Mercury Varies Widely Past Week

Moves from 38 Friday Morning to 90 Saturday

Temperatures during the past week as recorded by the KTRF weather station varied, 52 degrees with a high of 90 recorded Saturday and a low of 38 posted during the early morning hours Friday.

Almost perfect weather prevailed for the Pennington county fair despite the 0.2 inch of rain which fell early Friday afternoon. Patrons later in the afternoon and during the evening found that the rain had only settled the dust and cool weather made fairgoing pleasant.

Partly cloudy with scattered showers has been predicted for today and temperatures are not expected to be as warm in the northern counties of Minnesota. Moderate humidity may be expected and winds from the south at from 20 to 30 miles an hour this morning should shift to the northwest this afternoon and evening and become light.

Mostly fair and cooler are predicted for tonight and fair and not so warm are expected tomorrow.

Highs today are expected to be from 85 to 90 and lows tonight from 60 to 65.

Janitor at City Auditorium Hurt in Fall Saturday

Oscar Ramstad, 72, a janitor at the city Auditorium, suffered a broken hip in a fall while on the job Saturday evening.

A party at the police station, in on a traffic violation, had been sent into the hallway to await processing about 9:30 p.m. Saturday when he discovered Ramstad on the floor outside the municipal courtroom.

He notified police and an ambulance was called to take Ramstad to the hospital. He told police he had been working in the courtroom and had stepped behind the judge's desk to shut the south window. After shutting the window he stepped backwards off the raised platform on which the desk sits, causing him to fall backwards.

The exact time of the fall is unknown. He crawled from the room into the hallway to seek aid when he was found and examination at the hospital revealed his injury was a broken hip.

Armand Amiot Succumbs; Rites to Be Wednesday

Armand Amiot of this city passed away Sunday, July 31, at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday, August 3, at 2 p.m. at Zion Lutheran church with Dr. Walter M. Pedersen officiating. The Sinding funeral home is in charge of arrangements. A complete obituary will be published in the next issue of the Times.

TRENCHING began last week at the southern end of Crocker av. for the water main on Nora st. which will connect the new elevated water tank to the water treatment plant. Following construction of the tank in August, the main will be extended from Crocker av. to the tank located between Merriam and Kneale avs. The entire addition to the city's water system is expected to be completed by the end of the year including the one-million-gallon underground storage tank located west of the water treatment plant.

New Laws Affect War Vets and Dependents

John R. Parrish, manager of the Fargo VA Center, today called the attention of veterans and their dependents to the following six laws enacted recently by Congress and approved by President Eisenhower:

1. P.L. 86-490 provides that if a veteran submits proof of dependents within 60 days of notice that the evaluation of his service-connected disability is increased to 50 per cent or more, the additional compensation for the dependents will be paid from the date of evaluation instead of the date proof was received by the VA, as the previous law required.

2. P.L. 86-491 makes uniform the marriage requirements for widows entitled to death benefits under either death compensation or dependency and indemnity compensation. For death 10 to 15 years the time limit compensation it extends from within which the widow must have married a veteran who later died from a service-connected cause following the termination of the period of service in which he sustained his service-connected disability. This law does not affect a widow who qualifies because she was marrid to the veteran for five or more years or where a child was born of the marriage.

3. P.L. 86-492 allows a widow eligible to receive dependency and indemnity compensation which is based on the rank of the deceased veteran at the time he was separated from the service, to have the benefit of a higher rank than that at time of separation from the service provided he held it for six months at least and was holding it within 120 days of the date of his separation or death.

4. P.L. 86-494 provides that survivors of certain Navy enlisted men, who died as a result of aviation accidents between October 8, 1940, and August 3, 1942, while training to become aviation cadets may apply for $10,000 gratuitous National Service Life Insurance less the amount of Government insurance in force. Payment will be made to survivors but not to estates.

5. P.L. 86-495 prohibits payment of benefits other than insurance to any child on account of the death of more than one parent in the same parental line following the date of the law (June 8, 1960). The prior law would allow a combination of payments from a parent's death and a step-parent's death in some cases.

6. P.L. 86-497 authorizes waiver of premium payments to be granted, upon application, to totally disabled World War II and Korean Conflict veterans, who became totally disabled in line of duty after making application for insurance and prior to the date their insurance became effective. The waiver of premiums renders the insurance non-participating while the waiver is in effect.

Miss Bonnie Borchert, who returned home recently from Bemidji college for the summer, spent the past week with her grandmother, Mrs. L. W. Borchert in Mentor. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Borchert.

Thieves Edge Winger to Win Playoff Berth

The Thieves clinched a Northern Minny league playoff position on Sunday afternoon when, with the score tied entering the tenth inning at 2-all and the walking Arlan Hjelle on first base, Harlie Drees poled a double into left field to score Hjelle and give the locals a 3 to 2 win over Winger in a game played on the Winger diamond.

The Thieves, following their victory at Winger, have a seven wins and four losses mark. On Sunday night, August 7, the Thieves will conclude their 1960 league schedule when they meet the Fosston team on the Fair Grounds diamond.

In Sunday's game, the Winger Tigers showed their claws in the opening inning as they garnered a pair of runs. Hjelle, on the mound for the Thieves, walked leadoff man Eddie Worden. Bob Evenmoe sacrificed, pitcher to first; Don Peterson singled to center, scoring Worden. A passed ball advanced Peterson to second base. Irv Rude skied to center field; and when Ken Larson's fly ball to center was muffed, Peterson came in with Winger's second and final tally.

The Thieves, having difficulty mounting an attack on the right-handed slants of Gene Hanson, managed to even the game in the fourth inning on a single by Glenn Carlson, a walk to Roy Pederson, a single by Bob Hallameck, an error by Winger's Moose Anderson, a walk to Dean Anderson, and an error by Winger's Irv Rude in right field.

The game rocketed along at a 2 to 2 pace until the top of the tenth inning when, with one out, Hjelle drew a walk, and Drees followed with a well-hit double to left field, scoring Hjelle from first base.

In the last half of the tenth, Winger's Evenmoe lofted to center field; Peterson drew a walk; and then Rude bounced to Pederson and tossed to Hallameck, forcing Peterson, and Hallameck's throw to first base completed the double play and ended the game.

Schedule, Thursday, August 4
Wilson Bros., vs. Ben Franklin.
Times vs. Ekeren Pharmacy.
Oen's Appliance vs. Starekow Clinic.
Northern Chevrolet vs. Coast-to-Coast.

The one-two-three teams in the trap shoot league—Times, Ben Franklin, and Wilson Bros.,—kept their league positions as a result of last week's matches, winning their respective matches against the Starekow Clinic, Oen's Appliance, and the Coast-to-Coast, respectively.

This week's competition will be highlighted by the match between the second place Ben Franklin and the third place Wilson Bros. This match is a "must" for the two clubs, with a loss for either just about removing that squad from contention for the league championship.

In last week's shooting, the Times, with a 123 to 98 win over a four-man Starekow Clinic squad, posted the week's high team total. In that 123-bird total, Bill Dahlquist, with a 23-5, Leif Erickson, with a 23-4, and Jim Rude, with a 19-8, had "25's." Mel Zitzow, with a 20-4, and George Mostue, with a 21-3, had had 24's.

Gene Gaer's Ben Franklin squad maintained their runner-up pace by defeating Oen's Appliance, 121 to 92, with the Oen's having but four shooters available. For the Franklins, Gaer had a 19-8, Dr. Jim Disse a 22-3, and Bob Baker a 22-6, for three "25's." Bill Ranta carded a 17-5 and Bill Pederson a 19-5. For the losers, three shooters had "25's" in Gordon Olen's 19-7, Dr. Paul Wendt's 20-8, and Foley's 23-2.

The Wilson Bros. had a 120 to 108 win over the Coast-to-Coast to hold their third place rating. For the Wilson's, Roy Peterson, with a 21-4, and Merv Skadsen, with a 21-4, had "25's. Si Schantzen posted a 23-1, Sandy Wilson a 23-0, and Orv Feragen a 15-8.

The Ekeren Pharmacy, with four shooters, defeated the three-man Northern Chevrolet, 89 to 63.

Fergus Falls Wins 9th Dist. Legion Tourney

Playing errorless ball in support of the sixteen-strikeout and four-hit pitching of righthander Barry Johnson, coach Harley Oyloe's Fergus Fall juniors defeated Thief River Falls, 9 to 0, at Erskine on Sunday night in the finals of the Ninth district American Legion junior baseball tournament.

The Fergus Falls club will represent the Ninth district in the state American Legion junior baseball tournament to be played in St. Paul's Midway stadium the latter part of the week.

The outcome of the game was resolved in the third inning when the Fergus Falls club took advantage of a spell of wildness by the local pitchers, and with a pair of singles by Wayne Grinnell and Sherm Rorvig and a double by Bob Greenagel, scored six runs. Coach Oyloe's club added a singleton in the fourth inning, and notched a pair of runs in the seventh inning for their 9 to 0 win.

Gary Anderson, starting pitcher for coach Ralph Skay's locals, turned in a pair of good innings, getting two strikeouts in the first inning, and adding a pair of whiffs in the second inning as he set Fergus Falls down without a hit or a run. In the third inning, Anderson struck out Rorvig, the leadoff man, but then walks were doled out to Loren Kern and Jerry Karlstad; Grinnell singled, driving in a run; walks were issued to Paul Pohnso and Barry Johnson, giving Fergus Falls a 2 to 0 lead. Mike McEnelly replaced Anderson on the mound, and he retired Din Bamber on a fly to right field. Bob Greenagel doubled to left field, plating a pair of runs. Carl Prischman walked; Rorvig, up for the second time in the inning, singled, scoring Barry Johnson; Kern walked, forcing in Greenagel with the sixth tally. Karlstad struck out to end the rally.

Only in the second and fourth innings were the locals able to threaten to get some scores into the tally book. In the second, John Aune led off with a walk; Jim Weckwerth banged a single to center; Anderson struck out; Mike Aune bounced to the mound, and Weckwerth was forced at second, pitcher to shortstop, with John Aune advancing to third; Jack Goulet struck out to end the threat.

In the fourth inning, Mike McEnelly led off with a ground single past the shortstop; John Aune and Weckwerth were strikeout victims, but Anderson kept the rally alive by singling into left field. Mike Aune was out swinging to retire the side.

In the last half of the seventh, the locals made a final attempt to avert a shutout when Tony Poole drew a walk to lead off. Goulet struck out; Poole moved to second on a wild pitch, and on Gary Klungness infield out, catcher to first, Poole advanced to third base; Paul Klungness was hit by a pitched ball; and then the game was brought to a close when Barry Johnson whiffed Eddie Lietzow for his sixteenth strikeout of the game.

Legion Jrs. Take Opening Round in 9th Dist. Tourney

Pitcher Jack Goulet Holds Fertile to Three Hits; Locals Win 6-1

Stout-hearted pitching by Jack Goulet, who gave up but three hits and struck out Ron Messelt for the game-ending out with the bases loaded in the 7th inning, and heavy hitting by Gary Klungness and Gary Anderson, who raked Fertile for 6 hits, paced coach Ralph Skay's club to a 6 to 1 win over coach Dick Werdahl's Fertile team in a first round game at Erskine on Saturday night in the American Legion's Ninth district junior baseball tourney. In the opening game of the tourney, the Fergus Falls team, collecting nine runs in the first inning, scored a lop-sided 15 to 1 win over Barnesville.

The locals tallied their first run when, in the second inning, Mike McEnelly opened with an infield single to shortstop. John Aune sacrificed, pitcher to first. Jim Weckwerth walked; Mike Aune lifted a pop fly to shortstop; and Gary Anderson drove a ground-dule double to left-center, plating McEnelly.

Coach Skay's club pickup two runs in the fourth inning when, with the walking Weckworth on third base, and the singling Anderson on second base, Gary Klungness lined a triple to right-center. In the sixth, a double by Gary Klungness, a walk, a pair of Fertile errors, and a wild pitch added three runs to the Thief River Falls total.

Fertile averted a shutout by notching a run in the seventh inning. Darrel Newell was safe on an error; Howie Slyter walked; Rod Olson singled, loading the bases; Hugh Swift struck out; pinch-hitter Lyle Sannes struck out; Harlan Mosher walked, forcing in a tally; and then Messelt was called out on strikes to end the fame.

The Rally of the Week

Igniting for a rally that was comparable to the eruption that the baseball Thieves turned in against Cass Lake a week ago, the softball Hartz team racked up six runs in the sixth inning to overcome a 3 to 0 deficit and defeat the Bridgeman's 6 to 3 in the feature game of the week's city league softball competition.

The game, played on the East Side diamond on Thursday evening, found manager Lowell Collin's Bridgeman's, picking up a run in the fourth inning on a double by John Drury, an infield out, and a double by Bob Carlson, and scoring two runs in the first of the sixth, taking a 3 to 0 lead.

In the sixth inning, the Hartz having last bats, opened with a single by Dick Halvorson. Dennis Bakke's drive to left field was misjudged for a double, but Halvorson, on a fine relay throw by Drury, was nipped at the plate. Lyle Stokke bounced a hit off Carlson's glove, with Bakke scoring. Kerm Malberg gained a "life" on an error. An infield out dimmed the Hartz hopes of further scoring, but Pete Jepson came through with a single, scoring Stokke; Dave Martin singled to fill the bases. Dwight Tangquist hit a looping fly to left field, and when the fielder failed to hold the ball, two duns came across the plate, giving Hartz a 4 to 3 lead. Another error, on a ground ball, and a wild throw, gave Hartz an additional two runs, and the game, 6 to 3.

It wasn't a very happy birthday for Bridgeman's Bob Carlson, who pitched a creditable game for the losers. The line score found the Bridgeman's having three runs on six hits and committing six errors; while the Hartz, who played errorless ball in the field, had six runs on seven hits.

We picked Bridgeman's to win, you will recall.

Greeting from Ted

An interested spectator at the first round game between Fergus Falls and Barnesville at Erskine on Saturday evening, and watching the play of his grandson who was catching for Barnesville, was Ted DuCharme.

Old-time baseball fans in this area will remember Ted, who is a native of Red Lake Falls, as being a top-notch second baseman, and he played some shortstop, too, with the Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire teams.

Ted's best years, perhaps, were those during which he was a member of the St. Hilaire club. And back in those days, following World War I, the Saints were one of northwestern Minnesota's fastest teams. St. Hilaire, with John Melquist pitching, was an even choice to beat any team in this area.

DuCharme, who at sixty-eight years of age looks fit to play several innings of baseball, forwarded greetings to old teammates Myles Jackson, Al Brink, Eddie Kiefenheim, and Bill Hallameck.

And another interested fan at the Fergus Falls vs. Barnesville game, and who also sent greetings to his friends here, was Norm Galloway, the former Bemidji Lumberjack athlete and later the football coach of the Fergus Falls Otters. Norm, who was assistant to head coach Dallas Ward at Colorado U the past couple of seasons, is now employed by the Hamm Brewing Co.

Galloway took great pleasure in reminding us of the results of the Prowlers vs. Fergus Falls football game of 1957. That's the game in which the Prowlers, on a touchdown by Dave Rasmussen and an extra-point plunge by Jim Bennes, held a 26 to 25 lead late in the fourth period. With a minute to play and the ball in possession of Fergus Falls on the Otters' 29-yard line, Coach Galloway's club scored when Tom Glorvigen completed a pass to end Roger Sinner, and Sinner, just as he was tackled, flipped a lateral pass to Tim Cashman, who scooted forty yards for the game-winning points. Norm expressed disappointment that the Fergus Falls vs. Thief River Falls football series had been suspended.

Golf Divots

Larry (Shorty) Perkins, a member of the local golf club, participated in the Bemidji Birchmont Golf tournament that was concluded on Sunday. Shorty, shooting a score of 72-76, gained the championship flight. In his first round match, with a three-under-par performance on the "back nine," Perkins defeated Don Dostert of Minneapolis. After holding a lead at the turn in his match against Jack Adams of Edina, Shorty fell behind on the second nine to lose 1-up.

And the Tunberg Motors golf squad dropped into second place in the league standings, being out-pointed by the American Hardware Mutual squad by six strokes last week.

This week's league schedule will be in recess and a handicap tournament has been arranged for the Wednesday evening stag. An entry fee of one dollar will be assessed, and the golfers participating in the tourney, and it will be a handicap tourney so every golfer will have a chance to win a prize, will be playing for golf ball prizes.

Radio Free Europe to Note Tenth Birthday

The number of radio receivers in the captive countries of East Europe has more than doubled since Radio Free Europe went on the air 10 years ago, and the number of listeners to RFE broadcasts has reached an all-time highs, it was announced by RFE Director Thomas H. Brown, Jr.

Radio Free Europe's expanding audience was reported by Mr. Brown as RFE marked its 10th anniversary. RFE, which now broadcasts 18 hours a day to Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary, and 6 hours daily to Roumania and Bulgaria, went on the air on July 4, 1950.

In July 1950, there were approximately 4,250,000 radio sets in RFE's five target countries, Mr. Brown said. Today, there are 10,519,000 sets capable of receiving western broadcasts in these satellite countries.

Interviews with 735 refugees and travelers from the satellite countries since early 1959 show that approximately 90% of them were RFE listeners, and that most of them listened regularly, Mr. Brown said. RFE was named as the "most preferred" and "most influential" of western stations by those interviewed.

A special study on listenership in Poland, based on interviews with 320 Polish refugees and travellers in West Europe, showed that more than 95% of them had listened to RFE, about 75% of them on a regular basis, Mr. Brown said.

The most popular broadcasts were: news, political programs, information about the West, entertainment, music and religious, economic, educational and cultural programs. The most popular RFE program in Poland was "Polish Tea Party," a musical variety show featuring political satire.

Mr. Brown reported that the 320 Poles who were interviewed described RFE's five "main tasks" as follows:

1. "To inform the people and present a comprehensive picture of events."
2. "To point out the mistakes of the Communist regime."
3. "To inform the audience about the West."
4. "To keep the peoples' hopes alive and help them resist Communism."
5. "To inform the people about the situation in Poland."

When RFE went on the air July 4, 1950, it had only one shortwave transmitter. Today, 28 powerful transmitters in West Germany and Portugal carry RFE programs behind the Iron Curtain. More than 50 Communist radio stations and teletype services are monitered regularly by RFE, and hundreds of Communist newspapers and publications are carefully studied.

A private, non-governmental network, RFE is supported by American contributions to the Radio Free Europe fund. Charles Ritz, board chairman of International Milling company, is Minnesota chairman of Radio Free Europe fund. All contributions are used, without deductions, in sending undistorted news and information to the 78,000,000 captive people in East Europe.

Head of Farmers Union Cites Slump in Farm Population

Pres. Ed Christianson and FU Research Chief Give Talks at Crookston

Minnesota has lost nearly 20,000 family farms since 1954 and rural communities have lost heavily in income, trends which can only be stopped by programs to improve the farm price and income situation, two Farmers Union speakers said Thursday.

Speaking at an area meeting at Crookston, were Edwin H. Christianson, president of Minnesota Farmers Union, and Dr. John M. Eklund, who heads the research and educational program for National Farmers Union.

Among those attending the meeting were the following from this area: Bernard Myers, Cy Carpenter, Lloyd Nelson, Erwin Reimnitz and Herman Anderson.

Mr. Christianson declared that Congress has an obligation to act as soon as possible to head off a further decline in farms and farm income and to restore community prosperity.

He revealed preliminary figures from the official U. S. agricultural census of 1959, showing that Minnesota had lost 19,563 farms since the last farm census in 1954.

Dr. John Eklund dealt with the community stake in strong farm income.

"Our main streets of the thousands of villages and cities in the nation are the economic arteries of America. When farm prices and income are low, the cash registers on main street don't ring like they should. That is why farm prosperity is so vital to everyone," he declared.

Property Taxes up in Most Counties

Total of $437 Million to Be Paid in State in 1960

The property tax constitutes the single most important tax in the state and local tax structure, and produces more than one-half of all state and local taxes collected in Minnesota.

The Minnesota Taxpayers association recently called attention to the fact that the state auditor's annual abstract of property taxes shows that total real and personal property taxes for 1959 (payable in 1960) have risen to a new all-time high of $437,700,000 — an increase of $34½ million or 8.6% over those levied for 1958.

It also was pointed out that total taxable values (the values placed upon the different categories of property by the assessing officials) increased less than $26 million or only 1.2% over those for the previous year.

"When the figures contained in the State Auditor's abstract are examined county by county, the situation is even more alarming," Charles P. Stone, general counsel of the taxpayers Association, announced today.

"Total property valuations in 8 of 87 counties (Cook, Itasca, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, St. Louis and Winona) actually decreased—from 0.1% in Pennington County to 6.3% in St. Louis County. But total taxes levied in these 8 counties increased all the way from 3.4% in Marshall County to 23.6% in Cook County.

WINNER of the reserve championship in the 4-H competition for steers was this animal shown by Charlene Myers of the Silverton club. In all, Charlene and her brother, Harold, showed two grand champion and two reserve champion animals to help the Silverton club earn the most points of all clubs in competition for the Land O'Lakes calf award at the Pennington county fair this year.

4-H WINNER in the beef division was this Angus yearling which won for its exhibitor, Harold Myers, the reserve championship at the Pennington county fair July 27. Harold also won the grand championship in the beef division with a two-year-old and showed the grand champion steer.

AWARDED the junior, senior and grand championship for Hereford females in open competition at the Pennington county fair was Si Hanson of Thief River Falls.

Governors Ask Cut in Federal Gas Tax

Congress Requested to Put It Back to 3 Cents

If the nation's governors have their way, Minnesota motorists will be spared $11,900,000 a year in gasoline taxes.

H. V. Smock, chairman of the Minnesota Petroleum Council, noted that the annual Governors' Conference had called on Congress to restore the federal gasoline tax to its regular three cents a gallon level after July 1, 1961 and to avoid further increases in this levy. Under a temporary boost which went into effect last fall and is slated to expire June 30, 1961, the federal gasoline tax is currently four cents a gallon.

This additional cent is costing Minnesota vehicle operators $11,900,000 a year and nationwide adds some $583 million annually to the tax load borne by highway users, Smock noted.

In a formal resolution, the governors recommended that funds necessary to insure financing of the federal interstate highway construction program should be bolstered by using a larger proportion of federal automobile excise taxes. Currently, $1.7 billion a year in these taxes are being channeled into non-road purposes.

Mr. Smock said that Minnesota motorists are paying a total of nine cents a gallon in gasoline taxes since, besides the four-cent federal tax, they have to pay a state tax of five cents a gallon.

"Every motorist should make it his business to see as the governors are doing, that Congress lets the fourth cent of the federal tax expire as scheduled June 30, 1961," Smock said.

Red Lake Auditor Has Leg Fracture

Arthur Prenevost, Red Lake county auditor, last Tuesday sustained a fractured ankle bone and fibula in a fall from a ladder while he was engaged in trimming a hedge at his home in Red Lake Falls. His leg will be in a cast for some time, and his office is now being attended to by his son Neil, deputy auditor.

Local Band Places 4th at Convention

Legion Group Gives $25 Award by State Legion

Fourth place honors in the band division of the parade which included more than 20 bands at the American Legion convention in Moorhead July 23 were won by the Thief River Falls Legion-Municipal band, it has been announced by Earl Lindahl, director.

Officials of the Legion presented the band with a check for $25 for its prize. Competition included the Ninth District American Legion band, other post bands; municipal bands and many from high schools.

The local band participated at the invitation of the Ecklund-Holmstrom post and marched in the parade which included more than 100 units.

Lindahl said that winning this prize marks a high point in a very successful band season. The local organization includes a number of adults and many high school students.

"In a travel book, I wrote of a certain city that I did not propose to describe its wonders because they had often been described before. Maurice Baring said that this was wrong of me; it did not matter how often anything had been described before because no two people saw, let alone interpreted, the same thing in the same way. This observation stuck in my mind and ever since I have been interested in the different things that different people see. We start, as children, by seeing everything, or as much of everything as we can take in; and although it would quickly become rather tiring, it would do us all good if we had a child as a constant companion, for he would be always noticing things which we had had long since ceased to notice or perhaps never noticed at all."

—Peter Fleming

We Still Have Friends

The Soviet Union used its veto power twice in the United Nations Security Council last week, bringing the total number of Russian vetoes in the history of the organization to 89. They vetoed an American proposal for an international investigation of the shooting down of one of our planes, following the 9 to 2 rejection, by the Council, of Soviet charges that the plane was flying over Russian territory. The Soviets also vetoed an Italian proposal that the International Red Cross contact the two surviving crewmen of the plane being held by the Soviets for trial as spies.

The 9 to 2 vote in our favor on these two questions is welcome assurance that we still have the good will of neutral nations as well as of our allies. In commenting on the Soviet vetoes, our chief delegate, Henry Cabot Lodge, made this statement:

> "It is a sad thing when a people as warm hearted as the Soviet people is represented by a government as cold-hearted, brutal, hard and cynical as they showed themselves to be tonight."

We like that differentiation between the people of Russia and their government. It was the government of Germany that we fought and not the German people. It was the government of Japan that we fought and not the Japanese. And it is the government of the Soviet Union that we do not now trust, and not the Russian people.

Those who speak for us on international matters should keep these facts in mind, as Lodge obviously did when he made the above statement.

Incidentally, this man Lodge has handled himself well under trying circumstances as our spokesman in the United Nations.

Must They Be Forced?

It is encouraging to know that efforts are being made to reduce the hazards of the highways. An engineering report published by the United States public health service, states that improvements in automobile design could reduce traffic injuries by one-half in ten years.

As a result of research in auto crash injuries at Cornell university, Dr. Irwin Bross has recommended a number of changes that he thinks will add to the safety of driving. And there are other studies dealing with various phases of the problem including driver education, law enforcement and highway improvement, that should be helpful.

It is interesting to note that while safety belts are recognized as effective in reducing the dangers of traveling by car, motorists apparently do not want to be bothered with them. In other words the average American shrugs off the danger with an it-won't-happen-to-me attitude. It seems that we will get safer drivers only as we force drivers to drive more safely.

A Billion Dollars

That billion dollar surplus that came to light after the federal books for fiscal 1960 were closed, was a happy surprise. It was unexpected and, believe it or not, it was the result of curtailed spending rather than unexpectedly large revenues. Revenues fell somewhat short of the estimates.

The net result is due largely to the efforts of the President in dealing with two groups of public enemies, the bureaucrats and the members of congress. The spenders were, shall we say, restrained. Presidential vetoes curbed a spending spree that would have increased the government's debt by several billion dollars and those would have been highly inflationary dollars.

A billion dollars saved is a billion dollars earned. A round of cheers for Ike.

The Changes Will Come

Dr. Leo Herber's factual presentation of the relationship between smoking and lung cancer at the Rotary Club luncheon a week ago, was alarming because it was convincing. That cigarette smoking does increase the chances of developing lung cancer, recognized authorities agree, he stated.

Especially interesting was a film dramatization of the effect of cigarette smoking, climaxed by a close-up movie-and-sound picture of a lung removal operation. In the interests of a healthier America, this picture, along with the facts, should be presented at all of our schools.

What really impressed us, however, was the picture and the close-up view of what was being done by surgeons in performing an operation that was not considered possible a few years ago. It was the picture that impressed us, thinking in terms of the important part such pictures will play in future education. Medical students of the future will have opportunities to observe the world's greatest surgeons at work, and the pictures will be explained by the most competent instructors.

And what is true for education in the field of medicine and surgery is possible too for many other fields of education. The greatest teachers, equipped with the most complete laboratory facilities, can be made available to students thruout the world. And considering the thousands of times one recording can be used, this type of superior instruction should be comparatively cheap.

There will be interesting developments in education during the next few years as present experiments will be put to practical use. There always is resistance to change and no doubt there will be resistance to improved methods of teaching, but the changes will come nevertheless.

Foreign Scholarships

(Houston Post)

Of all the cultural exchange programs designed to foster international understanding and build a foundation for an enduring peace, none has won more universal acceptance and approval than those for the exchange of scholars and students.

Through the years, the Fulbright scholarship program alone has enabled many American graduate students to pursue their pre-doctoral studies abroad and at the same time has contributed significantly to improving relations between the United States and the countries in which they study.

The Institute of International Education, Inc., has announced that applications now are being received for Fulbright scholarships for the 1961-62 academic year, but of perhaps even greater interest was the fact that applications also are being taken for scholarships under the Inter-American Cultural Convention which will permit graduate study in 17 Latin American countries.

It is doubtful if there is any area in which there is greater need for better understanding among peoples of different cultural backgrounds than in the two Americas, and it is equally doubtful if there is any more effective way of approaching the problem on a long-range basis than through scholarship programs of this kind.

More Worries

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

The United States has another problem to consider in dealing with Cuba: the new Russian ambassador.

According to the Tass news agency in Moscow, the new ambassador from the Kremlin will be Sergei Kudryatsev. The name may not mean too much to the man in the street but it is well known to United States and Canadian security officials. Kudryatsev was the man who set up and masterminded the Soviet spy ring in Canada which operated from 1942 through 1945 when it was uncovered.

The Canadian royal commission that studied the espionage ring said that he was the "first head of the military intelligence espionage system in Canada" after the Soviet government opened its diplomatic mission in Ottawa. One of the main aims of the Russian spy ring was to obtain information about U. S., British and Canadian atomic research.

Appointment of a man with such a background to the Cuban post is strong evidence that the Soviet government plans to create a new spy network operating out of Havana and suggests that Cuba, less than 100 miles off the U. S. coast will become not only a center for espionage in the U. S. but also throughout Latin America.

Kudryatsev has not been able to get close to the U. S. since 1947 when he came to the United States as an "adviser" to the Soviet delegation to the United Nations. He was recalled home four months later after his presence stirred up a storm of protest.

His activities will be under no restraints in Cuba and, as a result, U. S.-Cuban relations, already deteriorating rapidly, will be further strained.

Be Ready To Respond

(Manchester Guardian, England)

Dr. Castro is now trying to goad the United States into actions which would alienate the sympathies of its neighbours in the southern hemisphere. This is so obviously the purpose of his taunts that Mr. Eisenhower may be expected not to fall into this particular trap. And there must also be the hope that as the Cuban economy runs into troubles which oratory can no longer conceal or if it becomes too obviously dependent on the Russians, Dr. Castro will find himself compelled to change his tune.

A few months ago, during the President's South American tour, his hosts hinted that the United States would gain more in continental prestige than it could lose in Cuba from economic reprisals. That may or may not be true. But if at any time there is a change of heart, the Americans should be ready to respond quickly.

A Lac qui Parle county farmer no longer uses a moldboard plow on corn land—but gets yields of more than 100 bushels per acre. Armand Fernholz instead chops his stalk residue and chisel plows seven inches deep. Result, says Robert Leary, assistant county agent, is less soil compaction, less moisture loss, no back or dead furrows, no head lands, no scouring problem and no more plow sole. Fernholz started using the chisel plow back in 1943 and recently gave up the moldboard plow entirely. His brothers Pete and Jerry also use the chisel plow method.

Oats-peas silage meant extra forage and helped solve the wild oats problem for Donald Knutson, farmer near Thief River Falls. He had up to 15 tons of silage per acre on the alkaline soils. Also, he dealt a severe blow to the bothersome wild oats, for two reasons. First, removing wild oats seeds along with crop cut down the potential for next year. Second, full cultivation was possible. Knutson raised 15 to 20 acres of oats and peas each, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agent.

A good crop rotation is the foundation for soil conservation on Edward Bursch's rolling farm near Minneapolis in Hennepin county. He says all crop yields have gone up and sheet erosion has gone down since he started using a four-year rotation of corn, grain, hay and hay. He recently told Lloyd Larsen, SCS technician, that his corn yields last year averaged 90 bushels per acre.

A man who settled on 80 acres in northern Minnesota 32 years ago to "whittle out" a living is the 1960 Tree Farmer of the Year. Erick Salmonson, Bigfork, won the award from Keep Minnesota Green, Inc. During the past 18 years, Salmonson's "wood bank" has returned him $6,000 worth of timber products. In addition, he has produced all his own fuel from tops and cull trees. Through selective cutting, he has maintained a good stand and has set out pines in open land. Now retired, he is living comfortably on his woodlot income and savings, according to Floyd Colburn, Itasca county extension forester.

One way to get a child off a destructive bent is to divert his attention. Stopping erosion from runoff is a bit the same way—you change the water's direction. That's what's done by a diversion terrace, like one constructed in 1958 on a slope on the William Caughey farm, 10 miles south of Brainerd. After watching the way the terrace held water during a heavy rain, Caughey says he wouldn't give it up for any price. He plans another such terrace this summer and will get help from the Crow Wing soil conservation district and E. S. Cederholm, SCS technician.

Even though he's farmed more than 40 years, Harvey Eickholt is willing to try something new. The Springfield area farmer this spring put in 1.6 miles of terraces, 1.5 acres of sod waterways, converted eight acres of cropland to permanent hay and may do some terracing this fall. Helping him out with the planning is Lester Schmidt, local SCS technician for the Brown county soil conservation district.

The Flower Show

Summertime is flower show time in Minnesota. The increased interest in flower arranging has resulted in many new flower shows throughout the state. Here are a few suggestions that will make your flowers blue ribbon winners.

Flowers for specimen and flower arranging should be free from insect and disease symptoms; therefore, good culture is essential in preparing for the flower show. Protect your flowers with a good all-purpose garden spray or dust. When you are planning for exhibiting, do not spray or dust a few days before picking the flowers.

Keep the flowers free from mechanical damage. Where specimens are to be taken, stake them so that they are not damaged by high winds. Often the color can be brightened by providing shade from the hot sun. Also, a mulch at the base of the plant will tend to keep the soil cool and provide better substance in the flowers themselves.

Flowers may be cut either in the early morning or evening. Avoid cutting them in mid-day. When the flowers have been cut, place them in warm water of room temperature. If the flowers are wilted, let them recover before placing them in a cool storage area. Flowers will keep much better in the show if they are pre-cooled or "hardened" overnight.

Be sure to enter your flowers properly. Enter them only in appropriate lots. If you are not sure where your flowers belong at the flower show, ask one of the show officials to help you locate the proper space for your exhibit.

In the haste of preparing your entries, do not forget to put water in your containers.

Garden Grooming

The difference between a good garden and an outstanding garden is the careful manicuring or grooming that is done to make the garden more beautiful. Grooming includes edging to define the outline or pattern of the garden, mulching the flower border and removing the dead flowers as they occur.

Edging along the flower borders, sidewalks and driveways brings out the general effect of the design. It tends to sharpen and create interest in the garden itself. It's not necessary to dig a deep trench along the sod edge. In fact, a deep trench makes it difficult to mow and causes the edge of the sod to dry out. Once the sod has been removed next to the garden, the soil may be replaced and firmed. From time to time, merely working the edging tool against the sod edge will cut off any new sod development within the garden itself.

For permanence, aluminum edging material can be used to maintain the perfect edge along the garden. It also prevents the creeping in of certain perennial weeds.

A summer mulch using compost, buckwheat hulls or other porous materials will help to conserve moisture and to hold down the development of weeds. Where perennials are grown, the cooler soil temperatures tend to develop a stronger root system.

Cut back hybrid tea roses when they have finished blooming. Prune them back to the first five leaflets to provide for earlier reblooming and sturdier shoots.

Almost all annuals and perennials can be pinched back and dead flowers removed to help extend their blooming period.

While your'e writing checks for the monthly bills, write one to yourself, and buy a U.S. Savings Bond with it. In just 7 years and 9 months it will return you $4 for each $3 you put in.

And then there was the man who thought, back in 1946, that building prices would come down.

Physicians Offer Hot Weather Tips

Says Nature Provides Own Air-conditioning System

You are your own air conditioning system. Nature has provided the human body with a built-in cooling system which regulates the body's responses to temperature change. A portion of the brain acts as a thermostat which places into action certain body functions intended to provide a cooling effect. Enlargement of the blood vessels to allow additional amounts of body heat to escape through the skin is one of the primary functions of the human cooling system.

Perpirxration is the next step in the cooling process. When the sweat glands function, the fluid or perspiration extracted from the blood is forced through the pores of the skin, thus carrying with it excess body heat. To make it easy for the body to carry out its cooling functions, the Minnesota State Medical Association lists the following "take it cool" facts.

Use of light, porous clothing is recommended for maximum evaporation which is a cooling process. Wardrobe articles should be selected keeping in mind that cottons, linens and silks are recommended for their absorbent qualities.

Wearing apparel containing a blend of one of the more absorbent fabrics if any degree of comfort is desirable.

Maintain a normal, well-rounded daily diet. Take it easy with starchy foods which produce added body heat.

It isn't very likely that you will drink too much fluid during a hot spell. Nor does it matter whether the fluid is cool, warm or tepid. However, rapid swallowing of iced drinks when exceedingly warm may produce cramps due to chilling of the intestines.

Public Opinion

Editor the Times:

The long awaited report of the Minnsota Attorney General has been released and the press has naturally exploited what is sensational, generally ignoring the splendid work being done at the Kenny Institute and the fine people who have made it possible.

The friends we have made over the years, during which we have been associated with the Kenny Foundation, are most important to us and we feel impelled to write you. Many of us, both as volunteers and employes, have been subjected to cruel remarks by unthinking or uninformed people, and these remarks hurt. Nevertheless, the work which we have accomplished together has resulted to the benefit of many suffering people; to us this has been worth the effort. It is as necessary now as it ever has been to keep the Kenny Institute in operation.

The following is an excerpt from a letter to a Minnesota Chest, written by Mr. William C. Walsh, Direcor of the Minnesota Community Research Council:

"We have a copy of the report by the Attorney General and we find no criticism of the operations of the Minnesota Area Chapter nor the Sister Kenny Institute in Minneapolis.

"The Sister Kenny Institute in Minneapolis continues to operate under competent medical leadership. We do not believe that the Board of Directors of the United Fund of Faribault should feel any embarrassment for having included the Sister Kenny Foundation in its appeal and they should know that the money which they have contributed through the years to the Sister Kenny organization is not involved in the present disclosure involving two former employes."

We would like to further emphasize that the money sent us by our chairmen and Community Chests in this area goes directly to the Kenny Institute where it is used for the care and treatment of the patients there.

The board of directors is in the process of being reorganized and the medical staff at the Institute have pledged themselves to continue their work in what the Attorney General calls "one of the finest hospitals of its kind in the world."

We, too, feel that we must continue our efforts in this humanitarian work and we hope that you will also continue your support.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I will be going to school this fall under the Korean GI Bill. If I have to take any days off from my classroom studies, will my GI school allowance be reduced?

A—As long as your days off do not exceed the number permitted by your school and the State Approving Agency no deduction will be made. Your allowance check will be for the full amount.

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran, and up to now have not been eligible for a pension because my husband's death was not service-connected. I understand the new pension law has changed that, and that I may now be eligible. Is this correct?

A—Yes. Widows of World War II and Korea veterans may now be eligible if their husbands had 90 days or more of active service, part of it during wartime, and were discharged under other than dishonorable conditions. The widows' incomes, of course, must not exceed legal limits for pension eligibility. This new pension law went into effect July 1, 1960.

Q—A friend is writing this for me as I am quite helpless. I am not a veteran, but the husband of a woman-veteran who has just died. Please tell me about the law that says a helpless widower of a woman-veteran may receive benefits based on the death of his wife.

A—The unremarried widower of a woman-veteran may receive VA death benefits if he is incapable of self-maintenance and, at the time of his wife's death, was permanently incapable of self-support because of physical or mental disability. Your nearest VA office will be glad to give you all the details.

Q—Do creditors have any right to seize proceeds of a GI insurance policy to get money owed them? I am the beneficiary of my veteran-husband's GI insurance policy. He owed a few bills at his death, which I fully intend to pay.

A—Proceeds of a GI insurance policy are exempted by law from any claims of private creditors. The proceeds may not be seized or attached to pay your husband's debts.

Q — I am now getting compensation for a service-connected disability rated 10-percent. Am I entitled to any more compensation for dependents?

A — No. The law does not authorize payments for dependents of veterans whose service-connected disabilities are found to be less than 50 percent in degree.

Q — I will be going back to school this fall, under the GI Bill, but am not sure the course I have been taking is the right one for me. Would I be eligible for VA vocational counseling to help me choose a course better suited to my aptitudes? I have never changed courses.

A — Yes. If you decide you want to change courses, simply indicate on your application that you want vocational counseling. VA will schedule an appointment for you.

Q — A friend of ours who formerly was not eligible for VA pension because of his income will now be qualified under the new pension law. He is in need of regular aid and attendance. Can he be paid more because of that?

A — Yes. A veteran rated in need of regular aid and attendance may be paid $70 a month over and above pension payments determined according to his income.

Q — I am the widow of a Korea veteran and want to write VA about my eligibility for a pension. What kind of identifying information about my husband should I include in my letter?

A — Give your husband's full name and his VA claim number, if he had one, his serial number, date of birth, enlistment and discharge dates, and anything you think helpful.

TR Foundatio Explains Aims to Local Group

Points out Purpose of Agency to County and City Officials

Directors of the Thief River Falls Foundation met at the Rex Cafe Tuesday noon with representatives of local governmental units and financial institutions who serve as an advisory group for the organization.

The purpose of the meeting was to inform the members of the county board and the county auditor; the city council and the mayor; the school board and representaives of the two banks and the savings & loan association of objectives of the Foundation, the progress it has made to date, and their responsibilities in an advisory capacity.

President L. B. Hartz presided and called upon W. E. Dahlquist to review the short history of the organization and its purposes, and upon Judge Paul A. Lundgren to explain the legal aspects of the corporation and its by-laws. Judge Lundgren stated that in general the corporation was organized on the same pattern as oher non-profit organizations of this kind, for the purpose of administering funds contributed or assigned to it for the purposes prescribed by the contributors.

The Foundation is organized to serve in perpetuity, he said, and most of the money entrusted to it probably will be made available in the form of revolving funds for student aid. The organization has broad powers, however, to "administer, in its own behalf, or as the representative, agent or trustee for others, funds or property contributed for the purpose of establishing educational scholarships or loans, or for civic, commercial, educational, benevolent, charitable, social, and recreational purposes.

Treasurer E. O. Peterson and secretary Robert L. Lund were called on to report on the financial condition of the Foundation and the conduct of its affairs to the present time. Total receipts from all sources to date were $10,467.08 and disbursements of $8,084.69, leaving a balance on hand of $2,382.39. Loans outstanding total $2,470. In addition to funds on hand the Foundation is the recipient of a bequest of $10,000 by the late Frank A. Rinkel who served as president.

Included in the receipts and disbursements to date was the sum of $4,503.50 which the Foundation handled as a trustee for various interested parties in the acquisition of land for the roadside park east of the Eighth st. bridge.

Eight student loans have been made, in a total amount of $3,470, four of them to students attending the Area Vocational school. Of this total $1,000 has been repaid.

Friends of Library Set Flower Show and Silver Tea Saturday

Prolonged dry weather the last month has caused some changes to be made in the flower classes in the Friends of the Library flower show to be held here Saturday afternoon.

It was announced today that arrangements of weeds and wild flower would be placed in one category along with winter bouquets, to allow the inclusion of a house plant class in the show.

Lack of rain has caused growth in many gardens in the area to come to complete standstill. Only where watering has been possible are summer perennials still making a show. In many cases only the most drought resistant annuals continue to produce bloom.

Other classes previously announced to be included in the show are formal and informal arrangements and minatures. The latter should not exceed five inches in height. Ribbons will also be awarded for the two most perfect flower specimens.

Entries for the show should be brought to the library from 9-11 on Saturday morning. Exhibitors are asked to accompany their entries with a card stating their name and the class in which their entry should be placed.

The show will be open to the public for 1-5 in the afternoon. The public is also invited to attend the "pocket silver" tea to be held in conjunction with the show. Membership cards for Friends of the Library will also be available for purchase. Annual dues are fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for children.

Illegal Operation of Boat Penalized

St. Hilaire Man Is Fined in Municipal Court Here

The first case of illegal operation of a watercraft to be prosecuted here under the 1959 boat law was brought into municipal court Monday after a near accident on the river Sunday.

Brought to court by the sheriff's office as the result of a citizen's arrest was Jack C. Srnsky, St. Hilaire. Srnsky was the operator of a boat which narrowly missed hitting another driven by Glenn Peterson, city. Srnsky came so close to the Peterson boat that the skier behind Srnsky's boat, to avert a collision, had to drop the tow rope, which flew across the other boat and hit two occupants. One of the skis also landed in the boat after the skier fell, according to Peterson.

Charged with careless operation of a boat, Srnsky pleaded guilty and was fined $15. On the deputy sheriff's complaint of operating a boat towing a skier without an observer or curved rear view mirror Srnsky also pleaded guilty and was fined an additional $25, of which $15 was suspended.

Air Raid Warning Is Being Confused with Fire Alarms

Many calls from city residents have been coming in to the police department regarding the regular monthly testing of air raid sirens and Roy Langevin, fire chief, has issued a statement regarding the tests for which he is responsible.

According to the fire chief the fire department is called on the first Wednesday of every month at about 1 p.m. and asked to test the air raid warning signals.

All sirens give a steady blast for about one minute (the possible attack signal) followed by a one minute period of short blasts indicating "all clear."

To Rebuild T.H. No. 1 from TRF to Goodridge

Bids to Be Opened August 19; Other Work Also Slated

Three highway projects of special interest to this area are included in a call for bids for work totaling almost $6,500,000 to be opened by the state highway department in St. Paul August 19, Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman announced today.

One project calls for the rebuilding of Highway 1 for a distance of 16.6 miles east from Thief River Falls to the junction with Highway 219 at the Goodridge corner. It entails grading, gravel base, soil-cement base and road mixed bituminous base.

A second job calls for plant-mixed bituminous surfacing and gravel shoulders on 17.8 miles of Highway 32 between Middle River and Greenbush.

The third project calls for grading, gravel base and plant-mixed bituminous base on 6.3 miles of Highway 59 between Karlstad and Strandquist.

Zimmerman reported that virtually all of the 1961 allocation of ABC funds had been utilized by the end of June and considerable apprehension was expressed that it would be necessary to call a halt to contracts in the immediate future pending receipt of the 1962 allocation.

"Happily the necessity for such action has been averted," said Zimmerman, "and we propose to place as much work under contract — for all categories of highways — as we possibly can, being limited only by federal reimbursement control regulations and our ability to complete plans, acquire right of way, and complete other necessary preliminaries."

C. H. Beiswenger to Be Given Fallout Shelter for Farm

Prototype Shelter to Be Open to Inspection Following Completion

The C. H. Beiswenger family, who live seven miles east of the city and two miles south, has been chosen from a group of six applicants to receive federal funds for the construction of a fallout shelter on the farm, it has been announced by Kenneth Gustafson, city-county civil defense director.

The Beiswenger application was selected in a drawing Wednesday afternoon, Gustafson said, and family will be contacted soon by the federal office of civil and defense mobilization which will provide about $600 in funds for the shelter's construction and the information as to the best type of shelter to build. Furnishings for the shelter and the supplies which will be stored in it will be provided by the Beiswengers.

The county was designated as one of two in the 14-county northwestern Minnesota area for the erection of a prototype shelter. The rural shelter will be built in Pennington county and the urban shelter in Moorhead.

An above-ground shelter may be erected but it is thought that a basement-type unit is more feasible and will come more closely within the limit of the funds provided.

The Beiswenger shelter, after completion, will be open for public examination for at least 20 days under the contract which will be signed with the government.

Air Force May Set up Radar Bomb Scoring Unit Near T.R. Falls

A team of Air Force officers visited this city this week to survey the area near Thief River Falls for possible location of one of the Strategic Air Command's (SAC) radar mob scoring units.

If the area is selected by the team, and later approved by all governmental agencies concerned, approximately 24 to 50 Air Force RBS technicians would be stationed here.

The detachment, operating from mobile trailers, would be similar to 25 other units scattered throughout the U.S.

Actual dates of arrival of personnel cannot be determined since higher headquarters and other agencies must approve the selection. If the site is selected and approved by all concerned, would then be announced.

Primary mission of this type unit is to score the accuracy of bombing by SAC's B-52 and B-47 jet bombers which will use the Thief River Falls area as an electronic target. The bombers will use electronic impulses instead of actual bombs when they make their runs. The impulses are scored on a map and the resulting computations by the RBS unit will tell the crew of the bomber how accurate they

Slayer of Kenneth Lindbergh to Get Mental Hearing

Court of Appeals in St. Louis, Mo., Grants Plea of James P. Taylor

The 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis, Mo., has ordered a hearing on the mental competence of James P. Taylor, 35, sentenced to life in federal prison in 1956 for the slaying of Kenneth Lindbergh, Thief River Falls bank cashier. No date has been set for the hearing.

The decision, in effect, reverses Judge Gunnar Nordbye, who denied Taylor the hearing after considering the motion last year in federal court in Minneapolis. The jurist said the record did not warrant reopening the case.

Taylor contended that he had been incompetent to understand the charges against him when his court-appointed atorney advised him to plead guilty to the murder charge.

In St. Paul, Fallon Kelly, federal district attorney, said he would study the circuit court's decision with a possibility an appeal may be carried to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Connie Ekeren Tells Greece Experiences

An interesting account of the experiences of Connie Ekeren, Lincoln high school junior and daughter of the Ole Ekerens, who is spending the summer in Greece as an American Field Service exchange student, is contained in the following letter received from Miss Ekeren last week:

Since my arrival in Athens on June 30, I have been in a wonderfully different type of world. I would like to take this opportunity to tell you a little about my new life.

On July 1 I arrived in Patras. Much to my surprise and delight I was welcomed at the station by Mary Demetrellow. She introduced me to my Greek family.

My family, the finest in Patras, is well-known and well-liked throughout the city. As is true of all the wealthy families, they have a car.

In the heart of city on the main street my father operates a confectionary shop. His knowledge of English is very little. Especially in my first few days here, he tried so hard to make me feel like one of the family. He often said, "Now two daughters."

My mother doesn't speak English but we manage to understand each other through sign language and interpreters. She is anxious for me to fatten up; she thinks this will please my parents.

Golfo, my Greek sister, is fifteen years old. In her class she is a top student. She has studied English for only two years. When I first arrived she didn't speak very well, but she has shown much improvement. In two years she would like to come to the U. S. as an exchange student.

Christ, my seventeen-year-old brother, has studied English for two years. He is proud to be a Red Cross volunteer. Among his interests are basketball, classical music and deep-sea diving.

Thirteen-year-old Angelos has been studying English for three weeks now. The first time he spoke a full sentence to me he said, "I, father, mother, Chris, Golfo love you." Angelos wants to come to the United States but he doesn't want to wait until he's old enough to be an exchange student.

He wants me to take him home with me.

Because help is very cheap here, there are two maids. One of the maids was in a German prison camp when she was eighteen years old. While there she met Anne Frank who was fourteen at that time.

As is true of many Greek homes, my home is above my father's shop. Its ten rooms include six bedrooms, a dining room, sitting room, kitchen and bath. The dining room serves as a family room. Only on special occasions would the sitting room be used.

They have many strange customs here. For example, when driving at night, the car lights are used only to flick off and on to warn oncoming horses, cars and pedestrians. Within the city they don't use their lights at all because of the street lights.

Eating hours are quite different. They have no breakfast although they get up at 8:00. About 2:00 or 3:00 the noon meal is served.

Following this is a siesta which lasts until about 6:00. The evening meal is served anytime after ten but before twelve. In between meals they eat often.

From 1:00 until 4:30 the shops of the town are closed. Monday through Friday they close for the day at 8:00. On Saturday they are open only from 9:00-1:00.

Cafes and confectionary shops are open about the same hours as United States restaurants. Because there is very little automobile traffic, the cafes have tables not only on the sidewalk, but in the streets also.

The Greek boys and girls don't dance to rock and roll music. They prefer a cha-cha, mambo, or tango.

Though they don't have drive-in theaters, there are outdoor movie houses. When entering a Greek theater, you will find a lobby much like our American theaters have minus the concession stand. You sit in folding chairs without a roof over your head when watching the movie. During the movie small boys go around selling pop and candy, but no popcorn.

Every Sunday night, all the people of Patras go for a walk down Saint Nicholas Street to the pier and back again. There is no room for cars because the streets are packed with most of Patrases 120,000 people. About eight o'clock one of the bands of the city marches thru the city.

The temperature is in the nineties every day. Once in a while there will be a cloud in the sky over the mountains but usually the sky is clear. It rains very seldom so I don't expect to be here for more than a day or two of light rain.

I have had many wonderful experiences with many more to come. When I return I will have much to tell and many pictures to show.

I cannot tell you how enriched my life has been through participating in the American Field Service program. Only another AFS'er can know how I feel.

I will always be grateful to those who made this trip possible through contributions of time and money. I can't find words meaningful enough to thank you.

It is my sincere wish that not only I, but all whom I come in contact with, will benefit from this great experience.

Sincerely,
Connie Ekeren

Mayor Tells Lions of City Projects

Green Also Reminds of Change in Polling Places

Mayor Orin Green, now in the eighth month of his two-year term, discussed his duties at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday in the Elks club rooms.

Introduced by Dr. Leo Herber, program chairman, reminded his hearers that, starting with the primary election September 13, city voters will cast their ballots at polling places to be set up in the various wards, instead of residents of the entire city voting at the city Auditorium as in the past.

Polling places, he said, will be as follows: First ward, Northrop school; second, Masonic hall, third, city Auditorium; fourth, Knox school; and fifth, St. John's church.

The mayor told of the big water plant improvement project now under way, and added that another current project is the street surfacing work north of Fourth st.

George Hale, club secretary, urged members to participate in the Aquacade parade Saturday evening.

Public Opinion

"The Tumult and the Shouting Dies", the buttons and ballyhoo of the Democrats and the hats and hoopla of the Republicans "Are One with Ninevah and Tyre." The two great political parties have chosen their standard bearers after a brilliant kick-off by Senator Church of Idaho for the Democrats and an even more brilliant return by Congressman Judd for the Republicans.

Of course nobody was particularly concerned with choice of either party for it was a foregone conclusion who the nominees would be. Some attempt was was made at both Los Angeles and Chicago to stir up interest in the choice of the candidates for vice-president. And to give credit where credit is due, Senator Johnson did a fair job of play-acting in the role of Mr. Hard-to-get.

But the five-hour, middle-of-the-night conference of the Republicans leaders fell flat on its face for those keen-eyed, sharp-witted boys of the Fourth Estate had already told the world that Ambassador Lodge was leaving Thursday morning for the convention city. That did it.

By-passing the two keynote speeches and really great nominating speech by Senator McCarthy, there were two addresses, one from each party, that were to and for the American people rather than for party consumption. Senator Goldwater of Arizona and Governor Rockefeller of New York were not thinking, nor did they speak in terms of party loyalty, party solidarity or party victory in November. They spoke to Americans in terms of the American way of life, of American ideals, of American standards of integrity and honor. After hearing Senator Goldwater and Governor Rockefeller there came a sense of security; the political life of America is in good hands.

It appears to be the concensus among the delegates of both parties, that the ensuing political campaign will be the fiercest, the bitterest and the cruelest that this nation has ever experienced. There will be no rules observed and holds barred. That hard core democratic leadership, a hold-over of the Roosevelt-Truman regime knows every political trick in the book and some that are not in the book.

These leaders will be joined by a group of office-hungry come-latelies who will cover every inch of political soil. Mr. Kennedy predicts the possibility that the Democrats will carry every one of the fifty states. And they may do just that.

The sinews of a political campaign like the sinews of war is Money. Money is power, money is publicity, money is propaganda, and the Republicans do have money. And they will spend it like water to keep that which it took them twenty years to attain, another Republican victory in November. Mr. Nixon said that he would visit every one of the fifty states and that he would campaign in every one of the fifty states visited. That will take money, not thousands but millions of dollars to defray the expense of a nation-wide campaign of three months duration. Publicity and Republican propaganda will clog the mails and they will clog the air lanes, and the Republicans have the money to pay the bills.

And there seems to be no doubt that "Mud, threat and smears", (to despoil and befoul the heroic statement of a great statesman) will have a part in the coming struggle. In spite of the honest, heart-felt appeal of the leaders of both parties, there will be areas where religious belief will be made an issue, for which the voters in those areas where religious belief will be made an issue, for which the voters in those areas should be so ashamed; so heartily ashamed. To criticise or condemn another for his religious belief is as cruel and heartless and shameful as to criticise or condemn him because his mother speaks with an accent and has hands that are scarred and misshapen with toil. God forbid.

The civil rights planks, the farm programs, the national defense and the tax issue engendered internecine combat in the committees of both parties. But that isn't even a suggestion as to what will happen when these items are made issues in the coming campaign. It's too late now to sound the pibroch or cry, "To your tents, O Israel! The die is cast!" What time does the next space ship leave for Mars? Or, come to think of it, better make it Jupiter.

U.S. Social Security Paid $720,384 to 1149 in Pennington in '59

At the end of 1959, as federal social security was starting its 25th year, old-age, survivors, and disability insurance monthly benefits were being paid in Pennington county to 1149 persons at the rate of $720,384 a year, according to Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks district office. "This is an increase in number of beneficiaries of about nine per cent since Febraury 1959, the last previous date for which county figures are available," he said.

Nationally, about 13¾ million persons were receiving old-age, survivors, and disability insurance monthly benefits at the end of 1959 at an annual rate of more than $10 billion. At the close of 1940—the first year in which monthly benefits were payable—beneficiaries throughout the nation totaled 200,000. Almost half a million disabled-worker beneficiaries and their dependents receiving benefits at a yearly rate of over $100 million are included in the figures for 1959.

The number of wives, husbands, and children of disabled-worker beneficiaries receiving monthly benefits increased sharply in 1959. Such benefits were first payable for September 1958. Nationally, from February to December 1959, the number of these beneficiaries more than doubled—from 60,000 to 126,000.

Payments to a retired worker with no dependents receiving benefits averaged $69 a month nationally at the end of last December, to a retired couple, both of whom were receiving benefits, the average payment was $121. The average for a widow with two young children was $169.

As social security celebrates its silver anniversary (the original act was signed into law on August 14, 1935) about 74 million working people are in covered employement or self-employment in the course of a year. They are building old-age, survivors, and disability protection for them selves, their dependents, and their survivors under the social security law.

The table below shows the number and monthly amount of each type of benefit being paid in Pennington county as of December 31, 1959, the date of the latest available tabulation:

Beneficiary	No.	Monthly Amt.
Retired worker	724	$13,984
Disabled worker	13	951
Wife or husband of retired or disabled worker	216	6,766
Widow or widower	54	2,424
Mother with child	25	1,418
Children or retired, deceased or disabled worker	116	4,445

For the entire state of Minnesota, old-age, survivors, and disability insurance payments at the end of December 1959 were being paid to 271,855 beneficiaries. Benefits totaling $199,466,412 were paid in Minnesota during 1959.

Air Force Plans Installation of Radar Unit Here would have been had they dropped a real bomb.

Through this daily realistic bombing practice, SAC crews can keep in top form for a retaliatory attack on any country that would attempt an attack on the U. S.

The Air Force officers and one civilian engineer here to survey a possible site for the installation are Lt. Col. Frank H. Bouldin, Capt. Maurice Dobbs, and 1st Lt. Robert R. Kelley from Hq. 1st. Radar Bomb Scoring Gp., Carswell AFB, Ft Worth, Tex. The 1st RBS Gp. is a unit of the Strategic Air Command (SAC).

The civilian engineer with the group is Larry Amundson, who is with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

At a special meeting of the council with the officers and interested local individuals, including Mayor Orin Green, the councilmen passed a resolution to lease the necessary land at the airport for a nominal fee, grant the necessary easements and fully cooperate otherwise with the Air Force in building the radar site.

The Air Force team looked over the city and surrounding area by air last Monday evening. Many local residents no doubt wondered why the large white and red twin-engine aircraft circled the city several times about 6 p.m. Monday. The plane was a Convair T-29 used by the AF as a navigational trainer, and lately used as a RBS survey unit transport.

The officers stressed that location of the RBS unit here is contingent upon several factors, one of which is approval of a proposed new "Oil Burner" route for SAC bombing practice by the Federal Aviation Agency.

4-H Club News

Smiley 4-H

Safety was stressed throughout the evening when the Smiley 4-H club met Tuesday, July 12. All members were asked to write a safety slogan upon arrival. The slogans were later judged and winners announced. Arlo Rude had the winning one for under 14 and Carolyn Torkelson and Sharon Rude tied for first prize in the over 14 group. The contest was held at a local level since there will be no state contest this year.

For her food preparation project, Charlene Rude gave a demonstration on making a salad. Sharon Rude demonstarated judging a loaf of bread as part of her work in the bread project. Law Violators Fined in Court During Week

Several cases were handled in municipal court again last Monday and Thursday, although the number was down from previous weeks.

Brought in by the sheriff's office Thursday was Willard Erickson, rt. 1, who pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of intoxicants and was given a 30-day jail sentence. For driving after license revocation he was given an additional 30 days.

Roy F. Erickson, rt. 1, pleaded guilty to an open bottle charge and was fined $25. For permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a car he was fined an additional $25 and for drunkness, $10. Delman Cote, also in the car with the Ericksons, was given a 10-day sentence, suspended.

The sheriff also had two cases Monday. Bernard O. Uglem, rt. 1 Goodridge, forfeited $15 bond for possession of beer by a minor, while Gordon P. Hendrickson, Goodridge, pleaded guilty to speeding and fined $17.50. The other case involing careless boat operation, is described in a separate story.

The highway patrol had no cases in court. However Donald H. Toomey, city, charged with having an open bottle in a car and drunkenness, forfeited $25 bond on the first charge and $15 on the second for non-appearance.

All other cases were brought by city police. Helmer A. Hinden, city, was given a 30 day sentence to run consecutively with the 30-day sentence now being served after pleading guilty to driving after license revocation. He was caught driving a car only shortly after his appearance in court last week in which he was fined and his license was revoked for drunken driving. His license plates and registration card were also ordered impounded.

Lyle T. Bjorge, rt. 3, pleaded guilty to driving after his driver's license was suspended and was fined $25, sentence stayed 90 days. Dale W. Glass, city, pleaded guilty to making an improper turn and was fined $10.

Problems of Aging to Be Topic August 25-26

Work on problems of the aging population has progressed to such a degree that Minnesota now has ready workable recommendations to present to national authorities.

"Our design for action will be presented at the Governor's 3rd biennial conference on aging," Bernard E. Nash, special consultant on aging, Minnesota department of public welfare, said today. The conference will be held at the Pick-Nicollet hotel, Minneapolis, on August 25 and 26.

"Several of the nation's leading authorities on problems peculiar to the aging will lead workshops at our August conference," Nash continued.

Dr. Wilfried D. David, chief, chronic disease program, division of special health services, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., will speak on "The Challenge of Home Care" in a first-day workshop on health. Dr. Edward L. Bortz, medical director, Lankenau State Hospital, Philadelphia, who is also president of the American Geriatric Society, will address the conference banquet audience on "Medical Aspects of Aging."

"On the critical topic of employment for the aging, we have secured Joseph Borus, regional director, bureau of employment security, U. S. Department of Labor," Nash said. "It is already known that a third of our manpower is being wasted through the prevailing discrimination of hiring persons beyond 45 years of age. Our conference workshops on employment will disclose our plans to obviate this condition."

Besides employment and health, community action, housing and education of the aging are also on the conference agenda. All sessions during the two days of the conference will be open to the public.

Power Co. Official Speaks to Rotary

Group Hears District Manager Otter Tail Co.

"Electrical power output has doubled every seven to 10 years in the United States," Winston Naylor, manager of the Bemidji district of the Otter Tail Power Co. old members of the Rotary club at their regular Monday noon meeting Aug. 1.

The speaker told club members that because of the great increase and for reasons of economy, there has been a trend toward the establishment of fewer but larger steam generating plants and larger distribution systems. Coal as a fuel is the most economical, he said, and the use of atomic reactors is still expensive and in a process of continual change.

The lignite coal fields of North Dakota are now being surveyed to establish proven sources of fuel before a generating plant is established in the Garrison dam area, Naylor said. A question and answer period followed the power company official's talk.

If a politician ever took the stand and told people what he thought of them, he'd get few votes, but quite a lot of admiration.

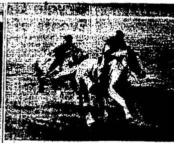
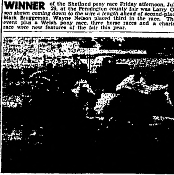
MINNESOTA'S gain is North Dakota U's loss as Dale Wennberg this week decided to enroll at Minnesota University. Dale, a star performer on Prowler hockey, football, and track squads, was an all-state hockey tournament selection in 1959, and is regarded highly as a college hockey prospect. At Minnesota he will be joining such Region Eight hockey luminaries as Jim and Larry Stordahl and Dale Olson of Roseau. Wennberg had given serious consideration to enrolling at North Dakota U, but the fact that his study program, and he intends to become a physical therapist, was more favorable at Minnesota was a factor in his decision.



WINNER of the Shetland pony race Friday afternoon, July 29, at the Pennington county fair was Larry Olson shown coming down to the wire a length ahead of second-place Mark Bruggeman. Wayne Nelson placed third in the race. This event plus a Welsh pony race, three horse races and a chariot race were new features of the fair this year.



CONTROVERSIAL This is the finish of the third race at the Pennington county fair Friday afternoon, July 29. Although there was no doubt that the horse Peggy Fridden by Jenkins was the winner, there was quite a bit of controversy about the next two places. The judges announced the second-place winner was Sletlocke, at left, ridden by Monroe and the third place was given to King ridden by Pulkrabek. Not everyone agreed with that decision. What do you think?

Crookston Takes TRF, Wins Midget Tourney

The Crookston midgets baseball team, defeating coach Gene Sack's Thief River Falls midgets, 7 to 3, on Crookston's Highland Park diamond on Wednesday evening won the Western Border League midget baseball tournament sponsored by the Crookston Lions and Eagles.

The Crookston club scored six runs in the first inning of the finals game on Wednesday, taking advantage of four bases on balls and poling out three hits. Pete Mickelson, in holding the local club to three runs, limited coach Sack's club to five hits, with Mike Aune getting three hits and John Aune getting two hits.

In first round play in the tournament opener on Monday, the locals defeated Fosston, 1 to 0. Dick Johnson scored the lone run of the game when he singled in the second inning, moved around to second on a passed ball, advanced to third on a wild pitch and then scored on an infield out.

In a well-played semi-finals game, the locals, with a three-run rally in the last half of the seventh inning, edged out the Fertile midgets, 13 to 2, in a game played late Monday afternoon. In the game-winning 7th inning, with one man out, Earl Johnson walked, Jim Ranum singled, and Rick Jensen also belted out a hit, scoring two runs. Mike Aune walked; Jim Ellingson struck out, and then John Aune singled to drive in Jensen with the winning tally.

NEWEST addition to the facilities at the Thief River Falls Golf club is the bridge, at the left of this picture, which was completed this year. Heavy construction material donated by the Soo Line railroad and a lot of ingenuity made the bridge possible. Most of the labor was done by Warren Peterson, division engineer; Ted Stokke, his assistant; Doug Kemmer, trainmaster and club president Arne Lee—all Soo employees. The men worked on the bridge last winter at temperatures down to 20 degrees below zero. Wide enough to allow the car at left to drive over it, the bridge has been used by a 12-ton crawler tractor. Normally, it will be used for tractors and mowers for maintaining the course and will allow golfers to begin their round at the seventh tee if the first holes are crowded.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Siebert's Project

After watching Fergus Falls' Barry Johnson in his 9 to 0 conquest of the Thief River Falls Juniors in the finals of the Ninth district American Legion tournament at Erskine on Sunday night, we can readily understand why Minnesota's Dick Siebert is concerned about the health and welfare of the husky righthander.

Johnson, a six-foot two-inch righthander, who will be a junior in high school this fall, and who, at sixteen years of age, has another year of Legion baseball eligibility, is a remarkable prospect.

In his winning effort against coach Ralph Skay's club, Johnson gave up but four hits, walked but four batters, and collected sixteen strikeouts in the seven-inning game. Gary Klungness beat out a bunt in the first inning; Jim Weckworth sent a ground single between shortstop and third base in the second inning; Mike McEnelly, sent a ground single past shortstop in the fourth inning, and Gary Anderson hit a ground single just inside third base, also in the fourth inning. That was the limit of the locals' attack on Johnson's delivery.

For a youngster with two years of high school athletics still to be played, Johnson exhibited exceptional poise. He is unquestionably a number-one college prospect, and given normal development and absence from injuries he should be one of the state's finest pitchers when he graduates from high school in 1962. In addition to his baseball activities, Johnson is a quarterback for coach Rocky Elton's Fergus Falls Otters. And that poses a hazard, as he may suffer an injury. We hope he remains hale and hearty, for we are anxious to watch his progress and development. He could be a great one.

Complaint

We have received a compliant regarding our editorial comment, which was in no sense disparaging, on Russ Embury's upright and manly golf swing.

This complainant explained that if we desired to make an editorial comment on a golf golf swing, or a lack of a golf swing, we should select Don (Commissioner) Olson's as the subject. Added the complainant, "If you can adequately describe the mechanics of Don's golf swing in less than three paragraphs, I'll buy you a steak dinner."

Well, we have watched Don in his "money" games with Doc, Tyge, Jack, Rudy, and Lloyd, and it's true that his swing is quite a project. At first glance you will note a similarity to a baseball pitcher taking a full windup and a berry-picker fighting off a swarm of wasps. But it's more complicated than that. We won't try for the steak dinner.

Call for Len Brekke

The Bridgeman's softball team, losing to the Hamm's Beer squad and snap-balling George Janssen on Tuesday evenig, by a 6 to 2 score, dropped two games behind the league-leading Hartz Stores club.

There is a possibility that the veteran Birdgeman's team could finish in a tie for fourth place, sharing that berth with the Len's Tire Service team. The Bridgeman's will meet the Len's on Tuesday evening, August 9, and that will be the game of decision.

Now that the San Francisco Giants have recalled Willie McCovey to action, perhaps the Bridgeman's manager and front office director will take similar action and recall Len Brekke. We're sure that Len will report for duty with the Bridgeman's. The sauger and small-pike fishing has slackened off considerably, and Len, who is an authority on such fish, can now find time to get into a black-and-orange softball suit and play a couple of games with the Bridgeman's.

The Bridgeman's got a "lift" this week when they blossomed out with new caps; but it will take more than new top-pieces to get manager Lowell Collins's squad into contention. We want Len Brekke!

Share the Highway, Is August Safety Theme for State Motorists

"Motorists must 'Share The Road' with all other motirists and pedestrians if we are to reduce the rapidly mounting toll of death on our highways," Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director warned today.

"Share the Road" is the traffic safety emphasis for Minnesota during the month of August as part of the year long program Blueprint for Safety."

Four out of ten fatal traffic accidents are collisions involving two or more vehicles, and eight out of ten of all 1959 traffic accidents were collisions of this type, Sieben pointed out.

"Each of these appears to be the result of a motorist failing to acknowledge the rights of others," the safety director said, "failing to 'share the road' with others who have just as much right to be there as the careless driver."

In most collisions involving two or more cars, there is almost always evidence that someone has disregarded the safety of others and has not wanted to share the road, he emphasized.

Violations where this failure occurs include driving on the wrong side of the road, disregarding traffic controls, failure to yield the right of way, and disregarding no passing zones.

Sieben emphasized that Minnesota traffic laws are rules for sharing the road, something that normally should be extended voluntarily by everyone.

"Share the road means that the motorists must keep the pedestrians safe as well," he said. "There are certain areas which are reserved for primary use by pedestrians. These crossways or pathways are designed for the maximum safety of our pedestrians, many of whom are very young or very old. When the motorist fails to share that area with the pedestrian another fatality is added to our growing list."

As this is a heavy tourist season, Sieben added, it would be well for all Minnesotans to share highways with our many visitors so that they can relax and enjoy their trips to Marvelous Minnesota safely.

Fire Threat Acute in State Forests

Campers Warned Against Starting Fires in Area

After receiving reports of recent rains from northern Minnesota points, E. L. Lawson, state director of forestry reported that a forest fire threat still persists in large areas of Minnesota.

Although good rains were reported from some Canadian border sections and from other northern points in the state, vast areas of Minnesota either received no rain or too little to ease the situation for more than few days, Lawson said.

This dangerously dry condition comes at a time when large numbers of people will be in the woods picking blueberries, camping and hiking—thus increasing the danger of fires considerably, he said.

Lawson urged everyone to be extremely careful with matches, cigarettes and fires of any kind.

It takes many years to grow trees which can be destroyed by a single moment of carelessness, he said.

Optometrists to Meet in D. Lakes

Educational Meeting Is Scheduled for Saturday

One of the most important area optometric educational meetings in several years will be held this weekend in Detroit Lakes, according to Dr. Joe Neitzke, Detroit Lakes, general chairman. The session, to be held Saturday, August 5, will feature the important subject of contact lenses, and will bring together the Red River Valley as well as the Upper Mississippi Optometric groups.

Optometrists from the Thief River Falls area, including several prominent in the state association, are expected to attend the meeting, which has been set up as an educational seminar.

Key speaker on the program will be Dr. John R. Kennedy, St. Paul, former national chairman of the American Optometric association committee on contact lenses.

Grouse Season Opens on Saturday, Sept. 24

The 1960 hunting seasons on sharptailed and ruffed grouse were announced today in St. Paul by James W. Kimball, director of Minnesota's game and fish division.

This fall's seasons call for a September 24 joint opening on both species of game birds in response to an overwhelming sentiment among the state's sportsmen's clubs and conservation groups. Department field men also indicated their desire to have a common opening for these popular upland species.

The sharptailed grouse season is scheduled to run through October 23, with a daily bag and possession limit of 3 and 6, respectively. Ruffed grouse may be taken through November 6, with a daily bag and possession limit of 4 and 8.

While ruffed grouse may be hunted statewide, sharptails can only be taken in an area of the state generally north and east of a line running from the extreme northwest corner, south and east through Crookston, Bagley, Park Rapids, Pine River, Brainerd, Foley, Cambridge and terminating at Taylor Falls on the St. Croix River.

In announcing the decision to open the seasons on both species simultaneously, Kimball indicated that "observations by our game wardens and managers have shown that opening sharptails in advance of the ruffed grouse season has in many instances not proved popular with upland game hunters, and has created some additional enforcement problems. In some locations both sharptail and ruffed grouse are found in the same cover and this has resulted in some illegal or inadvertent killing of ruffed groused."

"We sent questionnaires to sportsmen's clubs and conservation groups earlier this year seeking their suggestions in this matter," continued Kimball. Upon tabulating the replies and examining their recommendations we found an overwhelming sentiment for a joint opening. Our field personnel also favor a simultaneous opener from the standpoint of law enforcement and management. We very definitely wished to establish fixed opening dates that are mutually satisfactory for enforcement, management and sportsmen's satisfaction."

Both species can be hunted from sunrise to sunset during the established seasons.

In commenting on the forthcoming seasons, Kimball would make only one prediction and that was, "ruffed grouse hunting is bound to be poor during the opening week or so. However, it is a good period for hunters and their dogs to get out and enjoy those crisp, early fall days. For good grouse hunting trips, hunters should plan on going later in the season."

A slight increase in sharptails has been noted by deparment field men, although some local decreases were noted in different locations. As in the past, careful attention was given the remaining prairie chicken habitat which was excluded from the area to be open to sharptail hunting.

Field reports show slight to moderate increases in ruffed grouse statewide. Local populations continue to be "spotty" with both increases and decreases noted.

State Park Camp Sites Fully Used

3,278 Campers Utilized Facilities over July 4

Figures released today in a report by the Minnesota conservation department show that the July 4th week-end was an exceptionally busy one for state park personnel.

The figures show that whereas the 18 parks having camping facilities are designed to provide for 1,140 camp sites, there were actually 3,278 camping parties accommodated.

In addition, there were 1,183 camping groups turned away in order to prevent further overcrowding which park personnel feared would overtax sanitary facilities and interfere with the recreation rights of non-camping visitors.

In an attempt to accommodate the unusual number of campers, park personnel permitted the erection of camp sites in picnic grounds, parking lots, and even a baseball field.

In one case, a kindly park manager even permitted campers to pitch their tents in his own yard.

Many campers who arrived at a state park to find it already filled to capacity followed the advice of park personnel and went on to privately owned camp grounds and resorts.

Director of State Parks U. W. Hella emphasized in the report that the 4th of July together with Memorial Day and Labor Day are the three peak times in the parks and that is "economically unsound" to design facilities to meet conditions prevailing for only 12 days of the entire year.

Equipment Added to Control Water in Roseau Refuge

Installation of the final water control structure on the Roseau river game refuge was announced recently by Jack Jensen, refuge manager.

The new structure will permit control of water levels in the refuge's three pools comprising 11,000 acres. This makes possible the production of desirable duck food plants, elimination of aquatic weed growth and prevention of flooding out of duck nests.

Recent reports of the game and fish division show duck breeding populations on this northern refuge to be as good or better than average.

"In this great nation of ours, we glory in the traditions of liberty which have given us a free press. However, the needs and security of democracy are not sufficiently met if the press merely is free. To justify the trust vested in it by the Constitution, the press must also be responsible—responsible for as balanced, fair and accurate a picture of the world we live in as it is humanly possible to present. This is the only kind of press that can invigorate and strengthen public opinion and insure the perpetuation and growth of our free society."

Right and Reasonable

The Minneapolis Tribune was pleased with what the Democratic national convention promised the large cities of the country. We gather that the "long neglected" cities are finally going to get fair consideration if we elect a Democratic administration. The Tribune looks happily forward to better days, stating:

> "It was appropriate for the Democratic national convention to recommend greatly expanded federal aid to the nation's cities while meeting in the American city most seriously afflicted with 'urban sprawl.'
>
> "Yet it also was excellent politics for the Democratic platform to recognize the increasing seriousness of the cities' problems in trying to clear their slums, dispose of their sewage, educate their children, transport suburban commuters to and from their jobs and combat juvenile delinquency.
>
> "For the preliminary returns of the 1960 census show that metropolitan areas are continuing to gain in population even though the central cities in many of those areas declined in population from 1950 to 1960.
>
> "The Democrats appealed to the residents of both the central cities and their surrounding metropolitan areas by promising to bring together within a single cabinet department programs concerned with urban and metropolitan problems.
>
> "A good case can be made for the argument that if metropolitan areas continue to increase in size and prestige as they have in the last decade, they will acquire more of the importance that once was reserved for state governments.
>
> "The states, often dominated by rural legislatures, have failed to help the cities meet their most pressing problems in recent years. And the cities, lacking adequate representation in many state legislatures, have been unable to get the authority from the states to help themselves."

We can understand the attitude of individuals and groups who believe the state and federal governments are organized primarily to lighten the burden of their obligations. What individuals and groups are not willing or able to do for themselves the state and federal governments should do for them. These are the pressure groups that are forcing upon us a new kind of government that weakens us as individuals and gives us what is thought to be security in exchange for our liberties.

We do not understand why the Tribune insists on associating itself with these groups, but somehow it has developed a persecution complex and is sure that Minneapolis has been treated very unfairly by the state of Minnesota.

It would be helpful, and interesting, if the Tribune would be specific in its complaints, and give us a bill of particulars explaining in just what way the state has been unfair.

Minnesota is one of the states that "has been dominated" by a rural legislature, and that is correct. But in what way, may we ask, has the legislature denied Minneapolis any reasonable request for authority to help itself. What kind of authority does the city of Minneapolis want to enable it to pay its cost of government?

Does Minneapolis want the right to levy payroll taxes and sales taxes as a means of taxing citizens of Minnesota who are not residents of Minneapolis to pay the cost of government in Minneapolis? If that is what is wanted then let us know in order that such proposals may be considered on their merits.

It is true that rural Minnesota has controlled the legislature, and let us keep in mind that this is the one branch of our government over which rural Minnesota does have control. It is also true that rural Minnesota has refused to reapportion the legislature under the provisions of the Constitution in its present form because reapportionment of that kind would give control of the legislature to the metropolitan area.

But rural Minnesota, in session after session, has offered to adopt a system of reapportionment that would be fair to both the outstate and the metropolitan areas, by providing for representation on both the area and population basis, just as the founding fathers provided for representation in the national Congress.

In the coming election the voters of the state will have an opportunity to vote on a proposed amendment to the state constitution that would provide for recognition of the area as well as the population factor in the election of the members of our legislature. Opponents of the proposed amendment give lip service to their recognition of the justification of the area factor, but they find technicalities in the phrasing of the proposed amendment that makes it impossible for them to support the measure. And we know that that's a lot of baloney.

But the proposed amendment to be voted on is not a country versus city fight. This proposal had the support of intelligent representatives of the metropolitan area, and it has the support of all informed residents of the metropolitan area who are interested in the long range best interests of the state of Minnesota. As one of the informed residents of Minneapolis expressed it, "Would any intelligent citizen of New York City be in favor of giving New York City the control of the New York legislature?"

We in the outstate area do not ask for continued control of the legislature. But neither do we want to yield control of the state to the metropolitan area. We are willing to share that control with our city cousins. We believe our position is both right and reasonable.

Submarine Missiles

Three successful launchings of missiles from a submerged vessel, and all three traveling to a target more than a thousand miles away, prove that submarines are now effective weapons for both sea and land offensives. Considering the remarkable records that have been established by our atomic powered subs, they must now rate as one of our most effective general purpose weapons.

Our ability to retaliate promptly probably is our most effective deterrent to war. The Communists know that they have the power to destroy us. But they also are aware of the fact that they could not destroy us without bringing destruction upon themselves. When dealing with a madman that isn't too comforting a thought, but it at least justifies the continued effort to remain strong.

The important factor in our favor is time. There is always the hope that reasonable people will eventually prevail and that the folly of war and self-destruction will become so obvious that other ways to settle our differences will be found. The United Nations has made some progress in bringing unreasonable people together to fairly reasonable solutions.

There Will Be Vetoes

Congress will be back in session again next week with much unfinished business to dispose of. The prospect for constructive action however is not bright.

It is likely that the remainder of the session will be largely a continuation of the conventions at Los Angeles and Chicago. There will be more speeches than usual but fewer of the members present to listen to them. Those members who are also candidates for reelection, which includes all of the House members, will be more interested in what their opponents are doing to them back home than in what they should be doing in Washington.

Under the circumstances it is not to be expected that the session will last long. Measures that deserve thorough study and some hearings will be wrapped up into bills in a hurry and rushed through with little debate. Fortunately President Eisenhower is not a politician and he can act on these bills as a statesman. There will be vetoes, fortunately.

If we could forget the seriousness of what the politicians in Congress will be doing during these remaining weeks of the session we could settle back comfortably and enjoy the absurdities.

In three provincial elections held recently the conservative Japanese government has scored big victories, which encourages the hope that the demonstrations that kept Ike from visiting the Islands were not representative of public sentiment. In each of these elections the losing candidate had campaigned against Japan's new security alliance with the United States.

South Koreans went to the polls Friday to elect a government to succeed the deposed President Rhee. The Korean economy is anything but healthy. All of the candidates for office, however, are promising everything for everybody, and presumably Uncle Sam will be expected to provide generously for the support of their welfare state. The Koreans must have been reading the speeches of some of our promising politicians.

We're Still Confused

Now that the conventions are out and over we find that good people are still confused, and we can understand the confusion. Platforms have been adopted. Candidates have been named. But there is no agreement in either party as to what their platforms mean or what their candidates actually stand for or against.

As James Reston of the New York Times points out,

> "Everybody is a little edgy because both parties are gambling on new men and new arguments. Both have nominated a couple of cool customers, but a sizeable minority in both parties is unhappy."

Reston finds the results a bit "ironical". He is confused because:

> "The party of the farmer is running against Khrushchev, and the party of the workers is running against Benson. The party of the rich is running a poor boy, and the party of the poor is running a millionaire.
>
> "Having decided that foreign policy is the major issue of the campaign, the Democrats have rejected Stevenson, who knows more about foreign policy than any of the four nominees. Having decided that the minority Republican party needs a magnetic personality who can wow the Democrats and the independents, the GOP has rejected Rockefeller and nominated Nixon."

And there is more wisdom than wisecracking in this concluding paragraph:

> "If a campaign were an exercise in logic, and if the press did not choose up sides before November, much of the nonsense talked here and in Los Angeles would be laughed out of court. But in politics it it not always what is true that prevails but what people think is true."

Only 1.10 Inches Rain Fell Here During July

July, 1960, is now a part of history and compared to the same month in previous years it has been quite normal in everything but rainfall.

To area residents who have seen their lawns turn brown despite repeated sprinkling, the total of 1.10 inches of precipitation during the last 31 days is no surprise. The heaviest rainfall was the second day of the month and amounted to only a half-inch. This, together with 0.49 inch the preceding day, was supplemented with lighter rains on four other days to make up the month's total.

During July, 1958, a total of 6.14 inches fell and and 4.5 inches were recorded during July last year.

A comparison of temperatures shows that the month was about average with an average high of 81.29 degrees and an average low of 57.09 degrees. This compares favorably with 1959's average high of 79.7 and average low of 56.7.

The warmest days of the month were the 20 and 30th when 90's were recorded and the month's low was set during the early morning hours of the 29th when the mercury dropped to 38.

The Pennington county fair had near-ideal weather with clear skies and warm breezes every day except the 29th when cloudy skies dropped 0.20 inch of rain on the area, just enough to settle the dust.

Only one hailstorm was reported during the month. At about 11:45 p.m. Monday, July 15, the old Germantown area was hit by a storm which damaged small grain on some farms over 50 per cent.

Here is a summary of the month's temperatures and rainfall:

State Near Top in Health Insurance

75 Per Cent of Citizens Protected, Report Says

Fourteen states now have more than 75 per cent of their population covered by health insurance, the Health Insurance Institute reported today.

New York State, with a coverage figure of 90.7 per cent based on more than 15 million insured residents, leads all 50 states. The Institute said other states in the 75 per cent or higher group are Connecticut (88.0), Pennsylvania (87.0), Rhode Island (86.3), Ohio (85.8), Vermont (85.0), Illinois (81.3), Missouri (79.9), Michigan (19.3), Massachusetts (79.0), Minnesota (78.3); Indiana (77.7), Delaware (77.1), and Colorado (76.3).

There are 29 states which have between 50 and 75 per cent of their populations, covered by health insurance, and seven states which have less than 50 per cent of their residents so insured, said the Institute.

At the close of last year, 127,896,000 persons (4.8 million more than at the end of 1958) had health insurance for a national health insurance coverage figure of 72 per cent, said the Institute.

Peaches, Turkeys Now Are Plentiful

Record Crop of Peaches In California This Year

Appetizing foods for hot weather meals will be plentiful in August.

Since the best bargains in food are usually among the ones in abundant supply, consumers will be wise to check the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for August, says Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota.

Peaches top the list of plentifuls for the month. This year's crop of peaches is nearly 8 million bushels or 20 per cent above average. Most of the increase over last year is in California, where the Freestone crop is the second largest on record.

Turkeys are also high on the list of abundant foods. More turkeys will be available in August than a year ago. Heavy birds predominate this year.

Broiler-fryer chickens will be arriving on markets in greater quantity than last year at this time. These tender young chickens are especially well suited to outdoor barbecuing, Mrs. Loomis points out.

Watermelon of high quality will continue to come to markets because the crop in important growing areas has been delayed by weather conditions. As a dessert, watermelon is tailor made for weight watchers, since half a slice, ¾ by 10 inches, has only 45 calories.

visions

When you are eight years old, it is not difficult to transform yourself suddenly into an Indian scout and to see a procession of chiefs, with their brightly colored feathered headdresses, galloping across the horizon astride magnificent stallions.

Children are fired with imagination, just as they are filled with faith. The faith of a child is something so simple and so beautiful that many an adult, viewing it, finds himself crying a little, deep down inside, for his own lost childhood and the touching innocence that was once his.

Yet before God, all men are children, His children, and Faith is there to be accepted, if men will but take it as a gift. The Church has the answer, showing you how to live like a man, while still possessing the heart of a child . . . helping you to get the very most out of life. If you haven't been to church lately . . . why not go this Sunday?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Drizzle Mars Jaycee Parade Here Saturday

Throngs of Citizens Viewed Spectacle In Spite of Weather

A drizzling rain that continued most of Saturday evening did not prevent the local Jaycees from staging their Aquacade parade as scheduled, altho it took away some of the effectiveness of the spectacle.

The reigning queens and candidates for the title of Miss Thief River Falls of 1960, who were to have been transported on boats mounted on trailers, rode instead in enclosed cars, which prevented the throngs of spectators from getting a good view of them.

Heading the procession were the Legion color guard, the Bridgeman's Half-pints and Rosalie Fonnest, the 1959 Aquacade queen. Other royalty appearing included Jean Elverum of Faribault, Miss Minnesota of 1960, whose local appearance was sponsored by Kiewel Products Co.; Jeanette DeVries of Ada, Northwest Dairy Princess; and Miss Bzoskie, Miss Bemidjiland.

In addition to the numerous power boats, the parade also included a locomotive and freight car with German band sponsored by the Thief River Falls volture of the 40 et 8; several cars filled with Lions club members, calling attention to the group's public service activities; antique automobiles; and floats sponsored by 4-H clubs, including Steiner, Silverton, Black River and Deer Park.

Partly cloudy today and tonight have been forecast by the KTRF weather reporter with widely scattered showers this afternoon. Cooler temperatures are also expected. Tomorrow, fair with little temperature change is in the picture.

Northwest to westerly winds of from 10 to 20 miles an hour today are expected to diminish later in the day. The humidity should be low.

The high temperature over the weekend was Friday's 86 and the low was 56 during the early morning hours of Friday and Monday.

Moisture Lack Cited on Soo Line Division

Alexandria to Thief River Falls

Moisture conditions in the southern part of this subdivision are very poor. However, beginning with Mahnomen conditions are good. Harvesting of oats has started, indicating yields of about 40 to 48 bu. per acre, weight 30 to 40 lbs. Threshing of barley has begun with yields running about 35 bu. an acre. Wheat and flax continue to look good, although moisture is needed south of Mahnomen. Corn and soybeans are deteriorating daily and corn yields especially will be reduced if rain is not received soon.

Newfolden to Orleans

Only a few showers were received on this subdivision this past week; and moisture supply is poor. With continued warm weather small grains were forced to mature too rapidly without filling properly. Harvesting of oats and barley started this week, with first yields showing oats running 35 to 50 bu. per acre, barley 42 bu. per acre with malting types up to 55 per cent plump. Prospects for wheat are still good. The potato crop is still progressing and has not sustained too severe damage from the dry period. However, if rain is not received soon, chances for even an average crop will be deminished.

Viking to Rolette, N.D.

Dry, hot weather prevailed this week which resulted in premature ripening of grain, reducing yields and quality. None to ¼" of rain was received; and in most areas topsoil is very dry and subsoil moisture poor. Harvesting of barley and oats will be general next week with early barley yield expected to be average. However, prospects for late seeded fields are poor due to insufficient moisture. Wheat crop still remains good and has not been heavily damaged by heat and drought. Sugar beets and potatoes are showing need of moisture although they are not suffering badly yet.

Overly to Norma, N.D.

Continued dry weather and high temperatures are pushing all small grain to rapid maturity. Weather conditions have not seriously harmed early barley and oats; but late fields are definitely hurt. No rain received this week. Swathing of rye and barley has started and early reports show good weight of rye yielding about 25 bu. per acre. Wheat still looks good but rain is badly needed. Expectations are that late seeded crops will mature about two weeks too soon with poor quality and yields.

Dahlen to Orrin, N. D.

Temperatures have continued to be hot, coupled with the severe lack of moisture the crops have suffered greatly and loss in yields is estimated as at least one-third of earlier expectations. Threshing of early barley has started with good yields but mostly poor quality. Durum and hard wheat are reported to be shrinking and thus their quality and yield will be reduced. Although rain would be too late now for most grain crops, it is still needed for pastures and late flax.

General

Hot, dry weather has prevailed for the third consecutive week resulting in premature ripening of grain, reducing yields and quality. Most wheat and other early seeded grain crops are still quite good though considerably reduced from the extremely bright prospects of three weeks ago. Outlook for late seeded grain is dim in most areas. Corn and soy beans are deteriorating daily. A good rain at this time would be of great benefit to flax, potatoes and sugar beets which have not been too extensively damaged by heat and drought.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Benton county has one more example of coordinated efforts to plant trees on public land best suited for that use. Some 40 acres have been planted to trees there in recent years by 4-H members, according to Burton Olson, Benton county agent. A number of Christmas trees have been sold from the thinnings in recent years.

Goodwin Buck, Lyon county farmer, is limbering up his fishing pole for some fishing at home. He recently walked by his 3-year-old farm pond with Cecil Benton, local U. S. soil conservationist, and pointed to schools of bluegills swimming near the surface. The fish, now about the size of a man's hand, are the result of stocking two years ago. They have done well; no fertilizer or other materials have been added to the lake. This pond is one part of a complete farm plan set up by Buck, a cooperator in the Lyon county soil and water conservation district.

Wheel-track planting with four-row equipment is no longer a problem for Andrew Quin, Litchfield. He stretched his front tractor axles to 120 inches, narrowed the rear wheels to 40. That leaves a track for each of the four planter shoes. Besides, he sprays pre-emergence weed chemical on the corn at planting time. His corn is yielding as well as ever—and he's been doing it this way four years, according to Howard Grant, Meeker county agent.

A conservation farmer turned booster and teacher in Carver county last summer. Early this May, Clarence Keiger set up a tour on his farm for 7th and 8th grade students from Victoria. After demonstrating and explaining conservation practices, he told about a natural soil profile. These two hours, he says, were among the most rewarding sessions he has ever been involved in. He advises other interested farmers to conduct such tours, too.

Minimum tillage on steep slopes? Russel Roth, Hokah, put the idea to work last summer and added a new wrinkle. He wanted to plant corn in wheel-tracks, on freshly-plowed but undisked soil, as many farmers have been doing. But, he felt, the 20 percent slope was too much for that to work. So he mounted a one-row planter on the back of his plow, and also attached a fertilizer applicator. With a hydraulic sidehill hitch, he kept the row spacing even. He didn't cultivate at all, but weeds were no problem and he harvested 100 bushels of corn per acre. According to Harlie Larson, Houston county extension soils agent, Roth dug the sod with a field cultivator before planting.

Orlin Mock is this year's winner of the award fram the Brown county soil conservation district. This year, he put in a large multiple-purpose erosion control structure and farm pond to go along with his contour strip cropping system and soil waterways. The new structure will hold run-off water, stop gully erosion, water the cattle, and be a source of family fishing and swimming fun, according to Lester Schmidt, SCS technician.

Summer following is out for crop fields in southern Minnesota, but it pays off for new windbreak and shelterbelt areas. So says John Ankeny, Watonwan county agent. He reports that George Jacobson and son Obert recently planted trees in a strip which was worked up continually the summer before, to kill weeds. These trees grew so fast they caught up with trees planted a year earlier on unfallowed ground nearby.

Although the earth's core is one of nature's most closely guarded secrets, scientists conclude that it consists of about 90% iron and 10% nickel.

Dividing Iris

August is the month to divide and transplant iris in the flower garden. This is also the time when the nurseries will be selling new varieties for planting this fall. There are several reasons for dividing iris. The first and principal reason would be to remove any insect or disease problem from the existing plants and to increase the number of plants; and secondly, to renovate old clumps which may have quit blooming.

Old clumps which have been growing in the same place for many years can be divided by lifting the old clump with a spading fork to avoid breaking the roots in the soil around the clump. The next step is to wash all of the soil from the clump.

Examine the old clumps for evidence of disease and insects. Often it is necessary to cut thru the rhizome with a sharp knife to ascertain if there is any crown borer in the rhizomes. Any infested rhizomes should be destroyed.

The portion of the plant farthest from the center of the clump should be used for transplanting. Cut the rhizome off about two to three inches behind the fan or where the green leaves are attached.

The German iris is usually planted in a trench three to four inches deep and six to eight inches wide. In the bottom of this trench make a slight ridge or mount. Set the iris rhizome on the mount and spread the roots on each side. Cover the roots with soil and firm the soil so that the plants will have good support. Cut the foliage back six to eight inches for the sake of appearance as well as to prevent the wind from loosening the plant in the soil.

When planting iris from the nursery, follow the same procedure. Very often the roots may be quite dry when the plants arrive. That's why it's a good idea to soak them in water for several hours before planting.

Selma Knutson Describes Trip

We started from Rochester on our trip east Thursday morning, July 7, by car. The members of the party were Miss Leona Swenson, Miss Norma Nelson, Mrs. Glenhild Syrtveit and Miss Selma Knutson, all teachers from Strandquist. The trip lasted two weeks. The following states were crossed; Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, South Dakota and the southern border of Ontario in Canada.

A place of interest nearest home was Chicago. Here we saw the Conrad Hilton hotel; St. Luke's hospital, where the first iron lung was developed; Washington park, where 16 ball games can be played at one time; Fountain of Time; University of Chicago; Rockefeller chapel; Museum of Science and Industry; Buckingham fountain; Grant park; Prudential building; Smallest park in the world, Lincoln park and the Nathan Hale statue. We walked through a captured U 505 submarine.

Another highlight was the tour of Washington, D. C. Here we saw the White House, Jefferson memorial, Lincoln memorial, Washington monument, Marine Corps War memorial, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Arlington Memorial amphitheatre and Smithsonian Institute.

Of special interest as we followed the New York Thruway along the Hudson river reserve fleet. We saw the Catskill mountains and drove across the Rip Van Winkle bridge.

Traveling east we drove through two long tunnels through the Allegheny mountains.

The tour of Niagara Falls was most interesting. Watching these falls one notices their marvelous power and beauty. We viewed the falls from our side and also on the Canadian side.

Our drive in southern Ontario was interesting. We saw many cherry and peach orchards and beautiful climbing roses on farms and many farm homes were built from reddish brown bricks.

On our return trip we went to Brookfield zoo near Chicago, one of the largest zoos in the world. Here we saw numerous species of animals, birds, reptiles, etc. There was also a Children's zoo.

Near Michigan City in Illinois, we saw the International Friendship gardens covering 100 acres. This was a beautiful place with gorgeous flowers and trees from European countries.

Mrs. Harold Nabben and her mother, Mrs. Emma Ramberg, returned home Tuesday of last week from a most delightful trip to Sweden. They left the last part of June by Jet Airliner, and landed at Stockholm. There they visited with Mrs. Ramberg's brother and other relatives. They journeyed to Hassela, where they attended a Labor Fest, from there to Hudikavall, Umea, the Kiruna Iron mines in Lapland and the North Pole Circle. They also went to Norvik, Norway to see the Midnight sun. They went to Riksgransen, a tourist skiing center. On their way home they visited at Ostersund and Goteborg in the southern part of Sweden. They visited at Copenhagen, Denmark, where they boarded an Airliner for their return trip to the United States—flying over Scotland, Greenland, Labrador and into New York. They flew at an altitude of 39,000 feet changing four different planes River Falls.

While there the ladies found it difficult to get their rest due to the long daylight hours. All in all they reported a wonderful trip and many new experiences.

Fosston Is Defeated by TRF Thieves 14-1

Unloading a barrage of extra-base hits in the late innings of the game, the Thieves trounced the Fosston club, 14 to 1, in a Northern Minny league game played on the Fair Grounds diamond Sunday night. By their win, the locals tied the Fosston club for third place in the league standings, with each team having eight wins and four losses. Cass Lake and Bagley were deadlocked for the league lead with nine wins and three losses apiece.

In the Northern Minny league playoff pairings for the tournament to be played at Bagley on Sunday, August 14, Bagley will play Fosston at 2:30 P.M.; and Thief River Falls will play Cass Lake at 8:30 P.M. The tournament is a double-elimination affair.

In Sunday night's game, Fosston, on a walk to lead-off batter Bob Rasmus, a stolen base by Rasmus, an infield out, and Stan Otness' foul fly to left filed, which was gathered in by Harlie Drees, with Rasmus scoring after the catch, took a 1 to 0 lead.

The Thieves evened the game in the third inning when Paul Klungness banged a ground single to center field, and, after stealing second base, moved to third on Gary Klungness' infield hit. Roy Pederson lofted a fly ball to center field, with Paul Klungness scoring after the catch.

The Thieves moved ahead by collecting a pair of runs in the sixth inning. Pederson gained a "life" on a throwing error by Fosston's Bill Malwitz, and came around to score on Bob Hallameck's booming double to the fence in right field. Hallemeck advanced to third base on a high throw by shortstop Bob Rasmus, who handled the relay from the outfield. Hallameck sprinted home on Arlan Hjelle's infield out.

Four hits, including a double by Paul Klungness, a wild pitch, an intentional walk to Hallameck, and an error, gave the Thieves four runs in the seventh inning. And in the eighth inning, four doubles, by Hjelle, Glenn Carlson, Gary Klungness, and Dennis Bakke, plus a pair of walks, a hit batsman, and two Fosston errors, added seven runs to the Thieves total.

Fosston garnered but one base hit off Hjelle's delivery, that being a looping single into right field by Dick Schuchardt in the seventh inning. Hjelle was given fine support by the Thieves' infield, and a pair of well-executed double plays, with Hallameck as the pivot-man, proved timely in snuffing out a pair of Fosston rallies.

Wilson Bros. vs. Starekow Clinic
Northern Chev. vs. Oen's Appliance
Ekeren Pharmacy vs. Coast-to-Coast

The Times' trapshooting squad, defeating the Ekeren Pharmacy, 113 to 95, on Thursday evening clinched a tie for the trap shoot league title as the second place Ben Franklins were held to 120 to 120 draw by the Wilson Bros. The Times picked up two points by their victory, while the Franklins, by their tie, added one point to their total and now trail the league leader by two points with one week of competition remaining.

The league schedule will conclude on Thursday, and the evening's shooting will be featured by the match between the Times and the Ben Franklin. A win for Gene Gaer's squad would result in a tie for the league championship, and necessitate a shoot-off.

The Wilson Bros. vs. Ben Franklin match on Thursday was a contest all the way, and it was Si Schantzen's 23-1, for a 24, on a late shift, that gave Wilson's their tie. Al Tonder, with a 22-5, and Marv Skadsen, with a 21-4, had "25's" for Wilson's. Dr. Jim Disse, with a 24-3, Bill Ranta, with a 20-5, and Bill Pederson, with a 22-4, had "25's" for the Ben Franklin squad.

The Times posted an ordinary 113 score, with Leif Erickson having a 24-1 for the lone "25", as they defeated the Ekeren Pharmacy, 113 to 95.

The Starekow Clinic defeated a four-man Oen's Appliance squad, 102 to 90. Dan Rawerts, with an 18-8, had a "25" for the winners; while the Oen's posted a pair of "25's" in Gordon Oen's 21-7 and Jerry Amundgaard's 24-1.

The Coast-to-Coast team rolled up a 111 to 69 win over a Northern Chevrolet that had only three shooters available for the match.

No. Central Pilots Praise Firm Head

Laud President Hal Carr for Cooperative Spirit

North Central Airlines President Hal N. Carr was honored this week by North Central's master executive council of the Air Line Pilots association (AFL-CIO) for his "keen interest in pilot opinion" and the "excellent company-pilot working relationship" maintained between the union and airline.

The council, which represents North Central's 290 pilots adopted the resolution commending Carr in regular session at Minneapolis. A framed copy of the resolution was presented to him by North Central Captain Delmar G. Hendrickson, Detroit, master executive council chairman.

This special recognition culminates more than 12 years of amicable union-management relations with all North Central employe groups. Hendrickson said it was especially significant at this time when 10 U.S. scheduled airlines are in various stages of negotiations with the pilots' union. A pilots' strike is still in progress against one local airline (Southern) and is authorized against another (Hawaiian). There has never been a strike against North Central.

Carr has maintained an open-door policy for all personnel since he assumed the presidency of North Central in 1954 at the age of 32. Employes are encouraged to bring suggestions and complaints to any member of top management.

Girl Scout Troop 94 Meets to Plan Camp Attendance

Members of Girl Scout Troop No. 94 who are attending the established camp this week met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Mel Simon, Saturday morning for a pancake picnic breakfast. Completion of work on badges was discussed; and final plans for the trip made. Attending were Linda Jensen, Pat Halldin, Mary Patton, Karen Maves, Ann Winters, Eileen Lund, Cathy Simon & guest Erlyce Guenin, Girl Scout from Baudette. Unable to attend was Susan Owen.

WINNER of the Aquacade horseshoe tournament in Tindolph park Sunday was Alvin Olson, right, who defeated Lloyd Nelson, left, in the final championship game 25-12. Olson advanced to the finals by winning over Bernard Meyers and Nelson defeated Bob Flynn in the semi-finals. Bob Benke won over Torjus Flom 25-16 in the consolation final.

PYRAMID skiers in the sixth annual Jaycee Aquacade water show Sunday were Judy Iverson and Faye Fuller on the shoulders of Steve Mittelstadt, Chad Jewett and Roger Ruller. With more acts in the show this year and with perfect weather, the show attracted a record crowd to Tindolph park and the surrounding area.

City Softball Champions

Dave Martin's Hartz Stores softball team, needing but one game to clinch the city softball league championship, made short work of rolling up a commanding lead over the Bums in a game played on the East Side diamond on Thursday. The Hartz, with Kermit Malberg leading the attack with a base-clearing home run, gained an eight-run lead in the first inning, and went on to amrk up a 19 to 8 win.

That the Hartz team should win the league championship isn't surprising for the team has played consistently well. Only one loss has been registered, and that was a 2 to 1 defeat by the Len's Tire Service team on June 28. In the second game between the two clubs, the Hartz team scored a 5 to 4 win.

What has been impressive about the play of the Hartz club is the tremendous desire of the squad. They come to the East Side diamond to play softball. And, too, the roster has been re-shuffled considerably since last season, and a number of young players has joined the squad. For instance, such boys as Gene and Dick Halvorson, Lyle Stokke, and Kerm Malberg have proven invaluable to the Hartz team this season.

While the Hartz team has clinched the championship, and as a result their game with the Hamm's Beer on Thursday evening will have the status of an exhibition tilt, don't think that the league champions won't be playing to win! The Hamm's are enjoying a four-game winning streak, and having capped that streak with a 6-2 win over Bridgeman's last week, are anxious to add the Hartz team to that streak. The Hamm's were champions last season, and they would derive considerable satisfaction out of marking up a win on Thursday. It should be a crowd-pleasing affair.

Golf

After a recess of one week, the city golf league will be in action on Wednesday, August 10, with the league championship race being a hotly-contested duel between the American Hardware Mutual Insurance team and the Tunberg Motors team. According to the latest compilation of the team totals, the Hardware Mutual holds a three-stroke lead, 1265 to 1268, over the Tunbergs.

In lieu of last week's schedule league matches, a handicap tournament was held. Jarvis (Jub) Prichard, shooting a gross 36 and carrying an 8-stroke handicap, won the low net honors with a 28. In recognition of this fine score, Jub will receive ten golf balls. Sharing runner-up honors were Wes Johnson, with a 40-30, Lowell Swenson, with a 43-30, and Wilcox, with a 38-30. Other golf ball winners were Red Kortuem, 42-31, Stan Larson, 36-32, and Milt Relerson, 40-32. Forty-seven golfers participated in the tournament.

The local club will be host to a shortstop golf tournament on Sunday, August 14.

And speaking of golf and golfers we must mention the scores that were posted on number five the other Sunday by the foursome of Lloyd Brunsberg, Ivan Bundy, Art Langseth, and Nick Carlson. Believe it or not, that foursome carded two eagles, a birdie, and a bogey. Lloyd chipped in from off the green, from the old number six tee box, for his eagle; Ivan, on in two, dropped a ten-foot putt for his eagle; Art, just off the green, barely missed chipping in for an eagle, and he had to settle for a birdie; and Nick, playing the river-bank course, staggered in with a six.

Larry (Shorty) Perkins, who qualified for the championship flight in the recent Birchmont tournament at Bemidji, will leave town today for Detroit Lakes and the qualifying rounds of the Pine-to-Palm tournament.

The Pressure is on the Franklins

The Times' trapshooting squad holds a two-point lead as the Thief River Trap Shoot league concludes its final round of the schedule this week. And in second place, and with a chance of picking up two points and tying for the lead, is Gene Gaer's Ben Franklin squad. And to point up the interest a bit further, the Ben Franklin's will meet the Times in a match.

It's a must for the Ben Franklins, while the Times can afford to lose the match, and the two points, and still gain a tie for the league title, forcing a shoot-off.

Gaer's boys have been walking around on tip-toe, and wearing dark glasses, and drinking iced tea, and nibbling on carrots, in an effort to be in quick-fingered and sharp-eyed form for Thursday's shoot. The Times' squad, as usual, has been putting in a full day's work.

Softball League Play in Final Week

Hartz Team Is Assured League Championship

The city softball league will be entering the final week of the 1960 schedule on Monday (the concluding game is slated for Monday, August 15). The Hartz Stores club, with a league mark of eight wins and one loss, and with but one game remaining on its schedule, that against the up-and-coming Hamm's Beer squad, has clinched the league championship.

In games played this past week, the Len's Tire team, in fourth place, scored an 8 to 7 win over the Bums; the Hartz team trounced the Bums, 19 to 8; and the Hamm's Beer, in a traditional game with the Bridgeman's, defeated manager Lowell Collins' team, 6 to 2. This week's slate will be enlightened by the Hartz Stores vs. Hamm's Beer game on Thursday evening. The Hamm's, with big George Janssen again available for hurling duties, are the defending league champions and they will be anxious to avenge the defeat by the Hartz, 11 to 9, in an early-season meeting.

Half of Students Have Enrolled in Bemidji College

More than one-half of the 1500 students expected to enroll at Bemidji State College this fall are already pre-registered and assigned to classes according to Edwin A. Aalberts, college registrar.

Three pre-registration days have been held for freshmen this summer and Wednesday a group of 100 students attended orientation lectures, took the American College Test, and chose their courses.

Aalberts said that it is advisable, but not necessary to pre-register and that any student planning on entering BSC this fall will be able to do so on September 6.

Eliminations Set in North Minny League

In schedule-ending games in the Northern Minny league played on Sunday, Winger, by a 21 to 1 score, defeated Erskine at Winger; and Thief River Falls defeated Fosston, 14 to 1, at Thief River Falls. The four teams that will enter the double-elimination tournament at Bagley on Sunday are Cass Lake, Bagley, Thief River Falls and Fosston. In first round play, Bagley will play Fosston at 2:30 p. m.; and Thief River Falls will play Cass Lake at 8:00 p. m.

In the Pen-Ro-Shall league playoffs, to determine first place, Greenbush, defeating Badger, 5 to 4, in a game played at Greenbush, won the league championship. Badger, in an earlier game played at Badger, defeated the Thief River Falls Bums, 9 to 5. In a game played at Goodridge, Grygla dropped a 6 to 2 decision to Goodridge. According to tentative plans, Goodridge will play the Plummer Red Sox under the lights on the Fair Grounds diamond here on Wednesday night, with the winner gaining a berth in the league playoffs. In league playoff pairings, the Bums will meet Badger at the Fair Grounds on Sunday afternoon, August 14; Greenbush will play the winner of Goodridge vs. Plummer tilt.

Find Kansan's Body in Lake of Woods

Jim Hume, 75, Had Been Missing Since July 29

The body of a retired Kansas businessman was recovered from Lake of the Woods on the Minnesota-Ontario border Thursday afternoon.

Jim Hume, 75, Great Bend, Kan., had been missing since the weekend. The boat he had been using was found Sunday, floating near Long Point about 15 miles northeast of here.

Don Hurd, who has nets out in the lake nearby, found the body floating toward the nets. He marked the body with a gallon jug and Warren Fox, Warroad pilot, recovered it later.

Hume's disappearance was noted by a party of friends who had come to his summer cottage on Flag Island to visit him. He was last seen in his boat Friday night, July 29, returning from Warroad to Flag Island, 30 miles away.

Finds Huge Deer Track at Brainerd

A Paul Bunyan size deer track—identified as such by a former conservationist — was found on the property of A. A. Roese, of Round Lake, near Brainerd recently. Roese was formerly a Thief River Falls resident.

The outlandish sized track measured 9¾ inches from the front to the dewclaws in back & three inches wide. Since no one saw the animal that made the track, and since the conservationist was positive in his identification, other observers felt it was useless to assume that a moose might be in the area.

It is hard to believe that America was founded to avoid taxation!

Many Retired People Called Well Adjusted

Meet the retired Minnesotan who's getting the most enjoyment out of his later years.

He's 71 or under, thinks of himself as middle-aged or elderly, rather than "old" and considers himself in good or excellent health.

This well adjusted senior citizen isn't necessarily rich or even well-to-do, but feels his income is enough to meet his needs. He's more apt to be fully employed than fully retired and likes it that way. He prefers the work or activity in which he is taking part now to switching to something else.

He did some advance thinking about retirement and now has health insurance for himself and family. He lives in his own home and takes part in community organizations, either as a leader or as a member.

This profile came out of a preliminary report of a study of 300 farmers. The survey was directed by Marvin Taves and Gary Hansen, rural sociologists at the University of Minnesota.

Whether a person is well adjusted in retirement doesn't depend on amount of income, total net worth, financial planning and investing for old age, how much land he owns or where he lives. Nor does it matter whether he's married, single or widowed. And retired women are likely to be just as happy as retired men.

Taves and Hansen also studied 1,020 persons 65 or older living in towns or cities. Six out of 10 thought that social security should include hospitalization coverage—even though it would mean higher social security tax.

Fewer than 30 percent of the urban retired citizens had any complaints about their living arrangements. Those who did were concerned about things like stairs or steps, lack of privacy, poor floor plans and poor condition of houses.

Two-thirds of the persons had annual housing costs under $1,000, and the rest paid up to $2,000.

Most senior citizens were keeping up contacts with other people. Seventy percent reported they had visitors at least once a week and only 4 percent said nobody ever stopped by to see them.

Only 17 percent said their income wasn't enough to live on. One-third said they had just enough to bet by on. Another third reported just enough to meet all needs comfortably.

About 60 percent said they had made no financial plans for after age 65. But of those who did make plans, more than half had been able to carry the plans out completely or almost comletely.

The sociologists noted a general lack of preparation for retirement. Nearly two-thirds had no medical or surgical insurance, 49 percent had no hospital insurance and 57 percent had no life insurance.

What community services or activities would the retired people like? Most common answer to this question was free or low-priced health clinics, given by slightly more than half of the retired persons. Nearly as many said "visiting." Other comments, each given by a third or slightly less persons, were card games, social or recreational clubs, homemakers' service and movies and adult education classes.

Nineteen percent were interested in outdoor sports, 16 percent would like indoor sports and 12 percent listed dances.

A more thorough summary of the study is now being completed by the sociologists.

The study of retired farmers was done by professional interviewers. The second was sponsored by the Minnesota Committee of the White House Conference on Aging and was carried out mostly with volunteer help, especially from the American association of University Women and several other groups.

Property Taxes Double in 10 Years

Huge Increase in State Cited by Taxpayers Assn.

"In just ten years—from 1949 to 1959—Minnesota's total property tax load has more than $236.4 million—from $201,300,000 doubled, increasing by nearly to $437,700,000 — or 117.41 per cent," Charles P. Stone, general counsel of the Minnesota Taxpayers association, said today.

According to the state auditor's annual abstract of real and personal property taxes for 1959 (payable in 1960), $80.2 million —or 39.90 per cent—of this total increase occurred during the first five years of the period, from 1949 to 1954. The remaining balance of over $156 million—or 77.51 per cent—occurred in the second five-year period, since 1954.

"In contrast," Stone said, "total taxable values (on which taxes are computed) increased considerably more in the first five years under consideration than during the second half of the ten-year period — 21.34 per cent from 1949 to 1954, and only 15.88 per cent since 1954."

The total ten-year increase in taxable values amounted to $577 million—or only 37.22 per cent as compared to the 117.1 per cent increase in taxes levied.

"This clearly reveals that Minnesota's property tax base—one measure of our state's economic growth—has certainly not kept pace with our rapidly increasing real and personal property taxes," Stone concluded.

Farm Bureau Plans Policy Meetings

One Session Scheduled at T. R. Falls August 22

In line with the policy of letting farmers decide for themselves what they want or need in the way of legislation, Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation is again holding a series of statewide policy development information meetings.

Meetings for the various county resolutions committees (already selected) but open to all Bureau members are set for: Hutchinson (Aug. 15), Preston (Aug. 16), Pipestone and Faribault (Aug. 17), St. James (Aug. 18), Golden Valley (Aug. 19), Hinckley and Thief River Falls (Aug. 22), Detroit Lakes and Grand Rapids (Aug. 23), Morris and Long Prairie (Aug. 24) and Granite Falls (Aug. 25).

County, state and national issues affecting the farmer, his family and his community will be thoroughly discussed. Armed with additional information, through debate and discussion, the participants will then proceed to hold community conferences in the following weeks.

From the various units will come recommendations to be voted on at county annual meetings. A final list of recommendations, along with lists from scores of other counties, will be presented for consideration before a state Farm Bureau resolutions committee and finally voted upon by county Farm Bureau voting delegates at Minnesota Farm Bureau's annual meeting in November.

Opposes Change in Mailing Rules

Summerfield Favors Use of Air Transportation

"The best interest of the American public will be served by disapproving H.R. 12595," Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield declared this week.

This bill would prohibit the transportation of mail by air unless airmail postage is paid. It would require that over 1½ billion pieces of first-class mail now moving each year on an airlift plant (on a space available basis) that was established seven years ago to be transported only on the ground, thus causing delays in delivery as much as two days.

(The bill was passed by the House of Representatives on July 2. It is expected to be referred to the Senate postoffice and civil service committee when the Senate reconvenes on August 8.)

This legislation, Postmaster General Summerfield points out, "would be a disastrous step backward. It would reverse a policy of constantly improving first-class mail service. It would prevent progress in the normal evolution of the mail service and create an intolerable bottleneck in the inter-city transportation of first-class mail."

"Proponents of this legislation express concern over the revenues of the railroads. This fear is not justified," Summerfield stated. "Postoffice payments to mail-carrying railroads amount to $344,000,000 this year, a greater amount than ever before; it will be greater next year, despite the airlift of first-class mail."

"Gossip has a bad name because so much malice is associated with it. But gossip, in the true and undefiled sense, is nourishment from the good earth of the doings of people. Christian love and gossip stem from the same root: an interest in other people. When that interest is lacking, much of the saving salt of life is gone."

Major Leagues Expansion

Baseball is big business in our country, and those who are in control of this big business are trying to figure out how they can make it a bigger business. Major league teams have been relocated and the changes that have been made met with popular approval. It now appears that they will be expanded, and that too probably will be in the best interests of the game.

Here in Minnesota we are hopeful that one of the new teams in an expanded program will have its home in the Twin Cities. Neither Minneapolis nor St. Paul alone is large enough to support a major league club. If they will unite in the sponsorship it is thought that they will have a fair chance for favorable consideration.

There isn't much we in the outstate area can do to help bring major league baseball to our state, and there probably isn't much the people of the metropolitan area can do about it either. Baseball is big business, and in business the decisions are made by those who invest the dollars. The one thing that is essential to success under the circumstances is harmony and it is to be hoped that those who will make the decisions will recognize the importance of "give" as well as "take" in the efforts that must be made to reconcile differences.

Good Leadership

Dag Hammarskjold decided not to order United Nations troops in Katanga, the Congo province that seceded from the Congolese government, and has declared its independence. Hammarskjold acted on the advice of Ralph J. Bunche, UN undersecretary and top troubleshooter in the Congo native uprising. Their problems will be presented this week to the United Nations Security Council for further instructions.

This probably will prove to be a wise decision. It is not reasonable to assume that the vast area that was known as the Belgian Congo can be maintained as one self-governing nation. The traditional government in that area has never been centralized. The millions of natives were members of tribes that struggled with each other for survival. They have no common native language and have had less than a century of exposure to civilization. The leaders who speak for the central government that failed to maintain order have proven themselves to be completely incompetant, and to attempt to support the athority of that government would be unrealistic.

The United Nations troops now policing the Congo are mainly from African countries. They are there to restore order and if the government of the Province of Katanga is maintaining order then we can see no good reason why the United Nations troops should be imposed upon them.

Dag Hammarskjold is again proving himself to be a capable leader in whom are combined the virtues of courage, patience, understanding and honesty. Under his leadership the United Nations has survived several extremely difficult situations and apparently without loss of prestige.

Baudette Praised

The village of Baudette has been much in the news lately, and properly so. The dedication of its bridge received much favorable advance publicity. The thousands of visitors to the area who attended the dedication exercises, returned to their homes full of praise for the community that had, after many years of effort, succeeded in its ambitious building program. Visiting reporters and editors said many fine things about the community and its leaders.

Following is the informative comment of George Rossman, publisher of the Grand Rapids Herald-Review:

"Last Saturday a new international bridge was opened across the Rainy river between Baudette, on the American side, and the village of Rainy River on the Canadian side.

"The 1,500-foot structure replaces a ferry boat and is the culmination of a half-cetnury dream by residents of the border communities.

"Construction of the bridge shows what community spirit can do. The border communities were able, after long years, to persuade the American and Canadian governments to construct the bridge as a self-liquidating toll project. But the communities first had to show their interest in the $1,400,000 project by buying $140,000 worth of bridge bonds. This was no easy task, for Baudette has a population of only 1,600, and Rainy River 1,500.

"The new bridge will, of course, be important to the communities located on it. However, the facility will have wider importance. It will help to attract visitors to the border country.

"Perhaps few people in Grand Rapids realize that the main highways between the Twin Cities and Baudette run through Grand Rapids. Those who wish to go to Kenora and north will find one of the shortest and most attracive routes through this community and Baudette. What may be a trickle of traffic now, could be important travel as time goes on. And the highways that take Americans north may also bring Canadian travelers through this area.

"Leader of efforts to build the new bridge was T. H. Rowell, who started making vitamin pills out of burbot liver extract and has built at Baudette one of the leading pharmaceutical manufacturing industries in the state His vision and business ability have provided large employment in a community where the outlook was not bright. The success of Rowell laboratories is an inspiration to other communities seeking to build industries and employment.

"Dedication of the new bridge drew a large crowd, estimated to run up to 10,000 people on Saturday. The Shrine Motorcycle Patrol from Grand Rapids was one of the principal parade units. Incidentally, the local Shriners were the first vehicle riders to cross the bridge after it was opened to the public.

"It's inspiring to see community vision, determination and work produce tangible results."

And here are the interesting observations of Art Suel from the deep south, publisher of the New Progue Times:

Flags of the United States and Canada proudly carried, side by side.

Massed bands from Canada and the United States playing the national anthems of the two countries.

Jet military planes swooping down with deafening roar over the assemblage, not in threat but in salute.

Officials of the governments of the United States and Canada, of the State of Minnesota and the province of Ontario, and of the cities of Baudette, Minn., and Rany River, Ont., exchanging congratulatory greetings and messages of mutual good will.

No military fortificatios and no bristling guns nor armed guards at the border but a new International Bridge providing a convenient link of highway communication presaging even closer contact between good neighbors of the two countries with an unbroken record of nearly two centuries of mutual esteem, respect and peaceful association.

This in brief was the scene and the circumstances which marked the formal dedication last Saturday of the new International Bridge spanning the Rainy River between Baudette and Rainy River.

To the uneasy, unhappy peoples of the world, this was an exemplification of how nations of good will can live together in peace and in understanding.

The good people of Baudette and Rainy River really rolled out the red carpet for their visitors on this auspicious occasion, in fact the entire border region was most hospitable.

All of Northern Minnesota owes to the good people of Baudette a vote of thanks for their promotion of a much-needed bridge and by their effective introduction of that bridge to, the people of the large area that will benefit by their success.

New Alphabet

(Houston Post)

Thousands of words have been written trying to explain why Johnny can't read. Some observers of educational methods tie this in with Johnny's inability to spell.

While controversy over the best way to teach reading continues, along comes a member of the British Parliament, I. J. Pitman, who is grandson of the inventor of Pitman's shorthand, with a new alphabet which he maintains will make reading easier.

Pitman's alphabet throws out C, X, and Q, but it throws in 19 new letters, including three for the different sounds of O, as in "do," "how," and "women."

The inventor's new alphabet may make it easier to read, but he says, Johnny will be forced to spell incorrectly. As if he needed any encouragement in that direction!

Labor-Management Summit

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

After a 10-week recess, the "summit" conference of labor and management reconvenes today in New York City. The whole idea almost died before it got going. At the first meeting the labor delegates were angry because they found themselves facing men they considered "second string" management representatives. But the brief session resulted in some encouraging though quite general expressions of confidence, and now the conference reconves.

The idea for the summit talks was contained in a letter to President Eisenhower from AFL-CIO President George Meany, but it probably can be attributed to the greatly deplored long steel strike. Everyone agreed that this was too costly a way to settle indusrial disputes, and Mr. Meany and the president felt that the decisive issues should be discussed somewhere besids the bargaining table.

There are some areas of industrial relations which should lend themselves to this sort of consideration: for example, automation and what to do with men displaced by machines, wage and price stability, and much else. Perhaps if such problems are worked out in the calm atmosphere of this conference, they will prove less troublesome when they come up at the big bargaining tables.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

"I'm sorry, young man, but I can't give you a job. There just isn't enough work here to keep you busy."

"But you'd be astonished, sir, how little it would take."

Board Approves 3 Teacher Contracts; Four More Needed

Preliminary arrangements for the opening of the Thief River Falls public schools Tuesday, September 6, were announced by Supt. M. R. Hankerson following the August session of the board of education Monday evening.

The opening of the fall term will be preceded by a three-day pre-school workshop August 31, September 1 and 2, to be attended by all faculty members.

Contracts with three new teachers were approved by the board. They include Miss Kathryn DeMers of St. John, N. D., second grade; Mrs. Elayne Sandahl, half-time teacher in the Knox school; and Orall Johnson, Grand Forks, junior high school counselor.

To complete the faculty, four additional instructors are needed, two grade teachers, one in high school, and a draftsmanship instructor for a course to be added to the area vocational school, starting about October 1 in the space in the Falls Hotel building vacated by the former teacher training department.

The board renewed its lease of space in the Armory for two sixth grade classes from the Knox school area at a rental fee of $2,400 per year, the same as now in effect.

After considering six bids for gasoline for school buses, the board awarded the contract to the Cities Service Oil Co. on its low bid of 15.4 cents per gallon plus tax. Other bids ranged up to 22.9 cents.

A contract was approved whereby St. Mary's Hospital at Detroit Lakes will provide work training for some of the students enrolled in the practical nurse training course in the area vocational school.

Arnt Aune, vocational school director, reported that the power plant department of the aircraft school had been approved by the Civil Aeronautics administration following a recent inspection; and he added that the frame department will be inspected shortly.

George Erickson was reappointed superintendent of buildings and grounds, and was granted a pay increase of $25 per month.

In conformity with state regulations, the board adopted a resolution stating that married students may attend high school classes so long as their behavior is satisfactory, but that they will not be permitted to take part in extra-curricular activities, and that in case of pregnancy the student will be required to leave school.

Boy, Age 11, Dies in Wannaska Mishap

Son of Georgia Apiarist Killed in Fall from Truck

An 11 year-old Georgia boy died in the Roseau Community Hospital Sunday afternoon, about three hours after he had fallen from the back of a truck being driven by his father. He was Mitchell Anthony Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Bradley of Rincon, Georgia.

Bradley, a beeman who was checking on hives he had placed in Roseau county, and his two sons, Mitchell and Vernon 10, were driving on a gravel road about a mile northeast of Wannaska when the accident happened, according to Roseau county Sheriff Paul Knochenmus.

Mitchell and Vernon were riding in the back of the two-ton truck. The truck had a rack but no endgate.

Mitchell apparently lost his balance and fell from the truck, striking his head on the road. The sheriff reported he suffered a concussion and skull fracture.

He was rushed to the hospital by his father but never regained consciousness. He died about three hours after being admitted.

Helgeson Funeral Home shipped the body to the family home at Rincon, Georgia, where funeral services will be held.

Dean Stephenson left for his home in San Diego last Thursday after spending two weeks here and in Bemidji.

ICC Examiner Rules Illegal Soo Line Plan to Cut Freight Rates

An eximiner for the interstate commerce commission at Washington has ruled illegal a "guaranteed rate" method of transportation pricing placed into effect in April by the Soo Line railroad, Minneapolis.

The rate, the first of its kind in the nation involving interstate shipments, was considered by the railroad as a tool to meet competition from water carriers and truckers.

The principle of the guaranteed rate was this: shippers would get reduced rates by guaranteeing a certain volume of traffic in a specified period.

In the test case decided by the examiner, the Soo Line offered a rate of $10.05 per ton on pipe moving from Sault Ste. Marie, Canada, to Chicago if the shipper gave the road 90 per cent of the volume of such shipments to Chicago. The regular rate is $12.18 per ton.

Other railroads backed the Soo Line's position.

The examiner, whose decision now goes to the full 11-member commission for final action held that guaranteed rates violate antitrust laws and the interstate commerce act.

The examiner, however, praised the railroads for seeking new methods of pricing to strengthen their competitive position, noting that the rails' share of total traffic fell from 62 per cent in the late 1940s to less than 47 per cent in 1957.

It was indicated the railroads could carry their fight to congress, where lawmakers could approve the rates simply by exempting them from the antitrust and interstate commerce acts, the Wall Street Journal said.

A spokesman for the Soo Line said the company probably will file exceptions to the examiner's report when it goes to the full commission.

It has previously been predicted that regardless of how the commission finally rules, the final decision will be made in the courts.

Area Meeting to Be Staged Here to Fight Shoplifting

At a meeting of Thief River Falls merchants with county and city law enforcement officials held yesterday, it was decided to invite in similar groups from other communities in northwestern Minnesota to explore the possibilities of a united effort in the control of shop lifting and unlawful check writing.

Sheriff Charles Richards and Police Chief Elton Cummings will call the meeting, issuing the invitations through law enforcement officials of communities in this area.

In discussing the problem of combating this type of crime, County Attorney L. W. Rullen and City Attorney Robert Wurst explained the law and the procedure to be followed by merchants in dealing with suspects.

It was agreed that this is an area problem and that it is not unusual for habitual offenders to move from one comunity to another. Those present agreed that by an exchange of information these habitual offenders could be more effectively dealt with.

Special consideration will be given to the problem of juvenile shop lifters.

HARVESTING of small grain is well underway on area farms, including that of Maynard Mehrkens south of the city. Mehrkens is shown on the combine which is unloading barley into the truck operated by Bob Benke, right. Kenneth Mehrkens, center, operates the second combine. In all, Mehrkens has 850 acres of small grain and 40 acres of corn. He reports that some of the barley is going 60 bushels to the acre but most is running 54. This is in contrast to last year's yield of 45 bushels to the acre. Last Saturday's rain was "just enough to color the barley" and lower its value 5c a bushel.

Rotary Informed of Class Opening for Blind Children

Ray Henderson Tells Club about New Class to Be Organized in September

The new Thief River Falls class for blind children which will begin this fall was discussed at the Monday noon meeting of the Rotary club by Ray Henderson, director of elementary education.

Henderson told members of the club that the schools are providing the best education possible for all children and that adjustments have been necessary to suit the teaching to abilities of the pupils.

He listed associations which are aiding in special education courses and discussed some of the problems encountered in arranging for teachers and materials.

Blind children who enroll in Washington school this fall will have a special resource room and teacher, Martha Newsome, who has taken special training in their field. The emphasis will be on communications skills, Henderson said. He went on to discuss the type of materials which will be used and the problems of supplying the needs. Mobility skills will also be taught.

One of the things which can never be provided in any school such as the one at Faribault is the necessary home background, according to Henderson, and that will be available when the children are taught in a school near their homes.

Lloyd Bennes, who recently became a grandfather, was honored with a spicial gift and thoughtfully provided cigars for the Rotary members and their guests.

Gunstenson, county assessor, following the annual meeting Monday of the county board of equalization.

The board at its session made no changes in the figures turned in by the township, village and city assessors and checked in Gunstenson's office.

Full and true valuations of personal property dropped from $5,108,240 in 1959 to $4,942,844 for 1960. Of this latter figure, $2,550,192 is provided by the city of Thief River Falls, or slightly more than half the total.

Full and true valuations of real estate rose from $12,936,636 in 1958, the last assessment year, to $13,253,435 in 1960, of which $8,654,310 is supplied by Thief River Falls.

The assessors' reports revealed that the cattle population of Pennington county gained substantially from 14,092 in 1959 to 14,755 this year.

Gunstenson announced that as a result of a decision in a case in the tenth judicial district, the classification of boats for assessment purposes has been changed from Class IV to Class II, thereby reducing the assessment rate from 40 per cent of the full and true valuation to 25 per cent.

Improvement Set in Bringing Power from Garrison Dam

Contract Let for New Transmission Line from Jamestown to Grand Forks

A contract for the construction of an electric transmission line between Jamestown and Grand Forks was awarded this week by the Bureau of Reclamation, in Washington, at a cost of $1,352,207.

This line will be approximately 10 miles long and is designed for 115 kilovolts transmission. The contract calls for completion of the construction within 400 calendar days.

Andrew L. Freeman, manager of Manitoba, the power cooperative that wheels bureau power from the Garrison Dam to Thief River Falls, stated that this new line will greatly improve the service to Grand Forks. At the present time the Bureau of Reclamation has only one line to Grand Forks. Completion of the second line will improve the service, eliminating, or reducing the duration of, interruptions.

Minnkota plans to build a new line from Grand Forks to Thief River Falls, Mr. Freeman told a Times reporter, and with the completion of these and other circuits in the area, a highly dependable service should be available.

The action was taken following a conference with Lawrence Wagner, representative of the firm of Wells & Denbrook, Grand Forks architects, who called for further information on several details before final plans are completed.

It was announced that the present frame building used by the post will be razed before work on the new structure gets under way, and in the meantime temporary quarters are being sought.

How To Beat The Heat!

A cool, attractive, cereal and milk breakfast adds balm to the spirit and provides the body with quick and lasting energy for the hot day ahead. Skipping breakfast is not the answer of how "to beat the heat." Quick and lasting energy are very important aids when it comes to ways to "beat the heat." The quick energy gets you started in the morning, the lasting energy keeps you at top performance for the entire morning.

Summertime offers so many opportunities to prepare attractive, refreshing breakfasts that will tempt wilted appetites. To ensure an adequate breakfast, simply use a basic breakfast pattern for your guide. This pattern includes fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter.

Chilled melons are wonderful summer breakfast fruits because they add variety and make a good contribution of vitamin C. Breakfast cereals offer many choices of both the regular and presweetened types. The cereal and milk breakfast is the quickest, easiest, and most convenient to prepare. Other adequate breakfasts require longer preparation time, more work, more clean up, and cost more.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q — Is VA issuing any new insurance? I have a $5,000 policy I took out after service in Korea and am wondering if I can increase, it.

A — If you were in service on or after April 25, 1951, and the VA finds you have a service-connected disability, you may, within one year from the time VA rates your disability service-connected, apply for an increase in your insurance up to $10,000, or a new policy if you were never issued one. Otherwise, no new GI life insurance can be issued by VA.

Q — Please explain the provisions of the new pension law as they affect my eligibility to receive pension. I am the widow of a veteran of the Korean War.

A — Formerly, as the widow of a Korea veteran, you had to show that your husband had a service-connected disability at the time of death. You don't have to do that how. You need only show he had the required length of service, other than dishonorable, and that your income is within stated legal limts.

Q — When does the Korean GI training program come to an end?

A — January 31, 1965. Meanwhile, Korean veterans have three years from the date of their discharge to begin GI training, and eight years from time of discharge to complete training. But no training may be taken after the January, 1965, Cut-off date.

Q — When I took out my GI insurance I named as beneficiary a relative who has since died. I want to put down my wife's name now, since I recently married. What procedures do I have to follow?

A —Changing your beneficiary is extremely simple. Just go to any VA office, get a change-of-beneficiary form, fill it out and send it in. VA will do the rest for you.

Q — I am the widow of a World War II veteran, eligible under the new pension law to collect pension for myself and daughter. She is unmarried but over 18, although she is going to college. I understand this makes a difference in the age limit and that I can continue receiving pension on her behalf until she is 21, because of her school attendance. Is this so?

A — Yes, but the school must, of course, be one satisfactory to VA, for instance a college or high school where regular educational objectives are offered and regular peroids of attendance maintained. While the unmarried child is attending such an approved school, pension payments may be made for the child until age 21.

Q — I can't find my discharge paper and I want to apply for a VA benefit. How do I go about getting another discharge?

A —Write to the Department of Defens, Military Personnel Records Center, 9700 Page Blvd., St. Louis, Missouri. Tell them your branch of service and your service number. There is no charge for replacements.

Q — I have a service-connected disability. Can my family doctor treat my disability and send his bill to the VA?

A — If he has prior approval from VA, yes. Under law, that is necessary before he may treat your service-connected condition at Government expense.

Q — I am over 18 and eligible to go to school under the War Orphans Education Act. If I do go to school, I understand I cannot continue receiving the death compensation checks I now get from VA. Would these checks stop automatically as soon as I filed application for War Orphans schooling and before my first school check came?

A — No. Your election of benefits would not be considered final until after your first War Orphans school allowance had been paid to your school.

Speaking about trees, one more farmer in Kanabec county is turning light soil over to evergreens. Clifford Hallstrom, Brook Park, planted 10 acres this spring and will set out as many more next year, according to Roland Skelton, county agent. Number of trees planted by Kanabec farmers each year hits six figures.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Community action in South St. Louis county is solving problems caused by flooding following heavy rains. The efforts came about through the local agricultural advisory committee, according to Richard Herman, South St. Louis county agent. Working with county officials, farmers opened up large drainage ditches which removed excess water in an orderly manner. With the large ditches open, individual farmers then opened up field ditches and got rid of the wet, puddled areas. More steps in the long-range drainage project will be taken each year.

Contour farming literally helped one farmer shift into a higher gear. The farmer is Forest Daney in the Martin County soil conservation district. Says Daney, "When I cultivated up the steepest part of the hill (before contouring) I had to put the tractor in the lowest gear. Even then, I could cultivate very shallow only. After changing to contours, I could cultivate deep enough to keep weeds down and still travel in third gear."

Land-resource maps of individual counties and groups of counties are in stronger demand. The maps are being used by urban planning commissions, watrshed districts, fertilizer men, flood control groups and agricultural planning committees. Such a map shows geographic distribution of several soils in "land-resource units." The maps are available for review at all SCS work unit offices.

Applying anhydrous ammonia in fall was as effective as putting it on in spring, recent University of Minnesota research showed. Tests also showed that applying nitrogen in late April was a bit less effective on corn than applying it as sidedressing later on. Sidedressing in June is always recommended for sandy soils.

Prize Trap Shoot Set for TRF Range Sunday

The Thief River Trap Shoot club will conduct a trap shoot at its range south of town on Sunday, August 14.

It is expected that a large delegation of out-of-town trapshooters will be competing in the various events on the program. The feature event will be the fifty-bird vent, with $50 added money awaiting the marksmen. Entry fee for this event will be $3 for the targets, plus $5 for the purse. No limit to the number of times that a shooter may enter this event. An extra $25 will be awarded to the "high gun" in the fifty-bird event. This event will be arranged on the Lewis class system, with three classes being in competition and not less than ten shooters to a class. The prize will be allotted on a 40-30-20-10 basis. This event will close at 3:00 p. m.

In addition to the feature event, a twenty-five bird merchandise shoot will be held. The traps will be available for chicken shoots and special events when not being used for the feature event.

The traps will be open at 10:00 a. m. on Sunday.

Arrangements are being completed for the third annual Thief River Trap Club championship shoot to be held on Thursday August 18. The fifty-target championship event will be restricted to members only; but there will be a number of events for other shooters. The fifty-bird event will be a handicap affair, with handicaps being established according to the league averages. There will also be a ladies' event, with a trophy being awarded to the "high gun" in the twenty-five bird event.

EXPECTED here Sunday is George Wolf of Grand Forks, one of North Dakota's top-ranked trapshooters. Wolf, a veteran of many trap shoots in this area, will compete in the trap shoot that is being sponsored and conducted by the Thief River Trap Shoot club at its range north of town.

Sports Smorgasbord

Sports fans will surely have an assortment of athletic activities available on Sunday. Here's the list of events that are on the local schedule: 1), the Thief River Trap Club will be host to a trap shoot at the range north of town, with the traps slated to be open at 10:00 A.M.; 2), the local golf club will be host to a shortstop golf tournament, and fine field of golfers is expected to be on hand; 3), the Pen-Ro-Shall league will begin its baseball playoffs, and the Fair Grounds diamond here will be the site of a game between Wally Grovum's Bums and the heavy-hitting Badger club, with game time at 2:30 P.M.; 4), the Northwestern Racing association will present a program of go-kart racing at its new speedway just north of town; and 5), the Family Bowl lanes are available for open bowling, with the alleys being opened at 10:00 A.M. on weekdays, and 1:00 P.M. on Sunday.

And for those baseball fans who wish to make a trip out of town, we must mention that the senior baseball Thieves will be playing Cass Lake in an 8:00 P.M. game on Sunday on the Bagley diamond. The Thieves were quite impressive on Sunday night as they scored a decisive 14 to 1 win over the Fosston club.

The Thieves, though, won't be as strong and solid a ball club in their Sunday meeting with Cass Lake as they were in their victory over Fosston. And this will be due to Bob Hallameck's absence from the local lineup. Bob played an exceptional game at shortstop last Sunday, and his absence from the Thieves lineup, due to a misunderstanding between Bob and the Thieves management, will surely give aid and comfort to Cass Lake.

Wally Grovum's Bums, defeated by Badger, 9 to 5, in a first-place playoff game last Sunday, will attempt to side-track the Badger club at the Fair Grounds this Sunday. A flip of a coin decided the site of this important playoff game, and the Bums won the toss. Wally the manager is undecided as to his pitching choice for Sunday's game. Badger has an abundance of right-handed power, and for that reason Wally is somewhat doubtful of giving the pitching assignment to southpaw Freddy Jensen. Righthander Larry (Buzz) Ward pitched creditable ball against Badger last week, but he had the misfortune of giving up a home run ball to Jerry Modahl with a man on in the seventh inning, and another home run ball to Dave Frislie, also with a man on, in the 8th inning, broke a 5-all tie. It should be different this week.

The Tournament's Most Valuable

Coach Harley Oyloe's Fergus Falls juniors, the champions of the Ninth district, won the Minnesota American Legin junior baseball title on Monday night by defeating Norwood, 7 to 5, in the finals of the tourney played on the Midway stadium diamond in St. Paul.

In a first round game, Fergus Falls, with righthander Barry Johnson on the mound, defeated St. Cloud, 3 to 2. In a semi-finals tilt on Saturday, the Fergus Falls juniors defeated a highly-regarded Willmar club, 8 to 3.

In the championship finals, coach Oyloe had to call on the services of Johnson for five innings of excellent and crucial relief pitching to protect the lead and the game. As a result of his performances in the three winning efforts of the Fergus Falls team, Barry Johnson was named the tournament's most valuable player. That's quite an honor for a youngster who has another year of junior eligibility remaining.

We'll be following the play of Fergus Falls and Barry Johnson in the six-team regional tournament that begins on August 18 at Bismarck.

Note to Prowler Footballers

Coach Joe Mrkonich announced that all Prowler football candidates must make arrangements for their physical examinations before they will be issued equipment and permitted to join in the practice drills.

The Season's Best

Well, it perhaps wasn't the best softball game of the season, but it surely was the most exciting. Referring to the Len's Tire Service vs. Bridgeman's game at the East Side diamond on Tuesday evening. The Len's, on Frank Harger's home run wallop in the first half of the eighth inning, provided the margin of victory, giving Len's a cherished 4 to 3 win.

The Bridgeman's picked up a pair of runs in the first inning, added another run in the fourth inning and appeared to be on the way to a 3 to 1 win over the Len's. But it was not to be. Len's added a tally in the sixth inning, and another in the seventh to force the game into extra-innings. Harger connected with one of Bob Carlson's change-up pitches and lined a home run to center field.

We don't know if plans are being made for a four-team playoff; but we're sure that the fans would be in favor of such a playoff. The four teams that would be eligible would be Hartz Stores, Hamm's Beer, Bridgeman's, and Len's Tire. And what a series that would make! And foolhardy, indeed, would be the fan who would hazard to pick the winner of the series.

'60 Federal Aid Funds Partially Allocated

An allocation of $2,720,894 to the counties for their 1961 construction programs for federal aid secondary roads has been announced by State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman. This amount will come from the $3,524,657 tentatively certified as Minnesota's "preliminary" share of the fiscal 1962 federal aid apportionment for secondary roads. Pennington county is allocated $20,407; Marshall, $48,432; and Red Lake, $16,870.

From the Pennington allotment is to be deducted $3,501, to repay funds advanced for the 1959 program.

Zimmerman stated that the preliminary apportionment, as announced by the federal highway administrator, represents 75 percent of the estimated total allotment to Minnesota for fiscal 1962.

Final apportionments will be made to the states when the amounts are adjusted to conform with final 1960 census figures. This is expected to come on or about January 1.

Zimmerman also said the more than $2½ million allotted to the counties covers only 50 percent of the preliminary apportionment. Total amounts will be made when the highway department and county officials complete a study to determine distribution of these funds between the county and state FAS systems. It is expected this will be completed before the final federal aid apportionment is made.

Although none of these funds actually become available to the state until July 1, 1961. Commissioner Zimmerman's announcement will permit the counties to program their road projects well in advance in anticipation of the allotments.

Three Cities Cited for Vehicle Tests

Hutchinson, St. Cloud and Virginia Win Recognition

Three Minnesota cities have been named winners of the "State Award of Excellence" for outstanding voluntary vehicle safety check programs conducted in those comunities last May as part of the 1960 national vehicle safety-check for communities program.

Designated as having the best programs in their population groups in Minnesota were: Cities 25,000 to 100,000 population, St. Cloud; cities 10,000 to 25,000, Virginia; cities under 10,000, Hutchinson.

The three local programs were among the more than 70 conducted in Minnesota communities during 1960, under the direction of Virginia automobile dealer Lyle S. McCabe who served as state chairman for the voluntary program. State coordinator was Harry A. Sieben, Minnesota director of highway safety.

Minnesota is one of the 33 states where the voluntary program is conducted. These are the states where periodic vehicle checks are not required by law. The ten points checked which affect the safe condition of the vehicle are brakes, headlights, tail lights, steering, tires, exhaust, glass, windshield wipers, mirrors, and horn.

Reports Are Due by Aug. 15 from Co. 4-H Members

4-H'ers in Pennington county are reminded to fill out standard reports for state and national awards, County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk announced today. These reports are due at the extension office by August 15.

All 4-H'ers are elibile to compete, but junior leadership is one very essential qualification in the granting of these awards. Other considerations are participation in club, county, and state events, achievements in club work, and years of club work.

Standard report forms may be secured at the extension office.

Envy explains many things that happen in life which otherwise have no explanations.

A FILM in color dealing with the career of Hans Nielson Hauge, a farm boy who became an instrument in Norway's greatest revival, will be shown at Our Savior's Lutheran church next Wednesday evening, August 17, at 8:30. Also sharing in the program will be Mr. and Mrs. Bjarne Elingsen, both accomplished musicians.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota

DIRECTOR OF GAME & FISH

(This week's column is authored by Forest Lee, biologist in charge of waterfowl research, Minnesota game and fish division.)

When Jim Kimball asked me to guest write his column I pondered what his readers would like to read. There were many current subjects, which I could talk about such as this year's duck breeding population, studies on the nesting requirements of ducks, or many other subjects related to waterfowl.

Instead, I chose to mention some of my recollections after working on waterfowl in Minnesota for over ten years. There have been some disappointments, but these are far outweighed by the gratifications that come with the belief that much progress is being made.

One of the big jobs each spring was the aerial waterfowl breeding ground survey during which over 3200 miles of aerial transect were flown from the Iowa line to the Canadian border. Our survey was part of an extensive overall survey involving many other states and the Canadian provinces. On these surveys we would often look with dismay at ditches and drained depressions which only the year before were wonderful waterfowl breeding areas. The aerial census gave us a front view of the tragic loss of some of this country's finest waterfowl habitat.

On the brighter side we later saw the initiation of a wetlands acquisition program, Save Minnesota's Wetlands, by which many fine waterfowl marshes have been saved from destruction. We saw the Roseau Refuge and other larger waterfowl management areas come into being. We saw these areas demonstrate their immense value to waterfowl in recent years when conditions were adverse elsewhere.

The organization of the Mississippi Flyway Council in 1952 was a highlight of waterfowl management. In the Council administrators and biologists of the state, federal, and provincial governments meet to discuss their mutual problems and to plan for better management of waterfowl. Here we have flyway planning for species that are migratory in nature, knowing no political boundaries. Probably the greatest contribution of the Council was the preparation of a detailed Flyway Management Plan about two years ago.

The event of most significance to me was the change in organization of the game and fish division which allowed a specific small group of fine people to devote their energies to research on waterfowl. The problems for research are many. For example, we have less and less habitat to raise ducks. We must seek ways to raise more ducks on the wetland areas and other habitat that is left.

At this time several of the waterfowl research studies are nearing completion and the recognition this work is receiving is indeed gratifying. For instance, last year we were invited to describe our program and findings at the waterfowl breeding biology seminar, held at the Delta Waterfowl Research Station in Canada. We participated in this seminar again this summer.

In conclusion, I might mention that through the years there has been much satisfaction in dealing with fellow conservation department employees whom I greatly respect. These sincere and dedicated individuals command my respect. Land buyers, refuge managers, game wardens, biologists and administrators: all play their part in managing Minnesota's wildlife.

In the case of waterfowl it has been especially gratifying to work with our administrators who carefully weigh the facts and make decisions which are best for the overall benefit of the resource and our people.

Duck Supply to Be Short This Season

Birds Need Protection, Says Wildlife Official

After a 5,000 mile duck survey trip by automobile through North and South Dakota, and the Canadian Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, a National Wildlife Federation representative concludes that despite some improvement in general water conditions the canvasbacks will still need all the protection they can be given this year.

To only a slightly lesser degree this will also be true of redheads and ruddy ducks, the report said.

Production of ducks in Canadian prairie provinces generally is disappointing and is not what was hoped for earlier. Few, if any, more ducks will pass down the central and Mississippi flyway this fall, the report said.

The report added, "We are now experiencing an era during which we could learn much about the length of time ducks need in which to reestablish populations victimized by conditions such as existed in 1958 and 1959. Doubtless, this will vary with individual species. Diver will likely be the last to recover."

"To replace misunderstanding with genuine human comprehension—to develop and maintain sound trade relations among the nations—to find ways to share the bounty of our harvests with others, without disrupting normal world markets—to have a sympathetic identification with all peaceful revolutions which seek greater freedom and better living—and to do all these things without violating our basic policies of non-intervention and freedom of choice for all—these are among the complex world problems with which the United States must deal."

—President Eisenhower

Overenthusiastic?

A friend of ours, with a son just out of high school, and a little worried about whether a college would have room for him, wrote to 15 colleges and universities asking if they would accept his boy. Twelve of the schools were willing to accept him with his c-plus grades. The other three were already filled for the beginning of the school year but would have room for him at the beginning of the second semester or the beginning of the second year.

While the Ivy League schools were not included in the list he had written to, all of them were well known and generally considered to be good schools, maintaining reasonably high standards. This survey satisfied our friend that reports about colleges being crowded to capacity are greatly exaggerated. But why?

Food Is The Bargain

Americans spent nearly $59 billion last year for farm food products, according to the department of agriculture. About one-third of this total was paid to the producers. The marketing costs, including labor, transportation, power, profits, taxation and many other processing and distribution costs, took about two-thirds of the consumer's dollar.

The main reason for this trend toward higher marketing costs is the growing popularity of processed foods, prepared in a factory, and many of them, with just a little warm-up, ready to serve. This trend is going to continue.

Another reason is the uncontrolled production and marketing, resulting in too many surpluses and low market prices for several important farm products. This part of the farm problem has become involved in politics to the point where it now is a political football and sound solutions are quite remote.

Most of the products of our farms however, and most of the farm foods the consumers pay for, are out of politics. They have their ups and downs but generally they are not in trouble. This is particularly true for the perishables that do not lend themselves so easily to storage.

But considering the many factors that enter into the cost of living, food is still the low cost item and the consumer's biggest bargain.

Equal Time

The proposed Nixon-Kennedy debates on campaign issues should be encouraged, and these debates should be carried as much as possible by the major television networks. That probably will not be possible if the equal-time provision of the federal communications act is not amended.

A bill that would allow major broadcasting networks to offer prime evening time to presidential and vice-presidential candidates of the two major political parties has already been passed by the Senate and should be acted upon speedily by the House. As we understand it, the proposed amendment would waive the equal-time provision for the period of this campaign only.

There probably is some justification for the equal-time provision for radio and television in political campaigns but, like most limitations on the discretion of management in matters of that kind, we are satisfied that the evil is greater than the good. If it is in the public interest that it be waived in the present presidential campaign, that in itself is a pretty good argument for doing away with it entirely.

Newspapers have a similar publicity problem for which there is no uniform solution. Newspapers generally welcome publicity releases by public officials, providing they contain information of public interest. This leads to abuses but they are not serious. Some officials ask for free space regularly for the publication of slanted material prepared by professional ghost writers. Most newspapers discontinue the "letters" by public officials during a campaign in fairness to the opponents and taking into consideration the equal-time principle.

Newspapers are traditionally opposed to regulation of any kind by a government agency, and the propriety of the right of he freedom of the press is seldom questioned. Now that radio and television are established as important agencies in the dissemination of information we believe it would be in the public interest to give them greater freedom, along with more responsibility, in the control of their own operations.

Progress in Arkansas

Grandpa V. C. Noper bounced youthfully into the Times office Monday afternoon, exploding with praises for the health restoring powers of Arkansas waters and the productivity of Pennington County soil. The hot springs of his adopted state are truly remarkable fountains of youth and the crops on his Pennington County farms were never better.

Mr. Noper brought a copy of an Arkansas newspaper to prove that elections in that state are really knock-'em-down and drag-'em-out affairs. We don't know nuthin' about politics and corruption here in Minnesota. He stated that there now are enough Republicans in Arkansas to give the state some semblance of a two-party system but he declined to comment on whether he had applied for membership in the revolutionary group. We enjoyed his visit.

Hang On Tight and Pray

In its "Nation's Business" column the Financial Post of Toronto, Canada, made some interesting comments on the coming American election. As our neighbors see us we are due for a real rough and tumble political campaign, and that seems to be the consensus on this side of the line too. And maybe most of us would agree with them that the campaign is not going to add to the sum-total of world enlightenment. Says the Financial Post:

"Our neighbors down below the 49th parallel are launched on what is going to be the toughest, loudest, nastiest American election campaign of the century. Both Kennedy and Nixon are past masters at the art of political infighting. The last two times out, we've watched a couple of political cream puffs, Eisenhower and Stevenson, politely punch away at each other. But, as the saying goes, we "ain't seen nuthin' yet" as Kennedy and Nixon start whacking away at each other both above and below the belt.

"'Tricky Dick' and 'Little Boy Blue,' as the two combatants already have been nicknamed, will leave nothing sacred. Kennedy's Catholicism will be subtlely but effectively pinpointed by Nixon, and his hirelings can be expected to warn of impending dictatorship from Rome.

"And Kennedy, no slouch at this same sort of thing, will be harping on Nixon as 'McCarthy in a white collar' and will inevitably dredge up the Nixon 'expense' fund.

"Both will be running scared because at this writing the election is a toss-up. The Las Vegas bookmakers are offering 6-to-5 and take your pick.

"And worst of all, it is now certain that how to handle the Russians will be the major issue of the campaign. Nixon is clearly going to campaign on a 'talk rough' to the Russians line. Republican speakers already have made it clear anybody who does not talk tough is unpatriotic, un-American and probably a lot worse. Nixon's running mate Lodge has built his career on roughing up the Russians.

"Altogether, the next three months will not be one of the more enlightening periods in history as our uncertain world is led by the even more uncertain Americans. We can only shut our eyes, hang on tight and pray that when it's all over good sense will descend over Washington."

Is This Santa Claus?

(Luverne Harald)

We were in Minneapolis last week for a committee meeting. It was held in an office building which is in the area which is ticketed for the new center of Minneapolis—a triumph of urban renewal slum clearance.

Oh, it's going to be beautiful when this vast project is completed. There will be beautiful new hotels, a new library, new government buildings and a host of other wonderful improvements.

It's going to be imaginative, spectacular, exciting. Because the clap trap dives, the pawn shops, the second hand stores, the fleabag roominghouses, the saloons and other civic eyesores are going to be destroyed and replaced by fine, new, developments. Gone will be the winos, the trollops, the bums who will no longer have the seedy haunts to prowl in . . . instead they will be scattered far and wide in Minneapolis.

And YOU'RE the one that's going to pay for it.

As we said this committee met in an office building. A good building. Tall, handsome. Perhaps self operated elevators would be an improvement.

But this building would be good for another half century.

It isn't any eyesore. But, like the eyesores, it's going to be razed to the ground. It's a pimple in the path of progress and a more glorious downtown Minneapolis.

The taxpayers in Rock county and ten thousand other counties are going to foot the bill. Not just for urban renewal in Minneapolis but a host of other big cities.

Tenants of that building are scrambling for new locations. It will be an expense to move.

It will be an inconvenience. But, these tenants are going to have their annoyance salved by the soothing balm of cold cash from the U. S. Treasury.

This one tenant, and it isn't much of an expanse of offices, will get $3,000 from the government for moving and remodeling new quarters.

That is just one tenant. Multiply that small segment of office space on just one floor times 10 floors times other buildings and you can see the millions that will be expended by the government?

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Cowhand: Aren't you putting your saddle on backward, sir?

Dude Rancher: That's all you know about it, cowboy—you don't even know which way I'm going.

Conference on Aging in Minneapolis Soon

In the past 30 years, while Minnesota's total population has increased 30 per cent, the number of persons within the state 65 and over has increased 103 per cent, and the number 75 and over, 135 per cent.

This is one of the startling statistics which will be reported by Issac Hoffman, director of research, Amherst H. Wilder Foundation, when he addresses the Governor's 3rd biennial Conference on Aging on August 25 at the Pick-Nicollet hotel, Minneapolis. The conference will run two days, August 25 and 26.

His text, "Fascinating Facts about Minnesota's Aging," will reveal that in this same 30-year span there has been a continuing shift of older persons from rural to urban communities. Today, 59.6 per cent of all Minnesota's population 65 and over live in towns; 28.2 per cent in villages, and only 12.2 per cent on farms.

What these figures mean in terms of our economy, both now and in the future, Hoffman points out, is readily apparent from the fact that one productive worker now supports 2½ nonproductive individuals. According to the studies of the Conference's special committee on research, if no change occurs in our employment and retirement policies in the next 20 years, one productive worker will be supporting 3½ nonproductive persons in 1980.

The coming conference on aging has as its theme: Design for action! Workshops will be conducted by experts on such topics as community action, health, employment, housing and education for the aging. All sessions during the two days of the conference will be open to the public.

It is easy to get the idea that nobody should interfere with your business.

Report Progress on Wetlands Plan

Program Should be Speeded up, Says Game Official

A progress report on "Save Minnesota's Wetlands" for the 1959-60 fiscal year has been released by the Minnesota game and fish division, and it reveals that 10,308 acres of valuable wildlife habitat was brought into state ownership.

David Vesall, state game boss, revealed the state's acquisition program is proceeding at the rate of approximately 10,000 acres per year.

"If we continue at this rate it will take about seventeen years to reach our primary wetlands goal of 250,000 acres of wetlands," explained Vesall. "This indicates, in turn, that in view of the rapid rate of surface water drainage that is presently taking place in Minnesota, our acquisition should be greatly stepped up."

List Open Seasons for Rabbits and Squirrel

The Minnesota game and fish division today announced the 1960 hunting seasons for rabbit, squirrel, raccoon and some other upland game species.

Rabbits, including cottontails, jacks and snowshoe hares may be tken from October 1, 1960 through March 1, 1961, both dates inclusive. The statewide seasons provide for a daily bag and possession limit of 10 and 20 on cottontails and hares. This year also a similar limit of 10 and 20 has been put on jack rabbits. This is in response to reports of game wardens, game managers and landowners that commercialization of jack rabbits for their hide and flesh has left them in short supply in a number of localities.

Squirrels, both gray and fox, can be hunted from October 1 through December 31. Daily bag and possession limits have been set at 7 and 14 in the aggregate. This represents no change from the regulations of former years.

Raccoon hunting, which is permitted 24 hours a day, begins October 1 and extends through December 31. No limit has been placed on the number of 'coons that can be taken.

Woodcock become fair game on October 1 with a 40 day season extending through November 9. They may be hunted from sunrise to sunset with a daily bag and possession limit of 4 and 8.

Wilson's or jack snipe will have a 30 day season opening concurrently with the waterfowl season. Like woodcock they may be hunted statewide from sunrise to sunset with a daily bag and possession limit of 8 and 8, respectively.

Earliest of the 1960 seasons will be for rails and gallinules which opens September 1 and runs for 50 days through October 20. Daily bag and possession limits for all species except soras has been established at 15 in the aggregate by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Sora rails will have a daily and possession limit of 25.

If your hair is not becoming to you you should be coming to me.

A desperate run . . . a frantic slide . . . the feel of the bag against your cleats . . . the belated tag of the shortstop's glove. Then a voice, clear, certain . . . final!

And though the cheers may be laced with hoots and screams of disapproval, you're safe. And nothing can change that fact!

Equally dramatic — and far more important — is the adventure that brings earnest men and women into the Church.

There is a point when we realize the inertia of half-believing. We plunge forward desperately, leaving behind yesterday's skepticism, seeking frantically the Truth that promises meaning and purpose for our life.

Then there's the thrilling moment — the dust of worldly confusion still all around us — when we know in our hearts we have found our faith. And always, above the strains of the organ, even above the clamor of a world unconvinced, there is a Voice, clear, certain . . . final — confirming our Faith.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

$1,600 Damage in 3 Traffic Mishaps in City Last Week

$790 Damage Results from Accident Thursday on Main av. at Tenth st.

Three traffic mishaps late last week resulted in slight injuries to two persons in one car and estimated damages totaling $1600, according to police.

The first mishap occurred at 9:25 p.m. Thursday when a car driven north on Main av. by Karen Ann Shirley, 14, struck a tree at the corner of Main av. and W. Tenth st.

The girl had been making a left turn onto Tenth st. when the car veered off to the right and struck the tree. She and a passenger, Jean Krbechek, Goodridge, were treated at Northwestern hospital for cuts and bruises and released.

Damage to the 1960 model car, owned by Frank Krbechek, Goodridge, was estimated at $790, damage to other property was not listed. The Shirley girl was tagged for driving without a driver's license while Jean Krbechek was tagged for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle.

Some Classes Filled In Vocational School

Fall Term to Start Tuesday, Sept. 6, at Institution in TRF

The Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school will begin its fall term Tuesday, September 6, Arnt Aune, director, announced today.

He added that the cosmetology class is filled to capacity, but that applications are being accepted for openings to become available in February, 1961. The practical nursing class also is filled, with applications being accepted for the next term starting in July, 1961.

The carpentry and auto body repair classes already have their limit of 16 students. The next class for aircraft mechanics begins in March, 1961, and applications are now being accepted.

Aune stated that classes not yet filled include electronics, auto mechanics, welding and business training. To open October 3 is a new 18-months course in drafting, for which applications are now being accepted.

Classes that have continued in session this summer include cosmetology, with 40 students; practical nursing, 20 students; aircraft mechanics, 14; and business training, 17.

Because of the rapid growth in the fields of radio, television, radar, electronic data processing, and guided missiles, there is a great demand for highly skilled electronic technicians, said Aune. The Federal Aviation Agency alone can use more than 2,000 electronic technician graduates a year for the next five years.

Young men who complete the two thirty-six week terms of training in the electronics department of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school are eligible to enter this rapidly growing field. Graduates have been hired by N. W. Bell Telephone Company, American Telephone and Telegraph, and by office machine manufacturers.

Ted Mills, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, department of electrical engineering, is the head of the department. He taught electrical engineering courses at the University of Minnesota for three years and also has had considerable practical experience in the field.

Henry Bothman, formerly chief engineer at Radio Station KTRF, is the second instructor. His training and experience is in the theory and practical aspects of radio, radar, and transistors.

Competent instructors plus the latest in equipment and shops makes the area vocational school an excellent institution to receive training in the field of electronics.

Students that have completed high school with average ability in mathematics and science are able to master the skills.

72 Former Boy Scouts Observe 25th Year of Holt Troop Saturday

Scouting was praised as a constructive program developing such virtues as honesty, loyalty and cleanliness of mind and body by Dr. Erich Selke, noted educator from the University of North Dakota, at the celebration marking the 25th anniversary of the Holt Boy Scout troop at a banquet in the Nazareth Lutheran church parlors at Holt Saturday evening, August 13.

Dr. Selke, principal speaker at the banquet which brought together 72 former Scouts from the troop, troop committeemen and area officials, noted the value of father-son relationships and stated that one of the causes of delinquency in the five per cent of juveniles who are in trouble is that they do not have enough to do around the home. "Small offenses lead to greater offenses," the speaker said, "and when some people say that some juveniles are too young to know better, they are wrong."

"When children become 15 years of age, they know right from wrong," he said. He went on to oppose the "softheaded treatment of too many criminals".

The long-time educator congratulated the initiative and resourcefulness of the troop's leaders and the work they had done.

The banquet was attended by former Scouts and their leaders from Stewartville, Warroad, Minneapolis, Grand Rapids, Thief River Falls, Fosston, Detroit Lakes, Newfolden, St. Paul, Fergus Falls, and Grand Forks as well as from Orlando, Fla.; Waubay, S. D.; Ithaca, N. Y.; Caribou, Maine, and Clifton, Ariz.

Leonard Ness acted as master of ceremonies and Arvid Wikstrom, mayor of Holt, extended the community's welcome. The table prayer was led by Rev.

Redistricting Fight Looms in Legislature at Its 1961 Session

Stakes are a little higher than usual this year in the biennial battle for control of the Minnesota House of Representatives.

Added to the usual problems facing the lawmakers at their 1961 session will be dividing the state into eight congressional districts in place of the present nine. The state is due to lose one congressman because some other parts of the country have grown faster than Minnesota.

The state now has five Republican congressmen, four Democratic-Farmer-Laborites. Conservatives in the Legislature will, naturally, seek to preserve, so far as possible, the districts now represented by Republicans. Liberals will be trying to make things easier for DFL candidates. The faction in control in the Legislature will be in the best position to carry out its wishes.

If the liberals continue in control of the House—they had a 72-59 majority in 1959 a long tug of war between the carry over conservative Senate and the House is in prospect. If the conservatives regain dominance the two houses will be better able to work together—and the redistricting will be one calculated to give Republicans the advantage.

A total of 351 candidates have filed for the 131 House seats. Of these 15-11 conservatives and four liberals—have no opposition, leaving 336 candidates battling for 116 seats. There will be primary contests in only 62 cases, only enough candidates having filed to make a general election race in the other districts.

Four incumbent conservatives and five incumbent liberals are not seeking re-election, and one incumbent conservative, Thomas Christie of Minneapolis, has died. This means that at least 10 seats will be filled by new men.

PAINTING BEE participants did a fast job of applying paint to the home of Edward C. Nelson, 618 North Arnold Ave., Saturday. During the past year Mr. Nelson, a Soo Line brakeman, has been confined to Sunnyrest Sanatorium at Crookston. Fellow Soo Line employees decided a good way to speed his recovery would be to brighten his home and they went to work.

A pot-luck dinner was served at noon by Mrs. Russ Williams, Mrs. Ed Holmstrom, Mrs. Bob Looker and Mrs. Alma Senstad.

William P. Kennedy, Chief of Trainmen, Due Here Thursday

Brotherhood President to Be Banquet Speaker at Eagles Hall Friday

William P. Kennedy, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who will address a dinner meeting at the Eagles Hall Friday evening, will arrive in Thief River Falls late Thursday afternoon, according to Lloyd Quesnell, in charge of local arrangements.

The Friday evening dinner is sponsored jointly by the local lodge of the B. of R. T. and the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Kennedy will discuss the problems of labor, the farmer and the small businessman.

Accompanying Mr. Kennedy will be Cliff Buoen, formerly of this city and now general chairman of the Soo Line B. of R. T., and Lou Coral of Cleveland, Ohio, director of public relations for the national organization.

Local railroad employes will meet with Mr. Kennedy Thursday evening and he will be the guest at a luncheon Friday noon, attended by a group of business men and railroad employes.

Mr. Kennedy first saw train service as a brakeman in this area, being employed by the Great Northern and working out of Grand Forks starting in 1909. He later was employed by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul out of Minneapolis and retains his membership in the Brotherhood lodge of that city.

Trudy Turn Bride of Rayno Lehtinen July 30

Baskets and altar vases of white and lavender gladioli graced the altar of the Trinity Lutheran church for the wedding of Miss Trudy Ione Turn to Rayno J. Lehtinen, Jr. Saturday, July 30, at 8:00 p.m. Rev. Reuben A. Wangberg officiated and Rev. Maurice Molvik of Grand Forks gave a short message at the double ring, candlelight ceremony in the presence of 175 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Turn of Kennedy and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rayno J. Lehtinen, Sr. of Red Lake Falls.

The organist, Mrs. Arthur Hamilton, played the traditional nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Dale Brekke, as she sang "O Promise Me" before the ceremany and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a white floor length gown of embroidered silk organza over net featuring a scalloped neckline, short cap sleeves, fitted bodice and she wore white gauntlets and a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. Her fingertip veil of net was caught on a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of feathered carnations centered by an orchid.

Attending as maid of honor was Miss Janet Brevik of this city with Miss Myrna Anderson of Hallock and Miss Shirley Bogestad of Karlstad as bridesmaids. Valerie Benitt of Holt was the flower girl and she wore a white nylon floor length gown styled similar to the bride's, and scattered rose petals.

Doctors to Check Visitors' Weight at Minnesota Fair

Also to Check Height and Blood Pressure in Booth in Education Building

Free height, weight and blood pressure readings will be offered to 1960 Minnesota State Fair goers at the Minnesota State Medical association booth located in the Education building.

Minnesota doctors will volunteer their professional services from 9:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. during the ten-day event, August 27-September 5.

In addition, representatives of the Minnesota State Dietetic association will be present each day from 1:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m. to answer nutritional questions asked by the public.

Because weight and blood pressure play a vital role in the health and life expectancy of the individual, especially after the age of thirty, medical association lists the following important facts:

One in every five persons is overweight. A person can be considered obese when his weight is more than 20 per cent above the normal for his skeletal build.

Family history as well as environment plays an important part in the tendency for the individual to be obese. Studies show that when both parents are of normal weight, only 10 per cent of the offspring tend to be overweight; when one parent is of normal weight and other obese, the chances that the child will be obese jump to 50 per cent; when both parents are obese, the percent of overweight offspring may be as high as 80 per cent.

Among persons who are overweight by 20 per cent or more, the incidence of high blood pressure is about twice as great as that for persons of normal weight. Advanced hardening of the arteries is three times more prevalent among obese persons.

State Fair Adds to Parking Space

Annual Event Continues from Aug. 27 to Sept. 5

Ten per cent more parking space will be available for use by visitors to this year's Minnesota state fair, August 27 through September 5.

"One of our most perplexing problems since we began hitting the million mark five years ago has been the parking of cars on our biggest days," said Secretary General Manager Douglas K. Baldwin. "This lack of parking space has been a serious handicap."

To meet this emergency, space for approximately 2,500 more autos has been provided. Most of the added space is on recently acquired property at the north end of the grounds, and south of Como avenue, opposite the livestock buildings. Some 25,000 cars now can be parked by the fair.

Two new vehicle gates have been installed to better handle the huge crowds expected. One is at Hoyt and Snelling avenues, north end of the grounds; and the other at Underwood and Como avenues, one block south of the Agriculture-Horticulture building.

Cost of this year's improvements to buildings and grounds totals more than $100,000. Premiums offered are $248,478, biggest in the history of the big exposition.

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

A "magazine scanner" is what I am since I never read a magazine from cover to cover. As a result I would be throwing out a dreadful amount of money in unread magazines if I had to subscribe to every one that I like to just pick things out of. The periodical department at the library is designed especially for people like me. I can happily read just the cartoons in New Yorker and keep my seven dollars a year, or I can read the non-fiction in the Post without being forced by my conscience to read the fiction as well.

Our library's 128 periodicals offer an astounding variety to please everyone's taste. Nothing pleases my "scotch" instincts more than taking advantage of a public service that my tax dollar has already partially paid for. (As a county resident, the library is practically a free service since so little county money is added to the library's funds.) I am sure that my magazine reading alone far exceeds the amount I contribute in taxes. I get my money's worth out of the library by usage just as I do from roads or parks.

If you are fascinated by current fashion and like to know whether skirts are up or down, Vogue, Mademoiselle and Seventeen are excellent references. You'll find new information about your own particular hobby in the Flower Grower or Antiques or Musical America. If travel is either a dream or an actuality in your life the magazine Travel or Holiday or National Geographic will give you great satisfaction. Travel has an enticing article about Canada, our neighbor to the north, in its fall issue.

If you ponder as I do the constant movement of our native sons and daughters to California you will be interested in Sunset which bills itself as a magazine for western living. This month's issue has an article about dog houses, another on jay birds (the west has several different kinds) suggestions on several types of houses, August vacations, as well as directions on how to prepare, of all things, an elegant picnic.

The only magazines we read thoroughly at our house are the decorating ones since we are always looking for ideas on how to make our house more liveable for a mere pittance. Better Homes and Gardens, American Home, and Living for Young Homemakers regard the necessity of considering cost a bit more amiably than do the editors of House and Garden and House Beautiful. But I find these first ones less imaginative and much less amusing reading. I love reading the wordy descriptions written to impress those who are impressible. In the advertising world we used to describe such, very unsubtly, as "snob appeal."

Ah yes, and if you fail to be amused and prefer to stick to business, business, business, the library is prepared to help you do that too with the Wall Street Journal, Fortune and Business Week.

You don't have to be a scanner like me. I would be the last to discourage a real reader from the periodical shelves. How sad to miss Harpers or Atlantic monthly if you had the time to consume them.

Dick Sculthorp Pens Report on Boy Scout National Jamboree

The following detailed account of the interesting experiences of a group of area Boy Scouts who shared in the recent National Jamboree held near Colorado Springs, Colorado, was prepared for Times readers by Dick Sculthorp, who served as correspondent.

Friday, July 22

The first day at the Jamboree was very busy and interesting. That night we had an opening campfire at the main arena. A pageant was put on portraying scouting from 1910 to 1960. James Arness (Matt Dillon of Gunsmoke") narrated the pageant. Then Lanny Ross led us in singing Boy Scout songs, 56,000 voices strong. After that, beautiful fire works were set off from the top of Pikes Peak by Troop 10 of Boy Scout council.

Saturday morning the correspondents were called to a press interview with Jim Arness and Lanny Ross.

James Arness was born in Minneapolis, Minn. and lived there for 18 years. When asked how tall he was, he said "5 ft. 18"".

Sunday all the boys attended the church of their choice. The rest of the day was spent eating resting, swapping, writing home and visiting with new friends.

Monday, there were competitive Scoutcraft activities, Sill-O-Rama events and a western rodeo in which 115 of America's top cowboys took part, the events included saddle bronk riding, calf roping, Brahama Bull riding, and bulldoging.

That night Herb Shriner of "Two for the Money" TV show was at the campfire, also Sons of the Pioneers and Pat Brady of the Roy Rogers show entertained us.

Tuesday afternoon the Blue Angels, Navy Jet planes, flew over camp and put on a thrilling show. That evening at the sectional campfire the Lennon Sisters and Larry Hooper of the famous Lawrence Welk program, sang and played for us, Herb Shriner and his mouth organ band also entertained us.

Wednesday we hiked around the camp which was about five miles long and two miles wide, meeting new friends of every color, size and country, exchanging autographs and swaps. We also met James Ricard who is better known as Smokey the Bear.

Thursday was highlighted as President Eisenhower came to the Jamboree and drove by right in front of our section. That evening at our closing ceremony, Pat Brady and the Sons of the Pioneers sang and played. Herb Shriner narrated our candle light closing ceremony, which ended, with the lighting of 56,000 candles, one held by each boy scout. A sight I will never forget. We spent Friday packing for the trip home. Also five hours of sightseeing, the U. S. Air Force Academy, Garden of the Gods, Colorado Spring, Ghost Town, Van Briggle Art Museum and Pikes Peak.

Saturday we left the Jamboree at 6:30 a. m. and traveled to Denver, Colo., where we had one hour free time for sightseeing. We moved on to Craig, Colo. and spent the night in the Scout Lodge.

Sunday church services were held near the Lodge. After breakfast we traveled to Vernal, Utah. for lunch. That night we camped in Salt Lake at Fairmount Park.

Monday we went sightseeing in Salt Lake City, we visited the Mormon Temple, we also went for a swim in the Salt Lake. The salty water made our skin feel very funny.

Tuesday we traveled on to Coulter Bay, Wyo., and spent the night. It was 32 degrees in the morning.

Wednesday we drove on to Yellowstone National Park, where we saw 31 bears in the 4 hours we had lunch at Old Faithful and dinner at Yellowstone Falls. We stayed over night at the camp grounds.

Thursday we pushed on to Billings, Montana. Everyone made a trip to the Laundramat to wash uniforms. We slept in the city park that night.

Friday morning we were on our way to Dickinson, N. D. getting a little more tired all the time. We stayed that night in a school.

Saturday up early, everyone was anxious to get home. Arriving at Bismarck at 11 a. m. we toured the capitol building. Ate our lunch of sandwiches on the bus to save 40 minutes of driving time. Arriving at Grand Forks UND Field House at 6 p. m. After a wonderful trip it was very nice to be met by relatives and head for home.

Only Few Farmers Didn't Comply with Wheat Quota in '59

Percentage of Compliance Is Highest Since 1954, County ASC Is Advised

A higher percentage of farmers complied with wheat marketing quotas for the 1959 crop than for any other year since quotas were re-instituted in 1954, according to a report received at the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

In the 1959 crop year, the report shows, only about 7,600 farms had marketing quota excess wheat out of more than 500,000 farms which were affected by quotas. In earlier years, farms with excess wheat ranged between 13,000 and 30,000. About 7.6 million bushels of marketing quota excess wheat was produced in 1959, and most of it was stored to avoid or postpone the payment of penalty.

The major factor causing the sharp increase in wheat allotment compliance in 1959, according to Patrick W. Culkins of the ASC office, probably is the enactment of a new law which provides for a loss in wheat history acreage and possibly a reduction in the wheat allotment for any farm seeding in excess of the farm wheat acreage allotment. The 1959 crop year was the first year the provisions of this act were fully effective.

Farms in Marshall Co. Gain 41 Acres in Past 15 Year

Interesting Statistics Are Furnished by 1959 Census of Agriculture

Family farms have been preserved in Marshall County the past 15 years although they have gained in size, some 41 acres on the average. There are fewer farms, it is true, but the percentage of tenants is down considerably from 1944.

At the same time the farms selling products valued at over $10,000 increased from 241 in 1949, to 375 in 1954 to 482 last year. These are among the conclusions which can be drawn from statistics as announced from the 1959 census of agriculture for Marshall County, says the Warren Sheaf.

While the value of the land has increased by more than three times since 1944 an early 50 per cent jump has been noted in the past 5 years. Amount of machinery on the farms has also increased as the tables will show. Average size has increased from 328 acres in 1944 to 387 acres in 1959 while the number of farms has dropped from 2,635 to 2,067.

In 1944 there were 418 tenant farmers or 15.9 per cent of the 2,635 farms. This has dropped over the 15 year period to 195 or 9.4 per cent of the 2,067 farms. Average age of farm operators was 48.7 last year, 48.5 years in 1954.

Of the 1,641 commercial farms in the county in 1959 there were 45 with sales of $40,000 or more; 79 with sales of from $20,000 to $39,999; 358 with sales from $10,000 to $19,999; 499 with sales from $5,000 to $9,999; 485 with sales from $2,500 to $4,999; and 175 from $500 to $2,499. There were 411 additional farms with part time operators and operators in semi-retirement whose income ranged from $500 to $2,499.

Bulk of Property Tax Increase Is in School Districts

Minnesota Schools Account for $21 Million of This Year's Tax Boost

"School district levies accounted for the largest part of the $34 ½ million increase this year in real and personal property taxes levied by the State and the various local subdivisions of government," Charles P. Stone, general counsel of the Minnesota taxpayers association, pointed out today.

The association recently called attention to the fact that the state auditor's annual abstract of property taxes shows that total real and personal property taxes for 1959 payable in 1960 have risen to a new all-time high of $437.7 million, an increase of $34 ½ million.

"School district levies accounted for nearly $21.4 million of the $34 ½ million increase," Stone said, "climbing from $155.8 million to $177.2 million a one year increase of $21.4 million or 13.73 percent.

"The increase in property taxes levied for state purposes, while not bulking so large in dollars (from $19.9 million to $23.8 million and $3.9 million), was even greater percentagewise. 19.59 percent."

Jeanne Dahlen Tells of Summer in Austria

Jeanne Dahlen, daughter of the Stanton R. Dahlens of this city, gives further details of her experiences while spending the summer in Austria as an exchange student, in the following report to her friends here.

Hi Everyone!

My weeks at the Glasfachschule in Kramsach, Austria, slipped away too fast. It was really a novel experience to live with people who neither spoke nor understood English. The two professors who could speak it vied with each other in answering questions and translating for me. They invited me to their homes and asked dozens of questions about my family, home, and college. We visited in German too but they liked to talk English.

Rosemarie, who also lived in the dormitory, liked to sample my cooking and she cooked Austrian specialties for me. She wasn't too enthusiastic when I invited her in to have popcorn but she soon found out that the stale, dry popped corn in the stores didn't in the least resemble hot, buttered, freshly popped Minnesota corn.

A popular pastime for both teachers and students was watching fern-sehen (TV) at the school. One evening we saw an American film on California with German dubbed in. While they watched it I watched them and enjoyed their reactions. There was a short bit showing housemovers at work but the students doubted that such a thing was possible. And when a house was sawed in half and each half was moved to a new location and put together again—that was unbelievable. The huge supermarkets awed them but again they were skeptical at the view of the parking lot with its rows of shiny cars stretching almost as far as the eye could see.

Another evening, a professor's son who is studying architecture in Innsbruck took me to the Tiroler Abend, an evening in Tirol. This was an entertainment in an outdoor pavilion at a lakeside hotel, with costumed Tirolers doing quaint hopping and shoe-slapping dances, a visiting group of men singers yodeling and singing Austrian folksongs, and a band playing for dancing.

A Sunday walk took us two miles down the valley to Kramsach's twin city, Rattenberg. As we walked along its streets, I tried hard to realize that this town had been there for 1000 years. We visited an old church where the ornate hangings, pictures, statuary and numerous elaborate altars made quite a contrast with the cobblestone floor and rough-hewn unfinished pews. I am glad I am seeing these smaller beautiful churches while I can still appreciate their beauty, before seeing some of the more splendid ones in Rome and elsewhere.

That week I also went to a beautiful little city where I visited a glass factory. The owner told me to pretend it was mine and go anywhere I liked. I came away with a fund of fresh knowledge, plus two cute glass pigs which one of the workers had blown for me. Here at Kufstein, I ate at an outdoor cafe beside the rushing Inn River.

The 4th of July found me at Innsbruck where my studies in glass took me to museums, the Hofkirche and the Hofgarten, and to some palaces. This is a city of 100,000 compressed into rather a small valley completely hemmed in by mountains. It was heavily bombed, but on my American Express tour of the city I saw only two buildings that had not been repaired.

I took a thrilling ride up into the mountains at Innsbruck. We began the ascent in a little car that ran on trestles up the mountain side. At Hungerburg we changed to cable cars and made still another transfer to reach the very top. There we could look down on the pines and scrubby little trees on the lesser mountain tops and see Innsbruck almost lost in the haze far, far below.

When the time came for me to leave Kramsach for Vienna, I spent the last day visiting everyone and saying good-bye. I didn't pack until the last minute. (Usual for me, I guess.) We made quite a procession when we reached the station two miles away. Three of the professors' sons and another boy wheeled my luggage on their bikes.

Motorist Faces Careless Driving Charge in Court

City police today released information of a traffic mishap which occurred in the city Sunday, July 24, at 8:55 a.m. The case had been under investigation for some time.

The mishap occurred when O. G. Ekeren, city, was driving north on Main av. and sideswiped a car parked at the curb near Solheim and Overum Furniture Store, causing an estimated $200 damage to the parked car owned by Elling T. Iverson and $145 to Ekeren's car.

Following his stopping at Corner Texaco and walking back to survey the damage, Ekeren announced to the station attendant he was going to the golf club.

Following investigation of the case Ekeren was tagged for careless driving and will appear in municipal court later.

Grain Yield Generally Good on Soo Division

Alexandria To Thief River Falls

Small grain crops generally good. Early threshing reports show the following average yields: wheat 23, rye 21, barley 35, oats 47 bu. per acre. Most of the barley is from 2 to 5 pounds underweight. Wheat and oats is good quality. From ¼" to 4" rain received this week will be very beneficial for flax, corn and soy beans which are in good condition in northern areas but only fair to poor in the southern area where these crops were damaged by drought conditions.

Newfolden To New Orleans

This subdivision received about .2" to 2" of rain; and although topsoil moisture content is quite high, subsoil moisture is poor and additional rain is needed for potatoes and flax. Harvesting of grain crops is expected to be in full swing by next week. Early threshing reports show wheat averaging about 23, rye 17, barley 34, oats 45 bu. per acre. Prospects for flax and potatoes good.

Viking To Rolette, N. D.

Cooler weather and rain ranging from ¼" to 4" is of great benefit to sugar beets, potatoes and flax. Sugar beets look good but will need more rain. Flax and potatoes look good to only fair as development has been limited by earlier drought conditions. Early threshing reports show wheat averaging 26 and barley 27 bushels per acre.

Overly To Norma, N. D.

General rain averaging 1¼" was received this week. However, it was too late to help much of the grain except flax. Harvesting is tempararily delayed by the rain. Early threshing reports show rye averaging 28, barley 27, oats 43 bu. per acre. Wheat is expected to yield well but not of top quality due to the effects of earlier hot dry weather. Barley is light in weight. Flax looks good to fair.

Dahlen To Orrin, N. D.

Showers throughout the week provided the area with .3" to 2.6" of rain. These showers aided the late grain but came too late for early crops. Cutting of wheat, oats and barley is in full swing. Early threshing reports show wheat averaging 19 bu. and barley 25 bu. per acre of light-weight grain. Present condition of flax is mostly fair to poor.

General

Cooler weather accompanied by various amounts of rain received on each subdivision improved conditions for the late grains and especially benefited the soy beans, sugar beets, potatoes and flax. The rain, however, came too late for a large portion of the grain crop which was ready to be cut. Harvesting of early grains is well underway. This week's threshing reports show the following average yields on the various subdivisions: wheat 19-26, rye 17-28, barley 25-35, oats 43-47. Little of the barley is of malting quality. Although recent rain will be of benefit, the outlook for later grain is not very good as late grain, especially late-sown barley, was badly damaged by heat.

COMING FROM a small town, I can hardly believe this, but figures show that 43 per cent of all adult Americans eat out. They spend approximately 78c in the morning, $1.16 at noon, and $2.19 at night—excluding alcoholic beverages. Only 65 per cent of men enjoy eating out, compared to 80 per cent of women . . . When Dwight Eisenhower was the supreme allied commander, he was a three-pack-a-day cigaret smoker. When illness struck him at Key West back in 1949, he quit completely and instantly and hasn't puffed one since.

USED CAR BUYERS run five to ten years younger than new car buyers. One out of three used car buyers buys from the first dealer he sees. Four out of five leave their wives at home. Two out of three pay the asking price. And two out of three don't even show their wives the car until after they've bought it.

CHANGING TIMES mean changing scenes, and today's traveler on Minnesota's Iron Ranges can see that times have changed, and the scene, as well. Used to be that when you thought of iron mining, you thought of a big open pit, a shovel and a truck. Nowadays, this isn't the true picture of iron mining. The scene today usually includes a processing plant built to improve or beneficiate our iron ore. Minnesota iron ore has to be improved in order to be sold in today's iron ore market; and Minnesota mine operators are working hard to attract the money needed to build the facilities for improving our iron ore.

Clarence Knudsen of Thief River Falls extended the Lake Agassiz council greetings in the absence of Bob Hadlick, president of the council, followed by the introduction of Ed Belik, field Scout executive, by Quentin Jones.

A life saving award was presented to Charles Anderson, a member of the Holt troop, by Mr. Belik. Anderson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Anderson, saved his mother's life a year ago by applying artificial respiration after she had been electrocuted by touching the kitchen stove and a short-circuited refrigerator. A letter from the attending physician crediting the Scout's prompt action in saving his mother's life was read before the award presentation.

Hartley Peterson, who has been a part of the Scouting program in Holt in some capacity since its beginning in 1935, presented silver anniversary highlights including the beginning of the troop, tests that had been taken, anecdotes concerning camps and activities and some of the presons who had been connected with the troop.

Jim Thompson, president of the Holt school PTA, the troop's sponsoring organization, presented closing comments followed by a rededication by Allan Steinhauer, Merle Larson and Donovan Peterson, assistant Scoutmasters.

C. A. Larson, first Scoutmaster of the troop, gave the Scoutmaster's benediction. Following the banquet, nine of the 13 boys in the troop had an overnight camp.

IRON ORES SORTED AND BLENDED FOR SHIPPING

There's more to handling iron ore than loading it at the mine and shipping it to the smelter, according to a recent issue of the Lake Carriers Bulletin. Ore, like coffee and colors and many other good things in life, is blended. Each vessel docking at a Superior ore port is after a specific cargo, which has been phoned in ahead of arrival. The ore in each car at the mines is carefully sampled and similar cars are grouped five or six in a string, with a composite sample available. Sorted again at the docks, these cars are so grouped and emptied as to comply as nearly as possible with each ship's requirements; even the car dumping order is arranged to put the ore in separate layers. To facilitate this final blending, the vessel is shifted between various shutes at the loading dock, often six times or more, before the chutes are raised, hatches closed, and the loaded vessel takes off for down-lakes destination.

Strontium-90 in Milk Reveals Lower Trend

Investigations by the Minnesota department of health of strontium 90 levels in milk produced in the state during the six month period from November 1, 1959, through April 30, 1960, reveal an average concentration of 11.8 micromicrocuries per liter in 32 samples taken at six sampling stations.

This level represents only about 12 per cent of the maximum permissible level for lifetime exposure, according to Dr. Robert N. Barr, executive officer of the state health department.

The average concentration of strontium-90 in 35 milk samples collected during the first eight months of this program was 14.4 micromicrocuries per liter, and during the next six months, through October 31, 1959, the average concentration of strontium-90 in 28 samples was 14.3 micromicrocuries.

Since June of 1959, the general trend in levels of strontium-90 in milk has been down. Strontium-90 levels in milk produced in the upper midwest are generally higher than the national averages reported by the U. S. Public Health Service. The latter have shown the same decreasing trend in recent months.

All of the individual samples collected in Minnesota have been well within the permissible maximum of 100 micromicrocuries per liter, a figure set by the national committee on radiation protection and measurements. The range and average of the readings also compare generally with those reported by the U. S. Public Health Service in recent months.

In September 1958, the average of the state samples was 18.9, compared to the national average of 8.4 micrimicrocuries per liter. In September 1959, the Minnesota average was 10.6, and the national average 6.0. In February 1960, the most recent month for which data is available on both state and national averages, the Minnesota average is 12.1, and the national average is 9.4.

A micrimicrocurie is the radiation equivalent of one millionth of one millionth of a gram of radium and a liter is just slightly more than one quart. The units of measurement are the same as those used by the U. S. Public Health Service in its milk surveillance program. Milk samples are now collected at Brainerd, Duluth, Minneapolis, Rochester, Thief River Falls, and Worthington. These sites were selected to give as wide a geographical coverage as possible, as well as to cover the major population areas of the state.

The Minnesota milk tests are part of a program to investigate all aspects of the potential health hazards associated with ionizing radiation sources. Milk was selected for testing because it is probably the principal source in the human diet of strontium-90.

Heavy Fertilizing Hikes Potato Yield

Phosphate Tests Made at EGF Potato Research Farm

Extra-heavy doses of fertilizer may bring potato farmers bigger profit increases than they ever dreamed possible.

Last summer, adding 500 pounds of phosphate per acre nearly doubled yield of Pontiac potatoes in University of Minnesota trials. The increase adds an extra $35 per acre above the fertilizer cost, figuring potatoes at $1 per hundred pounds.

Besides, contrary to some fears, fertilizer didn't harm potato quality.

The trials were conducted at the University's Red River Valley potato research farm at East Grand Forks, by A. C. Caldwell, soils researcher.

In the past, 60 to 100 pounds fertilizer phosphate was considered a strong application on potatoes. While that much helped, Caldwell recently decided to try unusually heavy rates.

He varied hosphate rates from 100 to 500 pounds per acre on different plots, but applied 60 pounds of nitrogen and 40 pounds potash to each. Results were similar among four varieties tested, but the greatest response was from Pontiacs.

Potatoes of that variety yielded 227 bushels of No. 1 spuds per acre where Caldwell applied no fertilizer and 320 bushels where he put on 100 pounds of phosphate. As the rate increased, the yield went up steadily until, at 500 pounds, the Pontiacs went 417 bushels per acre.

This is the first solid evidence that such high rates can pay off. Specific gravity values—a standard measure of potato quality—were practically identical at all fertilizer rates.

At the 100-pound fertilizer rate, increase in return over investment, compared to no fertilizer, was $35 per acre. At 500 pounds, the increased return was $53.24, or a return of 88 percent above investment. Actual fertilizer cost at that rate was $60.40 per acre.

Editorials . . .

"I think we can state it as a law that whenever a government does for the citizens that which they have the capacity to do for themselves, individually and in groups, it begins to destroy both their capacity and their incentive to do for themselves. That is, it begins to weaken rather than strengthen the foundations of freedom and the means of progress." —Walter H. Judd

Holding The Line

President Eisenower reminded Congress that he still has the veto power and that he will use it to curb irresponsible spending programs that would put the federal government back into red ink. He did not involve himself in partisan issues and most of his message was devoted to matters that should have immediate action.

Under the circumstances it is fortunate that President Eisenhower is not seeking reelection and that in the few remaining days of the present session he can decide issues on the basis of what is best for the nation as a whole.

There may be vetoes and there is the possibility that on some issues the President may not be able to muster enough support to have his vetoes sustained, but the vetoes nevertheless will serve a good purpose. They will focus attention on measures that should not be adopted, and the reasons why they should not be adopted will appeal to reasonable people.

Ten Years Ago

The Winnipeg Tribune notes that progress is being made in the preliminaries to an actual start in the construction of "an effective system of flood protection for the Winnipeg metropolitan area" but seems to be getting a little impatient because progress is slow. It points out that:

"It is 10 years since the Red River flood; seven years since the report on protective measures was completed; 17 months since the report was completed by a study of comparative costs and benefits."

The machinery of government in Canada apparently is not geared to speedier action than is ours south of the border, and we can understand the position of those who seek prompt action for a favorite project. We can also understand why it sometimes is well that government action is not hasty.

But our principle interest in the Tribune editorial is its reminder that ten years have passed since the Red River flood. That was a flood year in our area too, about which there still is occasional controversy, especially in a wet year.

We too have water control problems for which various solutions have been proposed. A survey and study of the drainage and flood control problems of the Thief River watershed are in the making and it is hoped that out of these will come recommendations that will be reasonably satisfactory to all of the conflicting interests and that we can get started on the job that needs to be done.

Prestige Regained

Three sensational achievements by our country in the space race last week did much to restore our prestige in this field thruout the world. Whether we are now in first or second place in competition with the Russians cannot be determined, and probably is not important. We do know that in spite of a late start we have been gaining steadily and that on the basis of proven experiments we have surpassed them in several types of pioneering successes.

On Friday a balloon as big as a 10-story building but "with a skin thinner than the plastic wrapping on a package of cigarettes," was launched 1,000 miles into the sky and sent into orbit. It was visible over Thief River Falls Sunday night, shining brightly as it moved steadily across the sky.

An air force test pilot flew a plane 24 miles up into space for a new altitude record for any human being.

And after 12 failures the air force succeeded in recovering a space capsule fired from an orbiting satellite.

What we like particularly about these spectacular successes was the manner in which the publicity was handled. There was no advance fanfare of what was going to be attempted. When the job was done the facts were reported, and in a factual way.

Rocketry is now getting to be an exact science and the members of the organizations that are responsible for our successes are conducting themselves like men who have a thorough understanding of their jobs and their responsibilities.

Fifteen Years Later

We have been reminded by several commenators that August is the fifteenth anniversary of the dropping of the atomic bombs on the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. These explosions killed hundreds of thousands of Japanese civilians. That was bad. The explosions also brought the war to a sudden end. That was good.

Reviewing the events that led to those historic incidents, William L. Laurence, writing in the New York Times, tells of the thorough study that was made by top-ranking scientists and military leaders that led to the final decision. On June 1, 1945, an interim committee of leading citizens unanimously recommended that,

"—the bomb should be used against Japan as soon as possible," that "it should be used on a military installation or a war plant surrounded by, or adjacent to, houses or other buildings most susceptible to damage," and that "it should be used without prior warning" of the nature of the weapon.

According to Mr. Laurence, the final decision was in fact made by Japan. On July 26 the allied command had issued what was known as the Potsdam Declaration, offering to the Japanese, "the choice between surrender and hope for an honorable future, on the one hand, and inevitable and complete destruction on the other."

Two days later the Japanese government issued a statement saying that the Potsdam Declaration would be ignored. It was this rejection of the offer for peace that led to the final decision by President Truman to use the new atomic weapon.

There never will be complete agreement as to whether the bombings were justified. They resulted directly in the killing of several hundred thousand people. If the war had dragged on the death toll probably would have been greater.

It is well to be reminded of what was done. Those who had to make the decisions had, and still have, our sympathy. We are sure they acted in what they believed to be the interests of peace.

After fifteen years we look upon the Japanese people as our friends. They know that we remember Pearl Harbor. We know that they remember Hiroshima. Fortunately, during the intervening years, we have made progress in understanding, and we are learning how to get along with each other as good neighbors.

The differences of the past should not be forgotten. Being reminded of them may make it easier to avoid future trouble.

Gradualism In Progress

(Kansas City Star)

It should now be apparent that a Supreme court decision cannot automatically improve race relations. It is now about six years since the famous ruling on school desegregation. The results vary widely from better-than-expected in the border states to extremely bad in the Deep South.

The prompt acceptance of desegregation in the border states has been accompanied by a substantial extension of Negro civil rights without seriously stirring racial feelings. In the Upper South from North Carolina to Arkansas integration has at least been accepted in principle without dangerous repercussion.

But in the Deep South the issue has created a state of bitterness that has been dramatized recently by the Negro sit-in tactics.

The only real gain in human relations must come in the hearts and minds of the peoples involved. . . .

Progress in the Deep South depends on persuasion among the people of the area. Obviously it is a long and difficult undertaking. But in the deliberate chapters of history the stories of human progress are replete with obstructions, pain, and frustration. In the light of history, most people agree that human progress has been worth the price.

Flunking the Tests

(Wall Street Journal)

Some 150 top foreign service officers of the United States Information Agency, hired to instruct the world about the virtues of the United States, have flunked their own exams.

The tests were set up in anticipation that Congress might make a permanent career agency out of U.S.I.A., which exists only under an Executive order. The reason it exists, according to George V. Allen, director, is to "help develop among people overseas a sympathetic understanding of American life, culture and national purposes."

The records show U.S.I.A. has engaged in a jumble of efforts to create sympathetic understanding. Jazz bands, shotputters, tennis players, singers and Tom Two Arrows, the original American Indian dancer, were sent around and about the world.

Well, what impresses us about U.S.I.A. is its ability to keep its hand in the taxpayers' pocket for a total annual—that's annual—shakedown of around $100 million—that's $100 million—to carry on this cheery work. It has around 11,000 press agents composing a vast bureaucracy whose chief duty is to make Uncle Sam popular through propanganda and travelling circuses.

No wonder some of its hired hands are so mixed up they flunk their exams. But they need not feel too bad about it. For Congress every year undergoes a test on U.S.I.A.

And every year—though Congress has right before it all the answers to the agency's failures, foibles and foolishness — Congress annually flunks all the tests of logic by giving U.S.I.A. another $100 million or so to instruct the world.

Practical Aid

(Christian Science Monitor)

An opportunity for the kind of practical aid that the United States can offer emergent African (and other) nations is knocking at the door right now. It was emphasized recently by Tom Mboya, general secretary of the Kenya Federation of Labor and one of Africa's top leaders, when he was visiting the United States.

Mr. Mboya stated he was seeking some $80,000 or $90,000 from the African-American Students Foundation for the purpose of transporting 250 or 300 African students to this country this fall. The plan began last year when Mr. Mboya arranged for 81 students to come to this country for education, most of whom made their own arrangements for tuition and living expenses.

One of the most desperate needs in the newly formed Republic of Congo, after the current state of near anarchy is replaced with internal order, will be men and women educated in the ways of democratic self-government. It is now too late to despair over the fact that after decades of Belgian control the Congo has less than a score of college-educated native African citizens.

But it is not too late to make available to as many Africans as are ready for it the kind of training that will best enable them to help bring their continent up out of poverty and ignorance. In few ways could Americans better advance the philosophy that the best charity is to prevent a man from having to accept charity.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

The famous conductor, Sir Thomas Beecham, explains why he refuses to hire female musicians. "If they're pretty," he says, "they distract my male musicians. If they're not pretty, they distract me!"

"The Tingler," a deadly organism at the base of the spine in every human being, is isolated by Vincent Price, playing a doctor in the Columbia release, and his assistant Darryl Hickman. Triggered into fatal growth by fear, "The Tingler" can only be quieted by its victim's screams. At the 59-Hi Thurs.-Fri.-Sat., Aug. 18-20.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Being pinched for Time is often enough to steer a farmer toward a useful new practice. Sidney, Lawrence and Herman DeYonge, Wilmont, didn't have their plowing done by spring, 1960. So to speed up, they hitched a drag behind the plow, used a digger once after the plow and planted the corn in wheel tracks. Result: as good a stand of corn as anywhere else around. According to Eugene Ormberg, assistant Nobles county agent, the DeYonges plan to continue the idea next year.

McCormick Brothers near Caledonia have this recipe for doubling corn yields and tripling hay tonnage: Put in field terraces and contour strips. Fertilize and lime acording to soil test. Use minimum tillage, a good rotation, and control weeds. The brothers farm 700 acres in the Root River Soil and Water Conservation District. James Goettle, SCS worker, says the McCormicks since 1950 have pushed corn yields from 50 to more than 100 bushels per acre.

"You betcha good drainage pays." So says Milton Hedin, Gonvick. He developed a drainage system in cooperation with Herb Waldeen, SCS technician. The system is based on Soil surveys and other farm characteristics. Hedin says he would need more land if he couldn't make full use of all he now owns and pays taxes on. He's a member of the Clearwater soil conservation district.

Another fall roundup is ahead—the one aimed at getting more soil test samples taken in fall. County agents, University of Minnesota extension men, ag teachers, fertilizer dealers, and others are joining forces to make the drive a success. Testing soil pays for any farmer. And taking the sample in the fall makes sure you get the information back in time to do a good job of planning for the next crop year.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—What is the first thing a World War Two veteran like myself must do to apply for a pension? I have a nonservice connected disability and I have been unable to work because of it.

A—You should file an application with VA. This can be done in person or by mail, on a special form furnished by the VA. Get in touch with your nearest VA office.

Q—I have a dividend on my GI insurance coming up soon. Can I leave this with the VA as a credit from which premiums could be deducted to keep my insurance from lapsing, in case I should forget a payment?

A—Yes. Dividends left with VA as a credit draw interest and will be used by VA to pay one monthly premium at a time in case you should fail to make your premium payment before the end of the grace period.

Q—I am the guardian of a minor child receiving death pension from the VA and have been told that the new pension law will be more advantageous to my ward. Please explain some of the new laws provisions for children entitled to pension.

A—The new law raises the income limit for children from $1400 to $1800 a year, earned income of the child is not included in this limit as it is under the old law, and pension rates are higher.

Q—I want to go to college this fall under the Korean GI Bill, but will not be going for an academic degree. On my application form, what should I put down as my course of study?

A—You must list all the subjects you plan to take which make up the program of education you will be following.

Don't Scream for Ice Cream

Doc Davis, the young dentist, moved into town only three months ago—but already he has a thriving business, especially with children.

I found the secret of his success when I stopped by Pop's Drugstore for a sandwich the other day. A small-fry walked in and handed a card to Pop.

Pop immediately went to the ice cream freezer. As he started scooping a cone, I asked him if I could see that card. It read: FOR GALLANTRY IN THE DENTIST'S CHAIR — ABOVE AND BEYOND THE CALL OF DUTY — PLEASE PRESENT THE BEARER WITH A DOUBLE-SCOOP ICE CREAM CONE, ON ME. DOC DAVIS.

From where I sit, it's good when a man can deal with people through understanding. He's the sort of fellow who respects the preferences of others though they may differ from his own...a tolerant man who offers his neighbor a glass of beer even though he, himself, may prefer lemonade. Take it from me, tolerance is the "painless" way to build a strong community.

Thieves Lose to Cass Lake in the Playoffs

First round games in the Northern Minny league playoffs were played at Bagley on Sunday, and Bagley and Cass Lake scored victories. In an afternoon game, the Bagley Merchants defeated Fosston, 6 to 0; and in a night game, Cass Lake edged out Thief River Falls, 3 to 1.

On Tuesday night, on the Bagley diamond, Fosston will play Thief River Falls, and the loser will be eliminated from the playoffs. On Wednesday night, in the winners' bracket, Cass Lake will play Bagley. The loser of this game will meet the winner of the Thief River Falls vs. Fosston game at Fosston on Sunday afternoon.

Cass Lake, in Sunday night's game against the Thieves, took advantage of some loose defensive play by the locals in the fourth inning to tally a pair of unearned runs, and these runs proved to game-winners for manager Bob Montebello's club. In the last half of the fourth inning, leadoff batter Bob Kennedy gained a "life" when his bunted ball to third base was fumbled. Kennedy stole second, and on Dennis Bakke's high throw to second, which carried into center field, Kennedy sprinted around to third base. Dick Evenson bounced to second base, and was out second to first. Glenn Carlson's throw to first, plate to catch Kennedy, was wide and Cass Lake tallied their first run. Russ Smith was retired, pitch to first. Montebello lofted a high fly ball to shortstop, and when Rod Collins lost the ball in the lights, the Cass Lake manager was credited with a hit. Harold Annette grounded to third base, and all hands were safe on Roy Pederson's bobble. Montebello stole third base. On a delayed steal, with Annette reaching second, Montebello scored. The Thieves' disputed the umpire's decision at second base, claiming that Annette had been erased.

Cass Lake added an insurance run in the seventh inning when, with two out, Roger Perling singled past shortstop. Kennedy drew a walk, moving Perling to second, and Evenson's ground single, which took a wild bounce over second baseman Dean Anderson, sent Perling in with Cass Lake's third run.

The Thieves averted a shutout by plating a tally in the eighth inning. With one away, Harlie Drees lined a double to the fence in left center. On a fielder's choice, with shortstop Kennedy making a play at third base, Drees beat the play. Glenn Carlson's fly ball to right field brought in Drees, scoring after the catch.

In the fifth inning, the Thieves had the bases loaded with two men out, but Rod Collins' bid for a hit, a well-hit ball to center field, was gathered in by Smith to end the threat.

Southpaw Roger Perling, hurling for Cass Lake, gave up six hits, but the Thieves were unable to bunch the base hits. Perling whiffed twelve, and in addition his deceptive motion to first base picked off one runner, and was instrumental in having three Thieves' runners thrown out on attempted steals. Righthander Arlan Hjelle matched Perling in effectiveness, doling out but five hits, walked two men, one intentionally, and struck out nine batsmen.

The box score:

Committees will meet Friday evening. All conservation organizations affiliated with the federation are urged to send delegates to the assembly, and all conservation organizations not affiliated are invited to have members present to learn more about the largest statewide conservation organization in Minnesota.

Homer C. Luick, Minneapolis, president of the federation, reports that an excellent program has been planned for Saturday and Sunday with nationally-known speakers. Claude Kelley, president of the National Wildlife Federation, Washington, D. C., during the last ten years, will give an address at the Saturday noon luncheon.

Dr. Clarence Cottam will give the address at the Saturday evening banquet. He is director of the Welder Wildlife Foundation, Sinton, Texas and was recently elected president and chairman of the board of the National Parks association.

D., with a 24-24 for a 48. The Softball Playoffs

It must be reported as good news for the softball fans that the team managers and league directors of the city softball league decided to hold a six-team playoff. The first round games of the playoffs are slated for this week, starting on Monday evening with Len's Tire Service playing the Bums, game time is at 6:15 P.M. On Tuesday evening, also at 6:15 P.M., the Vets will play the Bridgeman's.

The winners of these first round games will then join the two "seeded" teams, the Hartz Stores and the Hamm's Beer, in a semi-final round. The semi-finals are scheduled for next week, perhaps on Monday and Tuesday.

In all the years that we have been following softball play on the local level, we can never recall a season when the competition has been as well-balanced as this year. And our recollection goes back to the days of the Lambert's Drugs, the Soo Line, the Farmers, an Gordy Ballingrud's pitching. This season the six-team league played a total of 29 games (the final game between the V.F.W. and the Bums was cancelled), and of these games, thirteen were decided by the margin of one run. Such a mark, nearly fifty percent, speaks well of the balance of the teams in the league. And if the Vets and the Bums had been able to secure some consistent pitching, this record would have been more remarkable.

And now it's into the playoffs. Judged on their play in the late stages of the schedule, we'll have to give a slight edge to Gene Sack's Hamm's Beer team. The Hamm's are enjoying a five-game winning streak, including a 6 to 5 win over the league champion Hartz club last week, and they will be rugged competition in the playoffs. It's a pretty solid ball team that manager Sack can put on the field, having Freddy Dablow at catcher, Glenn Carlson at first base, Bob Gaarder at second base, Rod Collins at shortstop, Roy Pederson at third base, and Rod Max, Dean Anderson, Vern Solheim at Sack in the outfield. Bib George Janssen will probably get the hurling assignment for the playoff games, but Mike McMahon will be available for relief duty.

Baseball Returns to Crookston

After a lapse of several years, baseball, on a city-team basis, will return to Crookston. Plans have been completed for the formation of a senior baseball organization to further senior baseball interest in Crookston.

Rod Olstad, the former Halstad high school star, and later a standout pitcher for the Minnesota Gophers, has agreed to manage the Pirates next season. And Rod will give Crookston capable direction, and with the material that is available the Pirates should be a contender in whichever league they join. A number of the boys, such as Jerry and Brice Lindell, Tom Fenno, Jim Turer, Curt Hannah, and others are playing with teams in the Norman-Polk league. They are anxious to play ball for their home-town Pirates.

Crookston has always had a fine baseball tradition, and the Pirates in former years were one of northwestern Minnesota's strongest teams. At one time Crookston was represented by a team in the Northern league, and it was as a Pirate catcher that Wes Westrum made his first appearance in Organized Ball. Wes moved up to the Minneapolis Millers, and then to the New York Giants.

Following the removal of the Northern league franchise from Crookston, the Pirates joined the Northern Minny league. For many years, the Pirates, under the direction of Bill Lacies and Ken Dupuis, were a factor in the championship race. The Pirates of those days had such home-town talent as Bud Schreder, Andy Carey, Toddy Johnson, Glenn Gumila, Buck Merell, Jimmy Medved, Bunny Holst, and Vern Peltelr. One trouble with the Crookston set-up in those days was that the younger players had a difficult time in breaking into this veteran line-up. The result was that Crookston baseball went into a decline when these veteran players retired.

In these days of many and varied outside activities, it is impossible to keep the interest of youngsters in baseball if they have to sit on the bench. The young fellows have to get into the game, and that's the way it should be.

We're glad to see senior baseball return to Crookston.

Glad That's Over

That 122 to 122 tie with the Ben Franklin team last Thursday was surely a relief for the Times' trapshooting squad, for it gave the printers a single point in the league standings and the 1960 league championship.

The pressure was on Gene Gaer's squad when the shooting began on Wednesday evening, but the Ben Franklins proved nerveless as they came in with a 122, dropping but three birds off of a perfect 125.

The Times had only three shooters at the traps on Wednesday, and this trio posted a 22, a 23, and a 25. So when the shooting resumed on Thursday evening, it was evident that the Times needed a pair of 25's and a 24 for a tie. And they got them!

The Times squad — Clarence and Bob Mattson, Bill Dahlquist, George Mostue, Mel Zitzow, Jim Rude, and Leif Erickson — are well-satisfied with that tie match, and happy that they do not have to meet the Franklins in a shoot-off

The first discovery of the famous nickel-copper deposits in the Sudbury District of Ontario was recorded about 1856, but it was not until construction operations of the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1883 unearthed rich ore bodies that the real discovery was made.

The element nickel was discovered in 1751 by the Swedish scientist Axel Frederick Cronstedt.

Bums in Finals of Pen-Ro-Shall Loop

To Face Greenbush in Playoff Finals Sunday

In Pen-Ro-Shall league playoff play on Sunday, with games being played at Thief River Falls and Greenbush, the Thief River Falls Bums and Greenbush scored victories to move into the league finals. The Bums, in a ten-inning game, defeated Badger, 9 to 8; and Greenbush scored an 11 to 5 win over Goodridge. Next Sunday's playoff finals game, with the winner gaining a berth in the Class B regional tournament, will be played at Greenbush.

Manager Wally Grovum's Bums scored their game-winning run over Badger in the tenth inning when, with two men out, Darrell Rude drew a walk, stole second, and scored on Larry Gilbertson's ground single past second base.

Badger, trailing by five runs, 7 to 2, entering the sixth inning, scored four runs in that frame, And in the eighth inning, on Lloyd Blackbird's home run over the left field fence, evened the game at 7-all. Badger moved into a one-run lead in the top of the ninth inning, but the Bums, with Vern Solheim executing a neat bunt, sent the game into extra innings when Larry (Buzz) Ward came across the plate with the tying run.

Ron Christofferson, pitching for Badger, collected eighteen strikeouts during the game, revealing a sweeping curve ball that proved puzzling to the Bums' batters.

State Group Asks Big Hike in School Aids

Educators Call for $42 Million More in Next Biennium

The revised formula for state school aids backed Tuesday by the Minnesota Co-ordinating Committee for Education would raise the estimated two-year aid cost more than 42 million dollars.

The committee is the united front which seven major statewide education organizations present every two years to the state legislature. Besides endorsing a new aid formula, the group, meeting this week in St. Paul:

Restated its 1959 support of the legislature in whatever new tax it chooses to impose to finance the proposed school aid formula — "whether a general sales tax, revision in the rates of the Minnesota income tax, or any other tax."

Again endorsed withholding of state income taxes and left open the possibility that next month the committee will back a version of "withholding billed as "nonpartisan".

Called for immediate dissolution of school districts not operating schools and requested their attachment to operating districts.

Declared that by 1965 all areas of the state should be included within school districts operating a full grade and high school program.

Opposed any new school transportation aid formula that would reduce school districts' revenue from this source.

Spearheading committee action on first portions of its 1961 legislative program were William Wettergren, executive secretary of Minnesota School Boards association, and A. L. Gallop, executive secretary, Minnesota Education association.

They pointed out that even without changing the aid formula set in 1959, school enrollment increases would mean that 1961-63 aids would cost $17,395,000 more than the $189,005,000 appropriated by the last legislature.

Middle River Man Dies on Tractor

Chas. Wandersee, 69, Found Dead Tuesday Afternoon

A 69-year-old farmer living west of Middle River was found dead on his tractor by a passer-by late Tuesday afternoon.

Charles E. Wandersee, whose farm is seven miles west of Middle River on the Strandquist road, was found shortly before 5 p.m. still on his tractor in a field in front of his farm home. He had apparently turned off the ignition and thrown the tractor out of gear before he died.

He lived alone on the farm.

Hjalmer Lofstrom reported he saw Mr. Wandersee slumped over the steering wheel of the tractor when he passed the field just after 4 p.m., but thought that he was just bent over adjusting something on the tractor. When he returned that way later and saw the body in the same position Mr. Lofstrom realized that something was wrong and went into the field and found Mr. Wandersee dead. Mr. Lofstrom called the authorities.

Dr. Ernest E. Pumala, county coroner, investigated and said apparently the death was from natural causes. Deputy Sheriff Milan Sorenson assisted in the investigation.

CAB Issues 'Use it or Lose It' Order for Air Service to This City

A Washington report yesterday stated that the Civil Aeronautics Board, in an initial decision by the hearing examiner, Walter W. Bryan, ordered North Central Airlines to continue scheduled airline service to Brainerd and Bemidji for an indefinite period of time and recommended that service be continued on a "use it or lose it" basis to Thief River Falls and Winona.

This was interpreted as meaning that service could be discontinued at Thief River Falls and Winona if an average of five passenger boardings a day were not maintained. City attorney Robert Wurst is of the opinion that the matter will not be definitely decided until after a CAB hearing is held this fall in Washington.

Total boardings at Thief River Falls during the last twelve-month period is only a few short of the necessary 1,800 a year requirement.

Cigaret and Liquor Tax Checks Arrive

County and Subdivisions Receive Nearly $18,000

Nearly $18,000 arrived here Monday from the state treasurer's office, representing the money due Pennington county and its subdivisions as their share of the state liquor and cigaret taxes for the first six months of 1960.

County Treasurer Ellsworth Jorgenson received a check in the amount of $1,495.20 representing cigaret taxes at the rate of 80 cents per capita, this money remaining in the county revenue fund. Also received was $3,427.59 in liquor taxes, which will be allocated to the several townships on the basis of 61 cents per capita.

The city of Thief River Falls received $5,510.80 in cigaret taxes, and $4,221.86 in state liquor taxes.

The total distribution by the state of both cigaret and liquor tax money amounted to $4,205,000, the second highest in history. Tax rates on both cigarets and liquor were increased by the 1959 legislature. In the semi-annual distribution last August, the rate was 56c on cigarets and 50c on liquor.

The current distribution was based on 1950 census figures.

Welfare Bd. Seeks Foster Home for Blind Pupil, Age 6

Boy from Neighboring County to Attend New Class for Blind Here

The Pennington county welfare board is seeking a foster home in Thief River Falls for a blind boy, age six, from a neighboring county, who is coming to this city to attend the class for the blind being set up this fall by the local board of education, as required by a new state law, Ralph T. Hunt, executive secretary, stated this week.

Hunt asked that anyone in the community interested in providing a foster home for the boy notify him at the welfare office in the court house, or telephone MU 1-2880 as quickly as possible as little time remains for making arrangements.

Since the new class will be able to accommodate more blind pupils than there are in this locality, it is anticipated that more children will be coming here from surrounding communities.

Council Acts on Variety of City Business

Angle Parking to Continue on East 2nd st. for Present

Parking on Second st. between Main and Horace avs. will remain "as is" following voting on three different proposals at the regular August meeting of the city council Tuesday evening.

The matter, which has been discussed at length by the council, was last acted upon July 19. A motion at that time to change the parking to the parallel system on both sides of Second st. resulted in two affirmative votes, one negative vote and two abstentions and was ruled as not passing.

Alderman A. J. Rau, who introduced the motion at the July meeting, Tuesday night asked Robert Wurst, city attorney, for an opinion on the vote. Wurst told the council that the attorney general had ruled that abstention indicates consent by those who cast such votes in the majority vote of other members present and that the two affirmative votes were enough to pass the motion. However, he added, the action of the council referring the question to the safety council for its recommendation clouded the intention of the council and that another vote would clarify the matter.

Alderman A. B. Christianson's motion to have diagonal parking on both sides of the street was seconded by Alderman Harry Ranum but was voted against by Alderman Rau, Benson and Relerson.

Alderman Milton Relerson's motion to accept the safety council's recommendation that parallel parking be started on the south side of the street was seconded by Alderman Benson, was favorably voted on by Aldermen Relerson, Benson and Lee but was opposed by Aldermen Christianson, Ranum and Rau.

Alderman Benson's motion to begin parallel parking on both sides of the street was seconded by Alderman Rau but they cast the only favorable votes. The matter was tabled until the October meeting.

The proposed storm sewer project for the Dewey and Davis avs. area was rejected by the council following further discussion and the appearance of residents of the area who were against the project.

Roy Barzen, president, and Lawrence Bjorkman, vice president of the park board presented architect's sketches of a proposed 20 by 40-foot shelter house for Riverside park and, following suggestions for changes in the plans, the council voted to call for plans and specifications for the building. The original estimated cost of from $3,000 to $3,900 would be reduced through the use of a blacktop floor, steel supporting columns and other changes.

Building permits totaling $18,325 were approved. They included: Iver Nelson and Sons, 425 Maple av. S., new dwelling, $14,000; Oscar Arras, 107 Parkview st., domestic garage, $325; Iver

Ara Peterson Recently Wed to Rodney Burwell

Baskets of white gladioli with ferns and spiral candelabra graced the chancel of Trinity Lutheran church for the August 7 afternoon wedding of Miss Ara Peterson. The bride is the daughter of E. O. Peterson of this city and the late Mrs. Peterson. The groom, Rodney Palmer Burwell, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney H. Burwell of St. Paul.

Edward Fritzen, a soloist with the Minneapolis Apollo Club, sang "Song of Ruth," "O Perfect Love," and the "Lord's Prayer." Standing at the entrance of the church, the bride sang Grieg's "I Love Thee." Pastor Reuben A. Wangberg performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of approximately 250 guests. Mrs. Walter M. Larson was at the organ to play the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length white gown of silk organza over taffeta with a full-swing chapel train. The scoop neckline and short sleeves were enhanced by dainty scalloping. The fitted basque bodice dipped to a bridal V at the waist and billowed out into a bouffant skirt with appliques of Chantilly lace and iridescent paillettes which also decorated the Chantilly lace bodice. A pouf of imported silk illusion veiling fell from a tiara of pearls and sequins. Long white bridal gloves and an arm bouquet of long-stemmed white roses with lemon leaves completed the bride's ensemble.

The cotillion blue, ballerina length dresses of the attendants were also of silk organza. The bodices were underlined with Chantilly lace and they were ruffled, heart-shaped picture hats with long ribbon streamers in matching blue. They each wore a sterling silver necklace with a cultured pearl, gifts of the bride. Short white gloves and white shoes completed their attire.

The matron of honor, Kathryn Flom Henkel of Madison, Wisconsin, carried an arm bouquet of white daisy mums and pink rosebuds. The bridesmaids carried white baskets filled with the same flowers. Serving as bridesmaids were Lois Olson Montgomery of Fargo, Miss Rochelle Dahlen of this city and the bride's niece, Miss Susan Peterson of Windsor, New York.

The men of the bridal party wore dark tuxedos. The groom had a boutonniere of stephanotis and the other gentlemen wore white carnations. The best man was Richard Ramage of Grand Forks, and the other attendants included James Montgomery of Fargo, the groom's brother William Burwell of St. Paul, and Dan Cronin of Gettysburg, South Dakota. The bride's brothers, Edward A. Peterson of Coon Rapids, Minnesota, and James P. Peterson of Windsor, New York, served as ushers.

Mrs. D. C. Townsend of Belle Plaine, the bride's aunt, wore a beige dress with matching accessories. The mother of the groom wore a sheath dress of pink, overlaid with grey embroidered sheer and her gloves, veil, and shoes were matching pink. They were each presented with a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Stanton Dahlen, hostess, was in charge of arrangements for the reception following the ceremony with the Lutheran Welfare circle serving. White satin ribbon and fern, corresponding to the ribbon fastened with sprays of fern which draped the church pews, was also used to decorate the church parlors. Blue forget-me-nots, swans and a cluster of blue bells decorated the five-tier wedding cake which graced a round table draped with poufs of light blue organza. Mrs. Albert Berge and Mrs. William Walters cut the cake. The serving table was also draped with organza. Mrs. James Peterson and Mrs. Edward Peterson poured.

Throughout the reception Rosemary Dahlen carried a basket of individually wrapped pieces of groom's cake for the guests. She wore a blue organza dress styled similarly to those of the bridesmaids. Miss Jean Townsend of Belle Plaine was in charge of gifts and Miss Mary Ann Knuth and Miss Karen Thomton of Minneapolis were at the guest book. Miss Karen Ekstrand of this city, Miss Avis Robinson, and Miss Nancy Pederson of Minneapolis served the strawberry punch. Background music was provided by Jerry Joringdal at the organ.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and received her BA degree in 1959 from the University of North Dakota. She was also a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Until the time of her marriage, she was employed as a promotion writer for WTCN radio-TV in Minneapolis. The groom received a degree in business administration from the University of North Dakota in August of this year. He will be completing work toward an industrial engineering degree this coming year.

For her going-away outfit the bride wore a three piece, brown and white checked ensemble with a gay rust cotton lined jacket. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of white daisy mums. Returning August 15 from a trip to Ontario, the couple will make their home in Grand Forks.

The American born in 1961 can look forward to a life span of nearly 70 years. Since 1900 alone, average life expectancy has climbed an incredible 20 years. Medical progress is the great achiever of these revolutionary gains. New research and new knowledge today promise even further advances.

Nevertheless, neglecting to see a physician in time to benefit fully from modern medical science is cheating many not only of average years, but of extra years. Clearly, the great step toward better health and longer life is simple: regular medical check-ups.

Requirements for Wheat Loan Listed

Marshall County ASC Gives Farm-stored Terms

Wheat of the 1960 crop to be offered as security for a farm-storage price-support loan must have been stored in a satisfactory granary for at least 30 days before it is inspected for measurement, sampling and sealing, Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today in a harvest-time reminder to wheat growers.

Other principal farm-storage wheat loan requirements were listed by Mr. Johnson as follows:

1. Ownership of the wheat must rest in the producer who is seeking the loan or in him and a former producer whom he succeeded before the wheat was harvested.

2. Wheat must grade No. 3 or better, or grade No. 4 or No. 5 on the factor of test weight only, or be classed as mixed wheat provided the mixture is a natural product of the field.

3. Wheat grading "tough," "weevily," "ergoty" or "treated" is ineligible for a farm-storage loan.

The basic price support rate for farm-stored wheat in Marshall county is $1.86 per bushel for No. 1 wheat. High protein content brings a premium. Discounts rate from 1 cent a bushel for No. 2 to 15 cents a bushel for garlicky. In addition there is a discount of 20 cents a bushel for 37 specified varieties which are classed as undesirable because of inferior milling or baking qualities.

Application for a wheat loan should be made at the Marshall County ASC office, 406 North Minnesota Street, Warren.

Maurice Nelson, Fosston, Heads Steering Committee

A steering committee of the Langen for Congress Volunteer Committee met in Crookston Friday night to discuss plans for the upcoming campaign in which they will work for the reelection of the incumbent Ninth district representative, Congressman Odin Langen of Kennedy.

The committee, headed by Maurice O. Nelson of Fosston, is composed of farm, business, labor, and professional people of both political parties who have stated their purpose in the campaign as one of "maintaining the respected and hard-working representation which the people of the Ninth District presently have in Washington by reelecting Congressman Langen."

Nelson said the committee has members in all of the Ninth District's 15 counties who will be actively campaigning for Langen and added that the group is open to all interested.

Langen told the group, "Your efforts in the 1958 campaign were vital and instrumental to the success achieved at that time and I am looking forward with enthusiasm to working with you again. Especially during the time between now and Labor Day, when I will be in Washington for the reconvened session of Congress, it is reassuring to know that you will be carrying the campaign forward throughout the Ninth District."

Langen left for Washington Sunday, and said he hoped Congress could complete its work early in September.

Lions Honor 9 Who Missed No Meeting

Had Perfect Attendance Records for 1 to 3 Years

In behalf of the Lions club, James Parkins, past district governor, presented a group of nine members with pins in recognition of one to three years perfect attendance at a luncheon meeting Wednesday noon.

At the same time, Clarence Mattson, club president, presented Parkins with a past district governor's plaque in tribute to the excellent service given by him during his term of office, which ended in July.

Gordon Relerson was honored for his three-year record of perfect attendance, while recipients of two-year awards included Ralph A. Luhman, Merle Lindberg, Dr. George Martin, Clarence Mattson and Wendell Olson. Cited for one year perfect attendance were R. S. Eldevik, George Hale and Phil Kays.

Parkins also submitted a report on the recent convention of Lions International in Chicago, at which this district was cited for its achievements during the past year under Parkins' direction.

Nelson and Sons, 206 Maple av. N., domestic garage, $750; Elmer J. Martini, 701 Markley av. S., domestic garage, $150; and Clarence Forsberg, 212 Kendall av. N., domestic garage, $800.

A junk dealer's license was approved for Joe Evans, Eighth st. and Davis av.

Resolutions were adopted for the payment of $135,313.50 for various projects in the city including Westinghouse Electric Supply company, switchgear materials, $18,021.48; Ranum Construction company, parking lot driveways, $362.70; Ranum Construction company, final estimate on filter equipment for the water plant, $250; Central States Construction company, estimate four on storm sewer district three, $13,990.83; Ranum Construction company, estimate two on 1960 street project, $2,598.26; Oscar Schenkey, semi-final estimate on 1960 street project work, $3,325; Swingen Construction company, estimate one final on 1960 street project, $10,282.13; Chicago Bridge & Iron company, elevated tank, estimate one, $27,329.71; Acme Construction company, estimate one on waterworks improvement, $54,339.79 and Municipal Equipment company, power sewer rodding machine, $1,813.30.

The request of Duane Ostrand, 509 Tindolph av. S., to connect to city water and sewer lines was denied. The home is in an area outside the city limits. Councilmen questioned whether a $15 charge each year in addition to the connection fee, regular water and sewer charges and the cost of installation was adequate. The fee was set up a number of years ago when it matched taxes city residents paid. Council members expressed the opinion that those who wish service in the future as well as those now served should pay a greater amount. The matter of rates was turned over to the sanitation committee for investigation and a report will be made at the next council meeting.

A request that an additional week's pay be given to Gene Sack, baseball coach, for tournament play. The request was approved.

The council tabled a request by the fire department to appoint Ray C. Olson as a volunteer fireman to succeed Jack McGill. It approved the appointment of Olson as an apprentice lineman and Robert Reopelle as a meterman effective Sept. 1.

Election judges were approved by the council and will receive $1 an hour. First ward judges will be H. L. Schuster, Anne Aaseby and Iola Knutson; second ward, Russell Olson, Gaston Ward and Marie Hellquist; third ward, Mae L. Johnson, Edith Sandum and George Westby; fourth ward, Inga Melby, Mary Hedlund and Christine Barstad; and fifth ward, Mary Dryden, Mrs. Clifford Larson and Mrs. George Mundt. Two clerks for each ward will be appointed by the judges.

A resolution was adopted, fixing the polling places for the primary election Sept. 13 and the November general election. First ward voters will cast their ballots at Northrop school, 914 LaBree av. N., second ward voters at the Masonic hall, 219 Fifth st. W.; third ward voters at the city Auditorium, 123 Main av. N.; fourth ward voters at the Knox school, 701 Hughes st. E. and fifth ward voters at St. John's Lutheran church, First st. E. and Pine av.

James Winjum, Jr., asked that the council establish two hour parking between Horace and Atlantic avs. on Second st. and between Second and Third sts. on Atlantic av. The matter will be taken up at the October meeting.

AWARD Charles Anderson, right, received a life saving award from Ed Belik, left, field Scout executive, during a banquet Saturday marking the silver anniversary of Holt Troop 112. The Scout is shown with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Anderson, center. He was honored for saving his mother's life by applying artificial respiration after she had been nearly electrocuted.

Further investigation by the police will be made of conditions reported by Christine E. Gelfer, 106 State av. S. She had reported unsanitary conditions in the area.

The council directed D. H. Stewart, consulting engineer, to prepare an assessment roll for the street project now underway north of the business district. The roll will be presented at the next council meeting.

A crack in the south wall of the water treatment plant which has caused some decrease in the quality of water produced for the city was reported and the council adopted a resolution calling for repair of the building.

Thief River Falls will be represented Monday, Aug. 22, at a meeting of the Midwest Electric Consumers in Sioux Falls. The council voted to send Morris Owen, superintendent of the power plant, and Alderman Roy Lee to the meeting which will also be attended by W. E. Dahlquist. Purpose of the meeting is to discuss future power for the area including Thief River Falls.

Bids for stoker coal for city buildings for the 1960-61 heating season were called for and will be opened at the regular October meeting.

Apparently there is some misunderstanding between the state and the city on what the city will provide for the proposed roadside park east of the Eighth st. bridge. Robert Wurst, city attorney, told the council that he has received communications from the state asking that tables, benches toilet facilities, parking and maintenance be the responsibility of the city. Councilmen were in agreement that these things had not been promised and instructed the attorney to advise the state on the matter. Correspondence with the state will be examined.

The matter of load limits on city streets was tabled until the ordinance can be more clearly defined. A request for a used truck for the water department was also tabled.

The final matter taken up was a retirement schedule for city employes. Schedules used in other cities were examined and the matter will be discussed at a later meeting.

Shower Brings .4 In. Rain Wednesday

High Humidity Prevails In Area During Week

Although high temperatures this week have been mostly in the middle and upper 70's, climbing to 88 Tuesday, high humidity has made the climate uncomfortable at times.

Strong winds of from 20 to 25 miles an hour gusting to 30 to 35 have been recorded the first half of the week.

The drought was alleviated Wednesday when 0.4 inch of rain fell but more is needed to revive pastures and lawns.

Partly cloudy with widely scattered showers and a few thunderstorms today through tomorrow are in the KTRF forecast. A little cooler today and tonight has also been promised.

Highs today should range from 76 to 82 and lows tonight from 60 to 65. Moderate southerly winds today are expected to become westerly tonight and tomorrow.

Daytime temperatures this week have ranged from Sunday's 74 to Tuesday's 88 and early morning readings from 43 Sunday to 69 this morning, according to the North Central airlines reporter at the municipal airport.

Lamb Crop in '60 Is 2 Pct. Larger Than a Year Ago

The 1960 lamb crop totaled 21,584,000 head, two per cent larger than the crop produced in 1959 and 11 per cent above the 1949-58 average, according to the latest lamb crop information received at the Marshal county agricultural stabilization and conservation office. The number of lambs saved per 100 ewes this year is 95, which is one point below last year but three points above the average.

An increase in lamb numbers is in accord with the purpose of the national wool program, A. E. Strandquist of the ASC office pointed out. Under the wool-program, incentive payments are made on wool and lambs with the objective of increasing the national wool crop to 300 million pounds a year and thus reducing the deficit in wool production.

Burglars Steal over $1,500 from Crookston Store

Burglars peeled the door off a safe in Johnson's Super Fair market in Crookston some time over the weekend and stole between $1,500 and $2,000 in cash.

Harold Johnson, one of the owners, discovered the burglary late Sunday. He said the back door had been pried open, but apparently from the inside.

This led him to believe someone may have hidden in the store before it closed at 9 p.m. Saturday and then pried open the back door to admit confederates.

A tear gas device inside the safe failed to go off.

Error Is Made in Report on Case in Municipal Court

A story in the Times two weeks ago, regarding municipal court action against one Helmer Hinden, city, was in error concerning the charges against Hinden.

Contrary to the story, alcoholic beverages had no part in the charges against Hinden but, rather, he was fined as the result of violation of the state driver licensing laws. In his second recent appearance in court his license plates and registration card were ordered impounded.

The Times' court/reporter regrets the error on his part, which was the result of a misunderstanding.

Fosston Eliminates Thieves in Playoffs

Jerry Hauble's three-base hit to the fence in right-center with the bases loaded in the fourth inning, provided the Fosston club with the margin of runs that gave manager Stan Otness' club a 5 to 2 win over the Thieves in a Northern Minny league playoff game played at Bagley on Tuesday night. The loss eliminated the Thieves from the playoffs, and the win moved Fosston into the semi-final bracket against the loser of the Cass Lake vs. Bagley game. This semi-finals game will be played at Fosston on Sunday afternoon.

In Tuesday night's game, Fosston picked up a run in the top half of the first inning when, with two men out, Dave Carlin lined a triple to right-center, and scored when Daryl Foster's ground-ball down the first-base line hit the bag and caromed into right field for a double.

In the fourth inning, Fosston's Otness lofted a fly ball to center field for an out. Dick Schuchardt singled to center; Bill Malwitz and Wally Olson walked, loading the bases. Lyle Gutterud looped a fly ball over second base, on which Bob Hallameck made a fine catch. Hauble, after fouling of a pair of three-and-two pitches, rapped a three-run triple to right-center.

Fosston scored their final tally of the game in the sixth inning when Malwitz singled, stole second, and scored on Gutterud's single to left field.

The Thieves, held to but two hits in the first six innings of play, and both safeties being garnered by lead-off batter Rod Collins, nicked righthander Schuchardt for two hits and a run in the seventh inning. Hallameck singled to right field, moved to second on a passed ball and scored on John Drury's line double to left field. Schuchardt, who was throwing an assortment of so-called "junk," struck out Dennis Bakke, retired Duane Hodsdon on a pop foul, and got Gary Klungness on a fly ball to center field.

The Thieves added a run in the ninth inning when Drury led off with a triple to right-center. Paul Klungness, running for Drury, scored on an error by the Fosston infield on Gary Klungness' ground ball. With runners on first and second and one out, Rod Collins flied to center field, and Harlie Drees ended the game by lofting a fly ball to Otness in right field.

Arlan Hjelle, making his second start in two days the pitched against Cass Lake on Sunday night pitched a creditable game, and but for a "bar" pitch to Hauble, and the "tainted" double by Foster, would have been the winner.

A Trophy Trout

Roy and Dorothy Shetler, and their sons Tommy and David returned last week from a two-week fishing and vacation trip to Saskatchewan's famed Lac LaRonge. And the honored guest on the return trip was a 28-pound lake trout that Roy hooked and landed on the last day of their sojourn at the lake.

The party made the trip by car, and towed a boat and trailer, and the 1000-mile journey was uneventful. The highway, except for a 100-mile stretch north of Regina, and another stretch from Prince Albert to the lake, was blacktop. These two stretches were gravel, but the driving wasn't hazardous.

Reaching Lac Ronge, Roy unloaded his boat and the party left for Hunter Bay, the water that is rated as the best for mid-summer lake trout fishing. This time of the year is not rated highly as fishing weather, but Roy stated that the fishing they had was "fabulous." Most of their success, and they were throwing away the small (five and six pound) trout, was had by trolling red-eye spoons, in brass or nickel finishes. It was on such a spoon that Roy made his catch of the big trout.

Sharing honors with Roy's lake trout was the 15-pound northern pike that was caught by ten-year old David. The youngster, fishing off the rocks near the family's cabin camp, hooked this pike, and after a tussle that lasted for ten or fifteen minutes, he was able to beach the fish. It was a well-formed and hefty pike, too.

The "one that got away" provided the party with a number of thrills, too. This big fish, and according to Roy, is was a heavy trout, perhaps up into the thirty or forty-pound class, struck on the spoon trolled by wife Dorothy. Dorothy brought the fish up from the deep water, but then realizing that it was of "prize" size, handed the rod to Roy. Unfortunately, Roy's line was not reeled in to the boat, and the trout succeeded in tangling the two lines, and so was able to tear itself loose.

The Shteler's are already making plans for a return trip to Lac LaRonge. That trout should have added a couple of pounds by that time.

It's Championship Week

A number of championships will be placed on the line this coming week, and these championships "battles" should provide some first-rate entertainment.

First on the list is the third annual Thief River Trap club championship. This event will take place this evening, Thursday, at the traps north of town, with such shooters as Stan and Sandy Wilson, Clarence and Bob Mattson, Jerry Amundgaard, Dr. Jim Disse, Si Schantzen, Tony Dorn, Leif Erickson, Ray Thyren, and several others. If a favorite can be named, it's probable that Sandy Wilson is entitled to the honor. Sandy won the fifty-bird event last Sunday against a field of fine shooters. In addition Sandy has been tested thoroughly in some big trap shoots held in the Midwest this season, and this experience should prove of value.

Secondly, we have the golf club championship matches that are slated to begin on Sunday, August 21, and conclude on Sunday, August 28. In the championship flight we'll find such golfers as Larry (Shorty) Perkins, Reid Stromberg, Stan Larson, John Moum, Ron Solheim, Rudy Mehlhoff, Ron Kvikstad, and a couple more. Except for Shorty Perkins, who has competed in the Bemidji Birchmont and the Detroit Lakes Pine-to-Palm, the field is evenly matched. If the tournament was based on a thirty-six hole medal-play, Shorty would be a heavy favorite, but in match play, as the club championship is conducted, anything can happen, and perhaps will.

And third, on Monday evening the first round of the city softball league double-elimination series will begin with the Len's Tire Service playing the Bridgeman's. On Tuesday evening the league-champion Hartz Stores will play the Hamm's beer. On Thursday evening the losers of the first round games will play, with the loser of this game being eliminated. And on Monday, August 29, the winners of the first round games will meet.

11 Girls Vie Aug. 27 for Title of Princess Kay

One of 11 pretty Minnesota dairy farm girls will become Minnesota's seventh Princess Kay of the Milky Way on opening night of the Minnesota State Fair August 27.

Eleven candidates — one more than in previous years — representing 11 regions of the state will gather in the Twin Cities for the annual state contest which opens August 24.

The winner—to be crowned by reigning Princess Kay Betty Jax of Adams, Minn.—will become the full-time ambassador for Minnesota's 90,000 dairy farmers for the coming year. She can look forward to more than 50,000 miles of travel and some 600 personal appearances on behalf of the dairy industry.

With the title go a $500 college scholarship, a complete wardrobe, a regular salary as an employe of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee (state unit of the American Dairy Association) and the right to compete in the American Dairy Princess Contest in Chicago, October 28-30.

The 11 finalists were chosen from a total of 1,087 girls who participated in preliminary dairy princess contests on community, county and regional levels this summer. All 11 candidates won their regional dairy princess crowns during Minnesota's statewide June Dairy Month observance.

As Princess Kay the contest winner will appear and speak before hundreds of groups both within and outside of agriculture.

More than 100 commitments for the new Princess Kay are scheduled already.

Interest in state preliminary contests has reached a new all-time high, according to Manager L. H. (Lew) Conlon of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee.

"Our county and regional American Dairy Association committees across the state have reported finding more enthusiasm and interest in the dairy princess activities this year than ever before," Conlon noted.

Candidates for the Princess Kay title include in this region, No. 1, Jeanette de Vries, 20, Ada, Minn., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter de Vries. Blond, blue eyes, 5-7, 135 pounds. Graduate of Ada high school; currently a junior at Moorhead State college. A 4-H club member and officer. Enjoys roller skating, ice skating, dancing, bowling, tennis, archery, softball and cooking. Crowned Northwest Dairy Princess at Thief River Falls June 14, she represents Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau and Marshall counties.

Seek to Prohibit Import of Piranha Fish into Country

Voracious Fish from South America Termed Menace to Human Beings

Piranha—the vicious flesh eating South American fish—has become a subject for serious concern on the part of the California department of fish and game. In a news bulletin recently, the department expressed its alarm at the importation of the fish which are being sold to home aquarium hobbyists.

It is feared that if they were released into central California rivers, they might be able to survive and reproduce, the report stated.

There are various species of these fish which will strip all the flesh from a man or animal in a matter of minutes. The fish are so voracious that they have been known to tear out the tongue of an animal daring to drink from a stream they inhabit.

If the fish were to find their way into North American waters, it would mean an end to all swimming and boating in those areas where they were able to survive.

The report said that a bill to ban importation of piranha throughout the United States has been introduced in Congress. It has passed the House and is scheduled for hearing by the Senate judiciary committee.

In addition, the department of fish and game plans to ask the next session of the California legislature for legislation to halt the importation of the dreaded fish into the state.

N.W. Counties to Get Funds under New State Law

Seven Minnesota counties will share nearly $100,000 in the first allocation of funds under a new law governing state-county division of income from consolidated conservation lands.

Under the new law, the counties of Aitkin, Beltrami, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen and Roseau receive one-half of all income the state derives from these lands.

The consolidated conservation lands are those the state received from repaying indebtedness incurred years ago by the counties when their efforts to convert swamps and forest land to agricultural use by ditching and drainage failed.

Lake of the Woods county receives by far the largest share, amounting to over $30,700.

Bids Called for on Kittson Co. Jobs

The Minnesota Highway department announced bids will be received on five county state-aid highway projects during the week of September 5. The projects include Kittson county: CSAH 4 — Grading, sand-gravel base and gravel surfacing of 4.9 miles between T.H. 75 in Northcote and a point one mile east of CSAH 1; and CSAH 14—Grading, gravel base and road-mixed bituminous base on 1.8 miles between the south county line and a point 374 feet south of the south limits of Karlstad. Bids will be received September 6 by the county auditor A. P. Lofgren, at the court house in Hallock.

"To make democracy work, freedom must be used with responsibility and restraint. It must find expression in the lives and labors of men and women who see public responsibility no less demanding than their private pursuits—men and women willing to give of their time and talents for the common good of all."
—Governor LeRoy Collins of Florida

Our Prospects Improve

From Jakarta, Indonesia, come reports of government action against Communist activities and organizations. A senior army official reported that security troops had raided the national headquarters of the Communist party and that "evidence of suspicious activities had been discovered."

Reports from nearby Cuba and the more distant backward nations thruout the world are so often discouraging that we find this news from Indonesia particularly encouraging.

Castro has seized nearly all major American properties and investments in Cuba, and it may be assumed that if his regime remains in power the islands will be a Communist outpost and a sounding board for hate-United States propaganda thruout South and Central America.

But these matters will be considered at a meeting of foreign ministers of South and Central American countries being held in Costa Rica this week. Our officials will have an opportunity to present the facts to the representatives of governments that have indicated their opposition to the Castro tactics, which, if encouraged, would put an end to all foreign investments. The Castro government, already in trouble at home, will be further weakened by decreasing sympathy and support from its neighbors.

The news from Indonesia is encouraging, and the developments at the Costa Rica meeting are expected to be favorable. There are some bright spots in the recent developments.

Management of Energy

Hoard's Dairyman quotes an Earl L. Butz on the relative energy potential of a man and an electric light bulb. While this quotation refers especially to farm operations, it applies with equal force to all of our production, processing and marketing operations. Says Earl Butz:

"Human energy is much less important in today's farm operation. Energy can be purchased so much more cheaply than it can be provided by man. The average human body doing ordinary farm labor, delivers energy roughly equivalent to the energy in a 50-watt light bulb. This is worth something less than 1 cent per hour.

"Man is not worth much simply as a source of energy. The 'man with the hoe' doesn't command a very high return in modern agriculture or in any other industry for that matter.

"The successful dairy farmer of the decade ahead will not be a supplier of energy. He will be a manager of large amounts of energy, capital, and technology."

There was a time when a man with one horse had quite an advantage over the competitor who had no horse. Now most of us have the energy and power of hundreds of horses at our disposal, for both productive use and for pleasure.

The energy of thousands of horses is available to all of us in our present highly developed industrial economy. Our survival in a world that is becoming increasingly competitive, depends more and more upon our ability to direct wisely this vast energy.

But let's not forget that good management also requires a vast supply of energy, and much of this energy is needed in acquiring the know-how of good management.

Earl Butz opened the door to an interesting field of speculation.

Welcome President Kennedy

One of the nation's top-level leaders of organized labor will be visiting our city this week and will speak at a dinner meeting Friday evening at the Eagles Hall. William Parker Kennedy is the national head of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The organization's jurisdiction includes Canada so actually President Kennedy heads an international union.

Joining with the local lodge of the B. of R. T. in sponsorship of the Friday evening dinner meeting is the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Kennedy will discuss the problems of labor, the farmers and small business.

This is the kind of a meeting we should have more of. We like the idea of joint sponsorship by two groups that will both benefit by an exchange of ideas. And we like to listen to a good speaker discuss problems of general interest on which there are many conflicting opinions.

Mr. Kennedy has the reputation of being a man who expresses himself well and says what he thinks. We welcome him cordially to our city.

Meetings of the Men Who Know

From Helsinki, Finland, last week came news of a meeting of the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics, an organization of scientists concerned with a lot of things we do not understand. Much of their time was devoted to the results of the International Geophysical Year of 1957-58, which the leader of the American delegation referred to as an "almost unbelieveable success."

These fellows put in a lot of time figuring out what makes things click on this little planet of ours and its relationship to all the other planets and their moons, and the stars, and the many solar systems that whirl around in the universe. The delegates to the Helsinki meeting were thrilled by the discovery that there now has been "a clarification of the sequence of events following certain solar flares." Now we won't worry about that any more.

But what did interest us was the election of officers of the Union. Prof. Vladimir V. Beloussov of the Soviet Union is the new president, succeeding Prof. J. Tuzo Wilson of the University of Toronto. Prof. Joseph Kaplan of the University of California, and Dr. Julius Bartels, a West German, were elected vice presidents.

We get considerable comfort out of knowing that men of this type are meeting and exchanging information with each other. It is interesting to know that with the election of Dr. Beloussov, Russians now head two of the international organizations concerned with space research. The other organization, the International Astronautical Federation, meets in Stockholm this week.

As long as our top men in the field of science meet regularly with the top men of Russia and other nations, exchanging information and ideas, the Khrushchevs become less important.

Aid to Education

(Detroit Lakes Tribune)

Advocates of federal aid to education have a bill pending in Congress proposing appropriation of $975 million at the rate of $325 million for the next three years to finance new school building. This is based on the house education and labor committee report indicating an annual requirement of 52,700 more classrooms for the period from 1960 through 1964.

Federal aid is justified in any area only on the premise that an essential need cannot be supplied by the local community. What is the record in this regard insofar as school building is concerned? We are told that in the past decade—without any Federal aid—the classroom additions have averaged 59,400 per year and that, since 1955, this average has been 66,900 classrooms per year.

Obviously the over-all aggregate need has been met in recent years. But has the need been met in the states where it is most acute? This is a moot question which would be difficult to answer. However, it would appear that if the distribution has not been equitable, then the pending legislation is not the answer, for, under the prposed bill, 42 per cent of the Federal tax money appropriated would go to only seven states. In addition to Ohio, these favored seven include New York, California, Pennsylvania, Texas, Illinois and Michigan. These hardly can be rated as the "neediest" states.

Alien Land Law

(Seattle Post-Intelligencer)

The people of the State of Washington can be proud that more Japanese Americans per capita from their state volunteered in World War II for combat duty with the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, and for military intelligence, than from any other Pacific Coast state.

They volunteered, you remember, from an internment camp.

They won more than their share of medals, including the Purple Heart.

It is in their name that we ask fellow Washingtonians to vote affirmatively on Senate Joint Resolution No. 4 next November 8.

Such an affirmative vote would repeal the Alien Land Law which has been nullified and voided by both courts and Congress. Even though it has been so nullified and voided it should be expunged from our state constitution.

Pacific Coast states passed such laws some 40 years ago at the height of anti-Oriental prejudice and bigotry. They prohibited the ownership of land by lawfully resident aliens of Japanese ancestry.

Today only Washington State on the Pacific Coast has an Alien Land Law. The last session of the Legislature voted to place the issue on the ballot for the 1960 general election—so that the people of the state may formally repeal a dead and racist-inspired law.

The Post-Intelligencer believes that the citizens of Washington State will do so, by an overwhelming vote.

Amazing Promise

(Christian Science Monitor)

Many curious and unlikely things are written into party platforms. But this one we would not have believed if we had not read it:

> "We will support whatever action is necessary to eliminate literacy tests . . . as requirements for voting."

That remarkable statement is part of the Democratic plank on civil rights.

An attempt to bar literacy tests by federal action would probably be ruled unconstitutional. For the Constitution gives states the right to fix the qualifications of voters. Eighteen states have such provisions for obtaining an informed electorate—at least one that can read.

More than half these states are outside the South. There is no evidence that their laws are being used to keep qualified Negroes from voting. Such laws are in themselves no more discriminatory than those which bar children or the insane. They are in fact, reasonable and needed safeguards. Should all states be denied their protections because a few have abused such statutes?

The very existence of such an extreme and ill-considered proposal has two evil effects. It nourishs fears and false hopes alike. It gives white southerners fresh ground for suspicions that northerners either have no understanding of their problems or no regard for their rights. Of course it is unlikely that any Congress will enact such a destructive proposal. But therein lies the second evil—popular disillusionment and cynicism created by the making of promises which cannot be fulfilled.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

A pedestrian is a man with a wife, a daughter, two sons and only one car.

"Don't fool yourself, he doesn't even suspect anything."

You and Your Eyes

In What Grade Will Your Child's Eyes Flunk?

Reading in school. Reading at home. Television. Movies. Bright sunlight outdoors. The glare of lights at night. All these make tremendous demands on the eyes of today's youngster.

Under these circumstances how far will your child's eyesight carry him in the world of learning? In what grade will your child's vision "give out" and make going to school a misery rather than the fun it should be? Much depends on you.

You can't count on children to recognize their own seeing difficulties. Their only hope for the preservation of their youthful sharpsightedness lies with you. And your job is easy.

First of all, have your child's eyesight examined at the age of three or four and at regular intervals thereafter. Don't rely solely on school examinations.

Here are other easy ways you can help. Make sure your child reads with erect posture and adequate light falling over his shoulder onto the page. The page should be about 15 inches from his eyes. Avoid glaring direct lighting from gooseneck lamps. Help his posture with the correct size furniture.

And very important, take your child for an eye examination if you see any of these warning signs: constant rubbing of eyes, frowning or scowling, watering eyes, reddish eyelids, squinting, dislike for reading, crossed eyes, aversion to bright lights, holding material wrong distance from eyes.

An estimated 83 per cent of all knowledge comes through the eyes. That's why failure of vision so often means failure in school. So guard your child's eyesight. He's depending on you — for a better education, for the lifelong joy of better vision.

CHEVROLET
"These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck...but not our Chevy"
Few trucks are subjected to the body-wracking beatings that are part of a day's work for this Chevrolet Series 60 pulpwood hauler. It's owned by J. E. Fox, North Carolina logging contractor. As Bobby Fox, a partner in the business says, "Loaded with pulpwood, we drive over stumps and potholes you'd think would tear the truck to pieces. These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck, but not our Chevy. We can average an extra load a day . . . make $45 to $50 a day more with this Chevy than we can with the others."
In every weight class these Chevies are doing more work at less expense than trucks have ever done before. Drive one at your Chevrolet dealer's. It's an experience that could pay you big dividends.
◄ "That 6-cylinder engine really performs," says Bobby Fox. "It's got the lugging power we need in the woods and walks right along with a full load on the highway."

Safe Living for Aged Topic of Conference

"Why is the older pedestrian such a victim in traffic" will be the topic of a "How-to-do-it" panel to be presented at the Governor's Conference on Aging in the Pick-Nicollet hotel, Minneapolis, on August 26.

Mark Markson, chief of the highway safety promotion section, speaking as one of the panelists on "What Are We Doing in Adult Education" points out that there is a particular problem behind the high percentage of older persons who are traffic victims. "When the background of these pedestrians is checked, we find that in almost every case the older pedestrians had driven an automobile. They are not familiar with what the driver can or cannot do to avoid a collision. The older pedestrian is very often wearing darker, more conservative clothing and doesn't protect himself while walking." How to educate everyone to the dangers of being a pedestrian in today's traffic will be Markson's subject.

Dr. Edward L. Bortz, one of America's big names in medicine will speak on "Changing Man in a Changing Society," while Joseph Borus, regional director of the federal bureau of employment security, will discuss the older worker in the Department of Labor manpower forecast.

The field of health will be spearheaded by Dr. Wilfred D. David, chief, chronic disease program, U.S. Public Health Service, with a talk on the "Challenge of Home Care." In addition to traffic safety, the Minnesota Safety Council will emphasize "How-To-Live-Safely" with a joint program with the Minnesota department of health devoted to physical condition of older persons.

The conference will be held on August 25 and 26, and all sessions will be open to the public.

Wardens Arrest 280 During July

No letup was seen in the continuing drive by state game wardens against license violators and anglers not content with the legal limit. During July, wardens made 280 arrests.

Offenses involving licenses accounted for 123 arrests, while other fishing violations saw 132 pay visits to the courts. Offenses involving non-resident anglers who sought to fish on resident licenses showed a 90 per cent increase over July of last year.

Flying squads of wardens journeying to all parts of the state have been responsible for many arrests of license violators.

183,000 Minnesota Boats Registered

Boat Licensing Law Has Been In Effect Past Year

Supervisor of boating registration Milton Johnson reported today that 183,000 boat registrations had been issued between July 1, 1959, when the boat license law went into effect, and August 8th of this year.

A complete license file room inaugurated last May to aid in the enforcement of boat and water safety laws, provides off-hour service to county sheriffs in this work.

Johnson added that the licensing regulations covering the sale of watercraft to a dealer seem to be causing some confusion among boat owners. The correct procedure is as follows:

When watercraft is sold to a dealer, it is necessary that the following notations be made on the reverse of the license: The word "Sold" must be written in lieu of "Destroyed or Abandoned" and the date and place of sale written in the spaces provided; the dealer's name and address must also be filled in and the license signed by the original owner in order that the signature on the reverse of the license will compare with the one on the front.

After the necessary information has been recorded, the license should be given to the dealer, who will retain it until the watercraft is sold.

Marshall Co. ASC Holding Signup

The Marshall County ASC office in Warren is now accepting sign ups for the A-2-b practice, to be carried out under the 1960 ACP program, stated Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county ASC committee. Anyone interested in carrying out this practice must sign up for it now, and do the plowing and seedbed preparation this fall, and the seeding next spring before May 25, 1961. Mr. Johnson said sign ups would be accepted for the A-2-b practice until October 1.
